Amagqirha Joan A. Broster, 1982 South African Drama and Theatre from Pre-Colonial Times to the 1990s: an Alternative Reading Mzo Sirayi, 2012-07-09 Mzo Sirayi has embarked on a highly impressive and daring enterprise with the unflinching boldness of a scholar who is driven by a passionate pursuit to set the record straight. He manages to pull no punches and make no apologies by being true to his convictions especially within the context of a new South Africa. The book adopts a largely historicized critical and analytical perspective which strikingly approximates that of postcolonial theory. Owen Seda. This new and authoritative book is an excellent addition to the few existing books on black South African drama and theatre. South African Drama and Theatre from Pre colonial Times to 1990s. An Alternative Reading takes the reader on a tour of the indigenous as well as the modern South African theatre zones. The chapters reverberate with echoes of Africanisation and rock on renaissance waves. This exciting and stimulating book is transparently readable, accessible and is of inestimable value to academics and general readers. Patrick Ebewo. Sorcery and Sovereignty Sean Redding, 2006. Publisher description. The Routledge International Handbook of Disability and Global Health Lieketseng Ned, Minerva Rivas Velarde, Satendra Singh, Leslie Swartz, Karen Soldatić, 2024-05-31. This handbook will raise awareness about the importance of health and well-being of people with disabilities in the context of the global development agenda. Leaving No one Behind. There has been a growing discussion on how people with disabilities should be included in the global health landscape. An estimated one billion people have some form of disability, 80% of whom live in low and middle income settings. People with disabilities are more likely to be poor with restricted access to health and social services, education, rehabilitation and employment. Despite this, people with disabilities are often overlooked in global health and development efforts. Furthermore, the COVID-19 pandemic has shown that unless systematically planned for and included in policies and programmes, people with disabilities remain at an increased risk of being adversely affected in times of humanitarian crisis and emergency disasters. Divided into eight sections: Disability and Health Frameworks, Health Justice, Rights and Bioethics, Gendering Disability, Health Disability and Global Mental Health, Disability and Access to Healthcare, Including Workforce Development, Crises and Health Technology, and Digital Health, Disability Ageing and Dementia Care. This handbook covers the full range of topics pertaining to disability and global health, including inclusive health access to rehabilitation, global mental health and disability, medical training and disability, community-based inclusive development for improving health and rehabilitation, maternal health and sexual reproduction, preventive care and health promotion for people with disabilities, health disability and indigenous knowledges, bioethics and human rights, data protection and health in the global south. It will be of interest to all scholars, students and professionals working in the fields of disability studies, health studies, nursing, medicine, allied health, development studies and sociology. Violence in Rural South Africa, 1880-1963 Sean Redding, 2023-02-21. Violence was endemic to rural South African society from the late nineteenth century to the mid twentieth century But acts of violence were not inherent in African culture rather violence resulted from the ways in which Africans navigated the hazardous social and political landscape imposed by white rule Focusing on the Eastern Cape province Sean Redding investigates the rise of large scale lethal fights among men increasingly coercive abduction marriages violent acts resulting from domestic troubles and witchcraft accusations within families and communities and political violence against state policies and officials Many violent acts attempted to reestablish and reinforce a moral social and political order among Africans However what constituted a moral order changed as white governance became more intrusive land became scarcer and people reconstructed their notions of traditional culture State policies became obstacles around which Africans had to navigate by invoking the idea of tradition using the state's court system alleging the use of witchcraft or engaging in violent threats and acts Redding's use of multiple court cases and documents to discuss several types of violence provides a richer context for the scholarly conversation about the legitimization of violence in traditions family life and political protest

Natures of Colonial Change Jacob A. Tropp, 2006-10-01 In this groundbreaking study Jacob A Tropp explores the interconnections between negotiations over the environment and an emerging colonial relationship in a particular South African context the Transkei subsequently the largest of the notorious homelands under apartheid In the late nineteenth century South Africa's Cape Colony completed its incorporation of the area beyond the Kei River known as the Transkei and began transforming the region into a labor reserve It simultaneously restructured popular access to local forests reserving those resources for the benefit of the white settler economy This placed new constraints on local Africans in accessing resources for agriculture livestock management hunting building materials fuel medicine and ritual practices Drawing from a diverse array of oral and written sources Tropp reveals how bargaining over resources between and among colonial officials chiefs and headmen and local African men and women was interwoven with major changes in local political authority gendered economic relations and cultural practices as well as with intense struggles over the very meaning and scope of colonial rule itself Natures of Colonial Change sheds new light on the colonial era in the Transkei by looking at significant yet neglected dimensions of this history how both colonizing and colonized groups negotiated environmental access and how such negotiations helped shape the broader making and meaning of life in the new colonial order

