Birth Of Pandora And The Division Of Knowledge:

The Birth of Pandora J. Barrell, 1991-12-02 This book brings together many of John Barrell's essays some written especially for this volume on the history and politics of culture in eighteenth century Britain It addresses a wide range of cultural practices painting sculpture poetry the law the division of labour discussing them in relation to such issues as sexuality the body and representation and the distinction between public and private The Birth of Pandora will interest all those involved with or interested in cultural history and cultural studies

Reading Public Romanticism Paul Magnuson, 1998 According to Magnuson reading locations means reading the writing that surrounds a poem the paratext or frame of the esthetic boundary In their particular locations in the public discourse romantic poems are illocutionary speech acts that take a stand on public issues and legitimate their authors both as public characters and as writers

Making a Social Body Mary Poovey, 1995-11-15 With much recent work in Victorian studies focused on gender and class differences the homogenizing features of 19th century culture have received relatively little attention In Making a Social Body Mary Poovey examines one of the conditions that made the development of a mass culture in Victorian Britain possible the representation of the population as an aggregate a social body Drawing on both literature and social reform texts she analyzes the organization of knowledge during this period and explores its role in the emergence of the idea of the social body Poovey illuminates the ways literary genres such as the novel and innovations in social thought such as statistical thinking and anatomical realism helped separate social concerns from the political and economic domains She then discusses the influence of the social body concept on Victorian ideas about the role of the state examining writings by James Phillips Kay Thomas Chalmers and Edwin Chadwick on regulating the poor Analyzing the conflict between Kay's idea of the social body and Babbage's image of the social machine she considers the implications of both models for the place of Victorian women Poovey's provocative readings of Disraeli's Coningsby Gaskell's Mary Barton and Dickens's Our Mutual Friend show that the novel as a genre exposed the role gender played in contemporary discussions of poverty and wealth Making a Social Body argues that gender race and class should be considered in the context of broader concerns such as how social authority is distributed how institutions formalize knowledge and how truth is defined

A Companion to the Eighteenth-Century English Novel and Culture Paula R. Backscheider, Catherine Ingrassia, 2008-04-15 A Companion to the Eighteenth century Novel furnishes readers with a sophisticated vision of the eighteenth century novel in its political aesthetic and moral contexts An up to date resource for the study of the eighteenth century novel Furnishes readers with a sophisticated vision of the eighteenth century novel in its political aesthetic and moral context Foregrounds those topics of most historical and political relevance to the twenty first century Explores formative influences on the eighteenth century novel its engagement with the major issues and philosophies of the period and its lasting legacy Covers both traditional themes such as narrative authority and print culture and cutting edge topics such as globalization nationhood technology and science Considers both canonical and non canonical literature Modernism, Mass Culture, and the Aesthetics of Obscenity Allison Pease, 2000-07-27 How did explicit sexual representation become acceptable in the twentieth century as art rather than pornography Allison Pease answers this question by tracing the relationship between aesthetics and obscenity from the 1700s onwards highlighting the way in which early twentieth century writers incorporated a sexually explicit discourse into their work Pease explores how artists such as Swinburne Aubrey Beardsley James Joyce and D H Lawrence were responsible for shifting the boundaries between aesthetics and pornography that first became of intellectual interest in the eighteenth century and reinforced class distinctions Her analysis of canonical works such as Joyce's Ulysses and Lawrence's Lady Chatterley's Lover is framed by a wide ranging examination of the changing conceptions of aesthetics from Shaftesbury Hutcheson and Kant to F R Leavis I A Richards and T S Eliot Based on extensive archival work the book includes examples of period art and illustrations which eloquently demonstrate the shift in public taste and tolerance Literature, Language, and the Rise of the Intellectual Disciplines in Britain, 1680-1820 Robin Valenza, 2009-09-24 A literary account of how the modern divide between the sciences and the humanities emerged in the eighteenth century Madam Britannia Emma Major, 2012 Using Britannia as a central figure this book explores the neglected relationship between women church and nation It argues that Britannia became established as an emblem of nation from 1688 and gained in importance over the following century It draws on an exciting range of material to explore the extent and significance of women's involvement in debates about the new British nation and the Church of England Discussing a wide range of printed sources including letters poetry novels plays journals sermons devotional literature political tracts and travel writing it also uses manuscript sources and frontspieces paintings drawings and graphics satire to bring to life debates about identity faith and nation Writers discussed include Elizabeth Burnet Elizabeth Carter Catherine Talbot Samuel Richardson Thomas Amory Samuel Foote Elizabeth Montagu Hester Lynch Thrale Piozzi Anna Laetitia Barbauld Hannah More along with images by William Hogarth John Flaxman Francis Hayman James Gillray and the Cruikshanks The Unfinished Manner Elizabeth Wanning Harries, 1994 The Unfinished Manner examines the fragments produced by European writers and artists in the eighteenth century and earlier fragments that were not the result of an inability to finish either texts or buildings but rather deliberate refusals to make the traditional gestures of conclusion Most books published in the past few years on the fragment and the unfinished see it as a peculiarly Romantic early nineteenth century exclusively poetic form Elizabeth Wanning Harries argues instead that the fragment not only had a long history beginning with Petrarch but also played an important part in the history of the novel and other kinds of prose Conceptualizing the fragment as a genre Harries sheds a new light on the practice of reading fiction and reading ruins in the eighteenth century complex practices that often require oscillation between two perspectives or ways of reading She also explores the gendering of forms in eighteenth century aesthetics the perception of fragments as feminine beautiful rather than masculine sublime and speculates on the fragment's meaning within the context of eighteenth century social mythologies as well as those of later eras Finally she rereads Coleridge s Kubla Khan to show its roots in eighteenth century fragmentary textual practices The Unfinished Manner takes up the questions that arise when writers and artists treat apparently unfinished forms fragments ruins torsos sketches as finished both in the eighteenth century and implicitly today Harries s treatments of Petrarch as the initiator of the fragment tradition of Sterne in relation to biblical criticism of Coleridge s Kubla Khan in relation to Sterne s Tristram Shandy and of fragments in their relation to the feminine are original and revisionary contributions that seriously challenge some critical assumptions about Romanticism and its relationship to eighteenth century texts

