Airlift Doctrine:

Self-protective measures to enhance airlift operations in hostile environments , Airlift Capabilities for Future U.S. Counterinsurgency Operations Robert C. Owen,Karl P. Mueller,2007 Current and probable future United States involvement in counterinsurgencies revives a long standing debate about whether these missions call for adding specialized aircraft training or other resources to the general military airlift fleet The authors examine the use of airlift in past and present counterinsurgency operations including the Foreign Internal Defense program They conclude that general U S airlift forces can accomplish most counterinsurgency missions effectively with adjustments in employment doctrines and training However they also note that continued operations likely will require reinforcement of the general airlift fleet and perhaps acquisition of a small fleet element optimized for certain counterinsurgency missions The Posture of Military Airlift United States. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services,1976 Airlift ,1985 Tactical Airlift Ray L. Bowers,1984 Air Force History and Museums Program Presents the United States Air Force s use of one form of air power tactical airlift aviation in the changing limited warfare situation in Vietnam Covers the period from the decision of President Truman to assist the French in 1950 to the end of United States involvement in 1975 The Posture of Military Airlift United States. Congress. House. Committee on Armed Services. Subcommittee on Research and Development,1976 Air Power and Warfare Elwood L. White,2002 This highly selective bibliography supplements the original bibliography developed in 1978 by Ms Betsy C Kysely to support the Eighth Military History Symposium While this bibliography focuses primarily on materials published since the earlier bibliography was developed it does include some significant materials that were published prior to 1978 but that were omitted from that edition Emphasis in this supplement is on scholarly analysis of air power itself and scholarly depictions of its history Like most editions of the United State Air Force Academy Directorate of Libraries publication Special Bibliography Series this compilation is limited to current holdings of the Academic Library at the Academy It includes books reports government documents and journal articles Excluded are pictorial works newspaper articles works of fiction studies of the technology of aircraft and associated weaponry and items focused on the general history of aviation Readers wanting information on the history of aviation certainly prior to the Wright Brothers are encouraged to consult the U S Air Force Academy Friends of the Library publication The Genesis of Flight The Aeronautical History Collection of Colonel Richard Gimbel Airlift Doctrine C. E. Miller,U.S. Air University. Center for Aerospace Doctrine, Research, and Education,United States. Air University. Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama,1988 Airlift is the movement of goods and people to where they are needed when they are needed there Since the 1920s there has been an evolving awareness and articulation of how to best organize train and equip airlift forces for that mission The worldwide orientation of American foreign policy the numerous threats to free world interests and the speed and complexity of modern warfare have combined with political and resource constraints to produce today s airlift doctrine and force structure Colonel

Miller's study traces these many interrelationships to discover what critical airlift decisions were made why they were made and what they may mean in the future This is not a history of military airlift but rather an investigation of ideas and concepts as they have evolved and have been applied to warfighting Airlift is the backbone of deterrence A properly structured and equipped airlift force is critical to the successful execution of the national military strategy How we think about airlift and how we translate those thoughts into a meaningful expression of how to develop deploy and employ airlift forces is vital to the national defense Colonel Miller's study is a definitive step in that important process

The 31 Initiatives: A Study in Air Force-Army Cooperation Richard G. Davis, 1987 This monograph analyzes US military air power US Army relations from 1907 to the present It emphasizes one aspect of those relations how air forces intended for the tactical support of ground forces can best be controlled and integrated into the overall ground battle After a review of changing air ground relationships from 1907 to 1982 this work examines the 31 Initiatives the most recent US Army US Air Force agreement on developing joint combat forces and battlefield cooperation It also discusses the process behind the formulation of the 31 Initiatives and discusses how that process provides one example of the introduction of innovation or change into a military organization In addition this work details the immediate and longer term response of the two services to the Initiatives The importance of this monograph is twofold It supplies a case study of innovation and more significantly it places the 31 Initiatives in their place as the far reaching and comprehensive end product of a decade of Air Force Army cooperation

