Experience Martyn Hammersley,1999 This book brings together material from wide range of studies mainly qualitative in character concerned with exploring what actually goes on in learning situations and explores the perspectives of teachers and students A Class Act Susan Robertson,2017-09-29 This book offers an original and challenging theoretical and empirical approach to mapping the changing nature of teachers work historically and in the contemporary period It is an attempt to understand how and in what ways teachers work has changed following the demise of the post war settlement and the imminent collapse of teachers project of professionalism secured through solidaristic strategies such as unionism Dr Robertson argues that in order to understand these issues a more rigorous set of conceptual tools around social class occupational power and worker control is needed The first two sections of the book set out to address that problem The final section elaborates on the changing contexts and conditions for contemporary teachers more generally and argues that structural and ideological changes within educational provision have led to differing capacities in the realization of class assets

Handbook - The Next Moment Erik Malewski,2009-09-10 What comes after the reconceptualization of curriculum studies What is the contribution of the next wave of curriculum scholars Comprehensive and on the cutting edge this Handbook speaks to these questions and extends the conversation on present and future directions in curriculum studies through the work of twenty four newer scholars who explore each in their own unique ways the present moment in curriculum studies To contextualize the work of this up and coming generation each chapter is paired with a shorter response by a well known scholar in the field provoking an intra inter generational exchange that illuminates both historical trajectories and upcoming moments From theorizing at the crossroads of feminist thought and post colonialism to new perspectives that include critical race currere queer southern studies Black feminist cultural analysis post structural policy studies spiritual ecology and East West international philosophies present and future directions in the U S American field are revealed Canadian Education Brenda L. Spencer,Kenneth D. Gariepy,Kari Dehli,James Ryan,2012-10-17 Canadian Education Governing Practices and Producing Subjects is an absolutely critical volume bridging a number of key areas in Canadian education classroom politics schools teachers work higher education and much more with the theoretical contributions of Michel Foucault The result is illuminating engaging and critically provocative The essays are carefully chosen and utilize Foucauldian concepts such as governmentality discipline subjectivity and genealogy to excellent critical effect With a skillfully crafted introduction that nicely brings the entire collection into sharp focus the editors have provided a text that is a must read for critical scholars and students alike

Mona Gleason Department of Educational Studies University of British Columbia This excellent text presents a Foucauldian analysis of selected educational practices contemporary reform initiatives and current educational policy in the Canadian context The authors demonstrate how rich theoretical constructs such as bio power governmentality and disciplinary power can illuminate everyday practices and policies making the cultural unconscious apparent Foucault 1989 p 71 Canadian Education Governing Practices and Producing Subjects is essentially a hopeful book it demonstrates the radicalizing role of theory as we try to understand and complicate educational structures and processes This is an essential text for all those interested in Foucauldian analyses of education and a must read for undergraduate and graduate students in Canadian faculties of education

Anne M Phelan University of British Columbia This volume is most useful in the ways in which it achieves a close look and a wide sweep of education policy its deployment and its effects as these are embedded in schooling practices educational strategies and pedagogy It offers the ground from which to consider the potential for education to be aimed at the development of a socially just citizenry while also helping to reveal the structures of power and processes of social control that operate within current neoliberal technologies of governmentality It is against these that reform minded educators and curriculum and policy developers can set themselves While theoretically complex and original in its conceptual approach this book is also practically informative and eminently readable making it useful to teachers school administrators education policy developers parents students and communities at all levels of the schooling spectrum