The Anxieties of Idleness Sarah Jordan,2003 The Anxieties of Idleness Idleness in Eighteenth Century British Literature and Culture investigates the preoccupation with idleness that haunts the British eighteenth century Jordan argues that as Great Britain began to define itself as a nation during this period one important quality it claimed was industriousness However this claim was undermined and complicated by many factors such as leisure s importance to class status Thus idleness was a subject of intense anxiety One result of this anxiety was an increased surveillance of the supposed idleness of those members of society with less power to wield the working classes the nonwhite races and women Jordan analyzes how the idleness of these groups is figured in traditional literature and in extra literary works Idleness was also a concern for writers of the day as writing became a money earning profession Jordan examines the lives and works of two writers especially obsessed with idleness Samuel Johnson and William Cowper

The Great Exhibition of 1851 Louise Purbrick,2001 The Great Exhibition of 1851 has become a touchstone for the nineteenth century The Crystal Palace produced a commodity world an imperial spectacle a picture of capitalism a liberal dream a vision of modern life Historians have saturated the Great Exhibition with meanings This collection of essays exposes how meaning has been produced around the Great Exhibition It contains a series of critical readings of the official and popular historical record of the Exhibition Critics and historians of art culture design and literature have been brought together to examine the objects the images the documents and the fictions of 1851 Their essays explore the determined use of industrial knowledge the contested definitions of nation and colony and the actual control of the space of the Crystal Palace after the Great Exhibition closed The Great Exhibition of 1851 presents new interpretations of one of the most significant exhibitions in the nineteenth century and will be essential reading for anyone studying cultural history design history art history and literature

The Writings of James Barry and the Genre of History Painting, 1775-1809 Dr Liam Lenihan,2014-01-10 Examining the literary career of the eighteenth century Irish painter James Barry 1741 1806 through an interdisciplinary methodology The Writings of James Barry and the Genre of History Painting 1775 1809 is the first full length study of the artist s writings Liam Lenihan critically assesses the artist s own aesthetic philosophy about painting and printmaking and reveals the extent to which Barry wrestles with the significant stylistic transformations of the pre eminent artistic genre of his age history painting Lenihan s book

