Design as Communication Yinrui Xie, 2025-10-29 This book explores the architectural history of Christian universities in China revealing how quasi colonial power interaction and cross cultural communication of meaning were channelled through religious and educational architecture in modern China The Christian universities in China witnessed an experimental representation of Chinese architectural identity as the country subject to an informal version of colonialism struggled to become a modern nation state and to rethink its identity This book offers new knowledge to the prospering postcolonial studies of the architectural history of Asian countries deepening our understanding of the scope and content of the nuanced colonial encounters between the East and the West and the relationship between architecture and power Borrowing ideas from architectural semiotics this book explores how architectural meaning has been interpreted and sometimes modified by its audience s whose voice has been largely ignored in traditional architectural historical studies It provides a unique scope to further understand the communicative function of architecture throwing light upon the broader socio cultural dialogue between China and the Western world in the twentieth century Design as Communication will be an enriching reference for those interested in the architectural dialogue between China and the West architecture and postcolonialism and the localisation of Christianity in the world History of Dairy Development at

Eby,2009-02-09 So who is Omar Eby A retired English professor tenderhearted and cynical who looks with affection and severity upon the young man he once was in Somalia Ebys first chapter Learning My Name quickly and playfully sets the tone for this fascinating memoir The Boy and the Old Man Identifying with one Omar after another Eby skips from a Taliban terrorist and a four star general to a translator of Somali tales and an Old Testament duke then recalls an English student in Mogadiscio and an Epicurean Persian poet meets a Chilean Anabaptist and finally names the close friend of Prophet Muhammad Omar ibn al Khattab You think this an exercise in narcissism Of course notthe author finds too many ties linking a nave Mennonite missionary boy to Muslim society and the incredible beauty of the natural worldshows too well the tensions between documented facts and dramatic memory On the horn of Africa Somali pirates seize tankers On the mainland clans fire rockets into each others quarters of Mogadishu once the capital of the Somali Republic But Omar Eby remembers another Somalia when he taught there 50 years ago Through the grid of accumulated years Eby studies that missionary boy The reader hears two voices the 23 year old boy and the 73 year old man Often the old man loves the boy often the boy embarrasses him The Somalis Eby remembers as beautiful and exasperating then in 1959 as now in 2009 The chapters are like a series of transparencies laid down one on top of the other The boys views overlaid by the mans two visits to Somalia in his thirties and then memory laid over everything With more details everything should be clearer Yet Eby writes in the Introduction we are pleasantly surprised to find that the historically reconstructed self is still blurred as muddy as the Shebelli River which flows through Somalia from the Ethiopian highlands Book of Abstracts of the 72nd Annual