Shaping the Future, 2007-01-01 World wide the production of teachers has become a sharp political issue during the early years of the twenty first century Current systems for ensuring a supply of capable and knowledgeable teachers have come sustained under attack from politicians economists parents organisations and social critics alike There is less agreement now about teacher education than in any time over the past fifty years Much of the debate in the public and political arenas has been driven by narrow and expedient consideration and too much of it demonstrates a poor grasp of the deep and complex issues which teacher education in a democracy must confront At the same time there has been a serious educational debate which has focused on what a well trained teacher ought to be able to do and what methods of training and education can produce competent teachers The chapters of this book address these issues in a critical way asking what should the objectives of teacher education be The authors demonstrate the international reach of the debate over teacher education and they ground their discussions within the national contexts of their own experience All the authors share the view that teacher education involves much more than acquiring a set of skills and techniques Important as these are the well trained teacher needs for example to have an understanding of the contexts of teaching of the reasons why we teach of the role of schools as institutions within political environments as well as a coherent perspective on curriculum and the relevant bodies of theory which give overall point to what is being done What teacher education entails will probably never be beyond contestation at least not so long as it takes place within capitalist democracies These democracies with their tensions running between liberal ideals and economic imperative push and pull teacher education in contradictory directions At present educational ideals seems too quickly and too dogmatically to be traded for immediate fiscal policy The authors of these chapters articulate the reasons why such short term thinking will be detrimental to any approach to teacher education which commits itself to producing well rounded and comprehensively professional teachers

Subject To Fiction Munro , Peter,1998-04-01 Drawing on the life histories of three teachers this book explores their narrative strategies to author themselves as active agents within and against the essentializing discourses of teaching The complex and contradictory ways in which these women construct themselves as subjects while simultaneously disrupting the notion of a unitary subject provide new ways to think about subjectivity resistance power and agency

Petrie,1991-09-10 This book explores key policy issues related to early childhood education Through the contributions of various professionals in the field the editors provide a vision practical and possible of early childhood education in the 1990s Part I delves into the complex world both personal and professional of the classroom teacher The essays in Part II look at issues of the school community including the roles of class race gender and exceptionality Finally Part III examines the relationship between schools and the community at large and how complex issues find their way into social and economic policies that often stifle rather than support the democratic vision of American schools Taken as a whole the volume presents a stimulating discussion of the current state of early childhood education policy and practice

Home/Schooling Kyle Greenwalt, 2016-03-22 During the nineteenth century social reformers took hold of an already existing institution the school and sought to make it compulsory In the process they supplanted parents and domestic life the home as the primary educational force for children As education was taken out of the home American classrooms were at the same time remade into a particular kind of home life one based upon a sentimentalized maternity where love can always triumph over the public and masculine forces of competition merit and hierarchy And so love entered into the discourse of teaching In this model a good teacher loves her students She makes her classroom into a home Like a good mother she sacrifices for them enduring long hours of isolation low pay and little public support or recognition Students in their turn should love their teacher To please her they should learn the values that would sustain a more virtuous republic Parenting through all of this was redefined as a private activity Battle lines were drawn and the stakes were love learning and control It doesn't need to be this way It is time to rethink the ways in which parents and teachers interact with one another It is time to redefine homeschooling as something all families engage in and that all public schools should seek to support

Tales Out of School Jo Keroes, 1999 Jo Keroes's scope is wide she examines the teacher as represented in fiction and film in works ranging from the twelfth century letters of Abelard and Heloise to contemporary films such as Dangerous Minds and Educating Rita And from the twelfth through the twentieth century Keroes shows the teaching encounter is essentially erotic Tracing the roots of eros from cultural as well as psychological perspectives Keroes defines erotic in terms broader than the merely sexual She analyzes ways in which teachers serve as convenient figures on whom to map conflicts about gender power and desire To show how portrayals of men and women differ she examines pairs of texts using a film or a novel with a woman protagonist Up the Down Staircase for example as counterpoint to one featuring a male teacher Blackboard Jungle or The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie balanced against Dead Poets Society The portrayals of teachers like all images a culture presents of itself reveal much about our private and social selves Keroes points out authentic accounts of authoritative women teachers who are admired and respected by colleagues and students alike Real teachers differ from the stereotypes we see in fiction and film however Male teachers are often portrayed as heroes in film and fallibly human in fiction whereas women in either genre are likely to be monstrous or muddled and are virtually never women of color Among other things Keroes demonstrates the tension between reality and representation reveals society's ambivalence about power in the hands of women
