while still prevalent in some families is rare. The social and economic realities of our country have changed radically and the structure of family life has had to adapt. There are several reasons for the shift and others will undoubtedly surface at a later date but what seems to be the most important among them are the following. Firstly to make ends meet today's parents are obliged more and more to share the burden of earning the wages. Both Mom and Dad need full time work if the family is to survive financially or if it is to satisfy the standard of living they are used to. In the meantime who takes care of the children while both are at work? Secondly another reason that helps explain why Mom works even when there is no pressing financial need for her to do so is the realization that women have an equal right to achieve their potentialities in the world of the professions and of labor. Finally and perhaps most importantly an ever increasing number of households are managed by single parents. When Mom or Dad is the only provider in the family no one is going to suggest that she or he stay home and watch the children. That single job is essential to the survival of a family in an already precarious financial bind. Even when the children are sick the single parent has to report to work in order to keep that precious job. For these and other reasons the need for child care is a simple reality in our present society and the trend is likely to continue. In most communities throughout the country groups of interested people argue that the availability of child care services is insufficient to meet current needs let alone the demands of a growing population. We would like to talk about ourselves briefly as authors. Both of us have had life careers in higher education. In 1980 we devoted ourselves to child care and started a proprietary child care center in the Northwest. It began small and then in time grew to a size of 35 preschoolers. From the beginning Carlota operated the center from 6:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. as director, teacher, public relations person, cook and janitor. Only recently has she begun coming home in the late afternoon. Marshall was frequently teacher, maintenance person and accountant. It was difficult yet rewarding work and it taught us many things.