Diversity and Division in Medicine Anne Digby, 2006 This is an innovative investigation of pluralism in health care Using both extensive archival material and oral histories it examines relationships between indigenous healing missionary medicine and western biomedicine The book includes the different regions within South Africa although focusing in most detail on the Cape the earliest area of white settlement In a wide ranging survey the division in medicine between western and indigenous medicine is analysed through an exploration of the evolving practices of healers missionaries doctors and nurses The book considers the extent to which there was a strategic crossing of boundaries in the construction of hybrid practices by these practitioners and the extent to which patients pursued health by sampling diverse care options Starting with missionary penetration during the early nineteenth century the volume outlines interventions by the colonial state in medicine and public health and the continued resilience of indigenous healing in the face of this The book ends by relating past to present in scrutinising the legacy of historical structures including those of the apartheid state for current health care and in briefly discussing the huge challenges that the HIV Aids pandemic poses in impacting on them The book thus provides an inclusive history of medicine for the New South Africa

Interspecies Communication Gavin Steingo,2024-04-09 A surprising study reveals a plethora of attempts to communicate with non humans in the modern era In Interspecies Communication music scholar Gavin Steingo examines significant cases of attempted communication beyond the human cases in which the dualistic relationship of human to non human is dramatically challenged From singing whales to Sun Ra to searching for alien life Steingo charts the many ways we have attempted to think about and indeed to reach beings that are very unlike ourselves Steingo focuses on the second half of the twentieth century when scientists developed new ways of listening to oceans and cosmic space two realms previously inaccessible to the senses and to empirical investigation As quintessential frontiers of the postwar period the outer space of the cosmos and the inner space of oceans were conceptualized as parallel realities laid bare by newly technologized ears Deeply engaging Interspecies Communication explores our attempts to cross the border between the human and non human to connect with non humans in the depths of the oceans the far reaches of the universe or right under our own noses

Covid and Custom in Rural South Africa Leslie Bank,Nelly Sharpley,2022-07-15 This book explores the impact of Covid 19 and the associated state lockdown on rural lives in a former homeland in South Africa The 2020 Disaster Management Act saw the state sweep through rural areas targeting funerals and other customary practices as potential super spreader events This unprecedented clampdown produced widespread disruption fear and anxiety The authors build on path breaking work concerning local responses to West Africa s Ebola epidemic and examine the HIV AIDS pandemic to understand the impact of the Covid crisis on these communities and on rural Africa more broadly To shed light on the role of custom and ritual in rural social change during the pandemic Covid and Custom in Rural South Africa applies long term historical and ethnographic research theories of people s science local knowledge and the human economy and fieldwork conducted in ten rural South African communities during lockdown The volume highlights differences between developments in Southern Africa and elsewhere on the continent while exploring how the former apartheid homelands commonly yet problematically represented as former labor reserves have since been reconstituted as new home spaces In short it explains why rural people have been so angered by the state s assault on their cultural practices and institutions in the time of Covid

C. Taçon,1998 Pictures painted and carved in caves and on open rock surfaces are amongst our loveliest relics from prehistory This pioneering set of sparkling essays goes beyond guesses as to what the pictures mean instead exploring how we can reliably learn from rock art as a material record of distant times in short rock art as archaeology Sometimes contact period records offer some direct insight about indigenous meaning so we can learn in that informed way More often we have no direct record and instead have to use formal methods to learn from the evidence of the pictures themselves The book s eighteen papers range wide in space and time from the Palaeolithic of Europe to nineteenth century Australia Using varied approaches within the consistent framework of informed and proven methods they make key advances in using the striking and reticent evidence of rock art to archaeological benefit      Ethnology ,1992      The International Journal of African Historical Studies ,2003      Angewandte Botanik ,1998
