

The Merseyside and Selnec metropolitan areas proposed by Redcliffe-Maud were wider than those eventually enacted in the 1972 Local Government Act

Selnec stood for "South East Lancashire and North East and Central Cheshire". The smaller county eventually established was Greater Manchester.

On this map, coloured shading and labels represent boundaries proposed by the Redcliffe-Maud report. The black outlines show the actual boundaries of 1974 counties.

Alternatives Proposals For Local Gover:

City-County Consolidation and Its Alternatives: Reshaping the Local Government Landscape J.B. Carr, Richard C. Feiock, 2016-07-08 City country consolidation builds upon the Progressive tradition of favoring structural reform of local governments This volume looks at some important issues confronting contemporary efforts to consolidate governments and develops a theoretical approach to understanding both the motivations for pursuing consolidation and the way the rules guiding the process shape the outcome Individual chapters consider the push for city county consolidation and the current context in which such decisions are debated along with several alternatives to city county consolidation The transaction costs of city county consolidation are compared against the costs of municipal annexation inter local agreements and the use of special district governments to achieve the desired consolidation of services The final chapters compare competing perspectives for and against consolidation and put together some of the pieces of an explanatory theory of local government consolidation

Cornerstone's Electoral

Legislation 2016 Philip Coppel QC, Philip Coppel, 2016-04-28 Cornerstone's Electoral Legislation publishes two months before the April elections each year in the UK ensuring that election administrators have access to it in time for the most important period of their year. It covers the five principal kinds of UK elections: Parliamentary, European, Local Government, Parish and Referendums. The legislation governing the conduct of elections is necessarily technical and highly prescriptive with electoral officers expected to absolutely adhere to the rules. As legislation is amended every year, this title enables electoral officers ready access to the up-to-date legislation. This is a new title in the Cornerstone series which is published with the highly respected chambers.
