system Because the highway system cannot be expanded except in minor ways the available capacity must be used more efficiently to handle the increased demand ITS applies advanced information processing communication sensing and computer control technologies to the problems of surface transportation Considerable research and development efforts will be required to produce these new technologies and to convert technologies developed in the defense and space programs to solve surface transportation problems ITS has been subdivided into six interlocking technology areas This book addresses human factors concerns for four of these areas Advanced Traveler Information Systems are a variety of systems that provide real time in vehicle information to drivers regarding navigation and route guidance motorist services roadway signing and hazard warnings Advanced Vehicle Control Systems refer to systems that aid drivers in controlling their vehicle particularly in emergency situations and ultimately taking over some or all of the driving tasks Commercial Vehicle Operations address the application of ITS technologies to the special needs of commercial roadway vehicles including automated vehicle identification location weigh in motion clearance sensing and record keeping Advanced Traffic Management Systems monitor control and manage traffic on streets and highways to reduce congestion using vehicle route diversion automated signal timing changeable message signs and priority control systems Two technical areas are not specifically addressed in individual chapters but many aspects of them are covered in associated chapters Advanced Rural Transportation Systems include systems that apply ITS technologies to the special needs of rural systems and include emergency notification and response vehicle location and traveler information Advanced Public Transportation Systems enhance the effectiveness attractiveness and economics of public transportation and include fleet management automated fare collection and real time information systems

Understanding the Decision-making Process for Drivers Faced with Lane Restriction Or Closures on Wisconsin Highways Laura Higgins, 2013 The Wisconsin Department of Transportation WisDOT owns and operates a state highway network of 12 000 miles which carries approximately 80 percent of vehicle miles traveled in the state Construction maintenance weather and other events often lead to lane closures or restrictions causing inconvenience to road users WisDOT developed numerous strategies for identifying alternate routes that drivers can use when highway travel times are affected by planned or unplanned events Despite these efforts WisDOT has observed that many alternate routes are underused even when those routes would save travelers significant travel time The objective of this project was to examine the decision making processes of Wisconsin drivers regarding route selection including their decisions to use or not use an alternate route instead of the highway network Factors that were examined included how and when drivers make initial decisions about a preferred route for both familiar and unfamiliar trips the factors that influence their decisions to divert or not divert from their usual or current route to an alternate route and the information sources they would most likely consult for travel and route information