delves into the connections between Barry's writings and art and the cultural and political issues that dominated the public sphere in London during the American and French Revolutions Observations Made During a Voyage Round the World Johann Reinhold Forster, 1996-01-01 Johann Reinhold Forster's Observations Made During A Voyage Round The World first published in 1778 is the most significant and substantial analysis of non Western cultures to have emerged from the Cook voyages It derived from Forster's appointment as naturalist on Cook's second voyage of 1772-1775 which dramatically extended European cartographic and ethnographic knowledge in the Pacific and the Antarctic The Military Memoir and Romantic Literary Culture, 1780-1835 Neil Ramsey, 2011 Examining the memoirs and autobiographies of British soldiers during the Romantic period Neil Ramsey explores the effect of these as cultural forms mediating warfare to the reading public during and immediately after the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic wars Forming a distinct and commercially successful genre that in turn inspired the military and nautical novels that flourished in the 1830s military memoirs profoundly shaped nineteenth century British culture's understanding of war as Romantic adventure establishing images of the nation's middle class soldier heroes that would be of enduring significance through the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Edmund Burke and Ireland Luke Gibbons, 2003-10-16 This pioneering study of Burke's engagement with Irish politics and culture argues that Burke's influential early writings on aesthetics are intimately connected to his lifelong political concerns The concept of the sublime which lay at the heart of his aesthetics addressed itself primarily to the experience of terror and it is this spectre that haunts Burke's political imagination throughout his career Luke Gibbons argues that this found expression in his preoccupation with political terror whether in colonial Ireland and India or revolutionary America and France Burke's preoccupation with violence sympathy and pain allowed him to explore the dark side of the Enlightenment but from a position no less committed to the plight of the oppressed and to political emancipation This major reassessment of a key political and cultural figure will appeal to Irish studies and Post Colonial specialists political theorists and Romanticists Bodybuilding Martin Myrone, 2005-01-01 Combining visual analysis social history and masculinity studies Bodybuilding effects a vivid image of this critical period in Britain's cultural history and establishes an ambitious new framework for the study of late eighteenth century art and gender BOOK JACKET Representations of the Gypsy in the Romantic Period Sarah Houghton-Walker, 2014 Representations of the Gypsy in the Romantic Period examines the ways writers and artists from the Romantic period depict gypsies It examines how various aspects of the contemporary context influence those depictions and highlights the opportunities offered by the figure of the gypsy for the exploration of a range of hopes and fears Fashioning Masculinity Dr Michele Cohen, Michele Cohen, 2002-01-08 The fashioning of English gentlemen in the eighteenth century was modelled on French practices of sociability and conversation Michele Cohen shows how at the same time the English constructed their cultural relations with the French as relations of seduction and desire She argues that this produced anxiety on the part of the English over the effect of French practices on

English masculinity and the virtue of English women By the end of the century representing the French as an effeminate other was integral to the forging of English masculine national identity Michele Cohen examines the derogation of women and the French which accompanied the emergent masculine English identity While taciturnity became emblematic of the English gentleman's depth of mind and masculinity sprightly conversation was seen as representing the shallow and inferior intellect of English women and the French of both sexes Michele Cohen also demonstrates how visible evidence of girls verbal and language learning skills served only to construe the female mind as inferior She argues that this perception still has currency today

Theorising the Contemporary Zombie Scott Hamilton, Conor Heffernan, 2022-05-15 Zombies have become an increasingly popular object of research in academic studies and of course in popular media Over the past decade they have been employed to explain mathematical equations vortex phenomena in astrophysics the need for improved laws issues within higher education and even the structure of human societies Despite the surge of interest in the zombie as a critical metaphor no coherent theoretical framework for studying the zombie actually exists Addressing this current gap in the literature Theorising the Contemporary Zombie defines zombiism as a means of theorising and examining various issues of society in any given era by immersing those social issues within the destabilising context of apocalyptic crisis and applying this definition the volume considers issues including gender sexuality family literature health popular culture and extinction

The Age of Cultural Revolutions Colin Jones, Dror Wahrman, 2002-01-08 This superb collection of essays brings together the most exciting new work in cultural and literary history Although the authors focus on the various cultural revolutions of the late 18th and early 19th centuries the significance of their investigations extends far beyond that moment They show how the major categories of modern social life took root in this era but they emphasize the surprising and often paradoxical ways those developments took place Nothing about the experience of class gender race nation sentiment or even death was preordained These essays will enable readers to take a fresh new look at the origins of modernity Lynn Hunt editor of The New Cultural History and coeditor of Beyond the Cultural Turn This is a valuable and provocative set of essays Differing markedly in subject matter they are linked by their intelligence and concern to reassess early modern English and French histories and the differences conventionally drawn between them in the light of current work on language class race and gender Linda Colley author of Britons Forging the Nation 1707-1837
