Problems in Geriatric Medicine A. Martin, 2012-12-06 The fact that there are special problems in the care of the elderly in the community is ample justification for writing a separate volume on the subject The knowledge that there are increasing numbers of older people in virtually every country in the world makes it all the more important that the family physician should have sympathy with and understanding of the problems of them since they are likely to make up a significant part of his workload and increasingly will take up more of his time and energy. There is a progressive amount of disability with advancing years and this is particularly true of those aged 75 years and over. Increasing age is associated with serious impairment of hearing and vision senses which younger people take for granted. Old age sees the arrival of major diseases of middle age with much greater frequency such as ischaemic heart and cerebrovascular disease, diabetes mellitus and osteoarthritis. There are other disorders that are virtually confined to the elderly such as fractures of the femoral neck, Paget's disease and myeloma. We now know that the disintegration of the conducting tissue of the heart is largely an age-related phenomenon. Ageing processes affect every major organ system in the body and the impairment of physiological performance resulting from these affects the elderly individual's response to infections, disease and environmental changes in complex ways that are not seen in younger people.

Management of Common Problems in Geriatric Medicine Franklin G. Ebaugh, 1981 Geriatric Nursing Protocols for Best Practice Mathy Doval Mezey, 2003. The protocols in this thoroughly updated edition address key clinical conditions and circumstances likely to be encountered by a hospital nurse caring for older adults. They represent best practices for acute care of the elderly as developed by nursing experts around the country as part of the Hartford Foundation's Nurses Improving Care to the Hospitalized Elderly project. NICHE. New to this edition are chapters on evaluating practice guidelines and measuring quality and outcome of care. Although the protocols were developed for acute care they can be easily modified to work in other practice settings such as the nursing home or home care.

Issues in Geriatric Psychiatry N. Billig, P. V. Rabins, 1989-09-21 Geriatric Medicine Christine K. Cassel, Rosanne Leipzig, Harvey Jay Cohen, Eric B. Larson, Diane E. Meier, 2006-05-29 Since the publication of the third edition of Geriatric Medicine extraordinary advances have occurred in the science of aging and the potential for biomedical research to give us answers to many if not most of the age related disorders that threaten the quality of life in older years At the most basic level the successful mapping of the human genome was declared complete in the fall of 2000 Understanding the map of the human genome is as important as understanding the map of genomes of important laboratory species ranging from the microscopic worms and fruit flies used in most classic genetic studies to rodents such as laboratory mice and eventually to primates on which much of the research on the aging human brain is done The genetic maps of all of these species including our own does not answer clinical questions but it does open the door to dramatic rapid and efficient answers to questions about the genetic polymorphisms related to diseases in humans The telomerase story also unfolded since the third edition Telomerase is an enzyme responsible for maintaining the telomeres the redundant DNA portions at the end of chromosomes whose shortening seems to be linked directly to cell senescence apoptosis and the control over cell death which at the level of the individual cell seems to be linked to the decline of organ function and eventually aging and death within the organism

Reichel's Care of the Elderly Joseph J. Gallo, William Reichel, 1999 Geared specifically for the family practitioner this text provides clinical approaches to the whole geriatric patient Topics covered in this fifth edition include behavioural disturbances in dementia driving and the older adult and clinical practice guidelines in the elderly Advanced

Age Geriatric Care Nages Nagaratnam, Kujan Nagaratnam, Gary Cheuk, 2018-11-26 As the Baby Boomers age concerns over healthcare systems abilities to accommodate geriatric patients grow increasingly challenging This is especially true with the population deemed to be the oldest of the old specifically those over the age of 85 Unlike any other time in history this demographic is the fastest growing segment of most developed countries In the United States the oldest old is projected to double from 4.3 million to 9.6 million by 2030 The increased life expectancy of the population since the early 1900s has been built on the improvement of living conditions diet public health and advancement in medical care With this we have seen a steady decline in the age specific prevalence of vascular and heart diseases stroke and even dementia Older persons are healthier today than their counterparts decades ago More importantly than in any other age group the care of the oldest old must be individualized management decisions should be made taking into consideration the older persons expressed wishes quality of life function and mental capacity The inevitable consequence is that there will be an increase in the prevalence of older persons with chronic diseases multiple co existing pathologies and neuro degenerative diseases The oldest of the aging population are often excluded from drug trials and their treatments are largely based on findings extrapolated from that of the younger old Furthermore among the oldest old physiologically they are more diverse than other segments of the population Their demographic characteristics are unparalleled and different compared to that of the younger old Several studies have drawn attention to the differing attitudes among health professionals towards elderly people and many show prejudice because they are old As a result the use of age as a criteria in determining the appropriateness of treatment is of very limited validity yet there are limited resources that guide physicians through these challenges This book creates a greater awareness of these challenges and offers practical guidelines for working within the infrastructures vital to this demographic This book is designed for geriatricians primary care physicians junior medical officers specialty geriatrics nurses and gerontologists It is divided into 3 sections General Considerations Chronic diseases and Geriatric Syndromes Each chapter provides a summary of important and essential information under the heading of Key Points Case studies are included in some of the chapters to highlight the principles of management Geriatric Secrets Mary Ann Forciea, Risa Lavizzo-Mourey, Edna P. Schwab, Donna Brady Raziano, 2004-02-24 This best seller in geriatrics is even better in an updated and completely revised new edition Geriatric Secrets provides a substantial knowledge base in geriatric medicine and provides a wealth of insights into the art and practice of geriatrics featuring all the most important need to know questions and answers in the proven format of the Secrets Series Thought provoking questions that provide succinct answers Presentation of a vast amount of information but not overly simplistic The most important need to know questions and answers in the proven format of the highly acclaimed Secrets Series Concise answers that include the author's pearls tips memory aids and secrets Bulleted lists algorithms and illustrations for quick review Thorough highly detailed index

Geriatric Nutrition Ronni Chernoff, 2013-08-02 A authoritative reference written to help professionals understand the role of nutrition in the maintenance of health the management of chronic conditions and the treatment of serious illness The fourth edition of this text provides a comprehensive review of nutritional assessment intervention programs for the elderly and health promotion activities Essential Facts in Geriatric Medicine Catherine Bracewell, Rosaire Gray, Gurcharan Singh Rai, 2005 In response to the new diploma in geriatric medicine three British physicians review the clinical aspects of old age and the clinical problems encountered in old age
