

A scenic landscape at sunset or sunrise. The sky is filled with warm, golden light from the low sun, casting a glow over the scene. A winding road or path leads from the foreground into the distance, curving towards the right. To the left of the road, there is a body of water, possibly a lake or a wide river, reflecting the light from the sky. The foreground is dark and textured, with patches of snow or ice. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

proper from 1914 to 1966 The author emphasizes the unity of the movement rejecting the usual treatment that allots to the individual architects separate and unconnected biographical accounts Benevolo remarks at one point When one talks about modern architecture one must bear in mind the fact that it implies not only a new range of forms but also a new way of thinking whose consequences have not yet all been calculated His main concern is to provide a more exact calculation of those consequences