Air University Review, 1986-05 Airlift Doctrine Charles Miller, LtC Charles E Miller, 2012-08-01 In this extremely comprehensive overview of airlift and air mobility Colonel Miller shows how the worldwide orientation of American foreign policy the numerous threats to free world interests and the speed and complexity of modern warfare have combined with political and resource constraints to produce today's airlift doctrine and force structure Airlift is the movement of goods and people to where they are needed when they are needed there Since the 1920s there has been an evolving awareness and articulation of how to best organize train and equip airlift forces for that mission The worldwide orientation of American foreign policy the numerous threats to free world interests and the speed and complexity of modern warfare have combined with political and resource constraints to produce today's airlift doctrine and force structure Colonel Miller's study traces these many interrelationships to discover what critical airlift decisions were made why they were made and what they may mean in the future Airlift is the backbone of deterrence A properly structured and equipped airlift force is critical to the successful execution of the national military strategy How we think about airlift and how we translate those thoughts into a meaningful expression of how to develop deploy and employ airlift forces is vital to the national defense Colonel Miller's study is a definitive step in that important process

The 31 Initiatives Richard G. Davis, 1987 This monograph analyzes US military air power US Army relations from 1907 to the present It emphasizes one aspect of those relations how air forces intended for the tactical support of ground forces can best be controlled and integrated into the overall ground battle After a review of changing air ground relationships from 1907 to 1982 this work examines the 31 Initiatives the most recent US Army US Air Force agreement on developing joint combat forces and battlefield cooperation It also discusses the process behind the formulation of the 31 Initiatives and discusses how that process provides one example of the introduction of innovation or change into a military organization In addition this work details the immediate and longer term response of the two services to the Initiatives The importance of this monograph is twofold It supplies a case study of innovation and more significantly it places the 31 Initiatives in their place as the far reaching and comprehensive end product of a decade of Air Force Army cooperation

Air Commanders John Andreas Olsen, 2012 This book combines short military biographies and operational analyses to reveal how the personalities attitudes and life experiences of twelve outstanding U S airmen shaped the central air campaigns in American history These case studies illuminate the character of these airmen the challenges they confronted in widely disparate armed conflicts and the solutions that they crafted and implemented Their achievements proved decisive not only in the campaigns they led but also in shaping the U S Air Force and the dominant role of airpower in modern warfare

The War in South Vietnam John Schlight, 1988 United States Air Force in Southeast Asia Documents the Air Force s support of the ground war in South Vietnam from 1965 to early 1968 Includes sections on the air campaign conducted during the Communists siege of the Marine camp of Khe Sanh Also contains several appendices a glossary and bibliographical notes

Air mobility the key to the United States national security strategy, 2000 Since airlift was first used as a tool of national security during the Berlin Airlift it has grown to deliver passengers cargo and fuel to operations worldwide in support of national security However Air Mobility Command is the single organization that performs for air mobility for the United States Currently the Air Force has structured Air Mobility Command for war yet this command performs operations during times when the US is at peace Air Mobility Command performs missions to support US military operations in hostile environments as well as humanitarian operations in non hostile environments The number of operations requiring mobility air forces has been on the rise since the Cold War ended 10 years ago These steady state operations seem to over task mobility air forces This study centers on the question Can Air Mobility Command s force structure organized for two major theater wars fulfill that requirement and perform the steady state operations in today s strategic environment This study finds that Air Mobility Command s force structure cannot meet its requirements for two major theater wars and that the current force structure is inefficient in meeting the requirements for steady state operations First this thesis presents a primer to acclimate the reader to the complex environment and multifaceted requirements of mobility air forces Next this thesis examines Air Mobility Command s current force structure as determined by Department of Defense requirements for war Then this thesis also describes the various types of missions that Air Mobility Command performs on a steady state basis and evaluates the importance of these operations in fulfilling US National Security Strategy Finally this thesis recommends action that the Air Force and the Department of Defense should investigate in order to improve their air mobility capabilities in Air Force Journal of Logistics ,2009 The C-5 Galaxy History Roger Launius,B.J. Dvorscak,2001-01-01 The C 5 Galaxy is truly an effective military aircraft It remains an essential successful component of the U S military airlife capability This book reveals the events that led to the C 5 requirement and the controversies of its early operational existence Details of testing flight characteristics operational accomplishments and world flight records are presented Interviews from senior Lockheed management and experienced flight crews validate the C 5 s decisive accomplishments Air Mobility Robert C. Owen,2013 Global air mobility is an American invention During the twentieth century other nations developed capabilities to transport supplies and personnel by air to support deployed military forces But only the United States mustered the resources and will to create a global transport force and aerial refueling aircraft capable of moving air and ground combat forces of all types to anywhere in the world and supporting them in continuous combat operations Whether contemplating a bomber campaign or halting another surprise attack American war planners have depended on transport and tanker aircraft
