Alan Sonfist Nature End Art Environ:

Nature, the End of Art Alan Sonfist, Wolfgang Becker, Robert Rosenblum, 2004 This generously illustrated volume documents Sonfist's formidable body of work that continues to date. Featured are photographs and drawings that stand as independent works of art in their own right and also relate to the environmental landscapes for which he is best known. In addition to an informative interview by Robert Rosenblum and essays by a number of other art experts, the book also includes comments by the artist and quotes from a variety of sources that have inspired him. All these elements conjoin to reveal the fascinating story of this innovative artist who prefigured environmental art. Inside back cover To Life! Linda Weintraub, 2012-09-01 This title documents the burgeoning eco art movement from A to Z, presenting a panorama of artistic responses to environmental concerns from Ant Farms' anti-consumer antics in the 1970s to Marina Zurkowski's 2007 animation that anticipates the havoc wreaked upon the planet by global warming. Aesthetics and the Environment Allen Carlson, 2005-08-08 Traditional aesthetics is often associated with the appreciation of art. Allen Carlson shows how much of our aesthetic experience does not encompass art but nature in our response to sunsets, mountains, or horizons, or more mundane surroundings like gardens or the view from our window. He argues that knowledge of what it is we are appreciating is essential to having an appropriate aesthetic experience and that scientific understanding of nature can enhance our appreciation of it rather than denigrate it. Research Handbook on Transnational Environmental Law Veerle Heyvaert, Leslie-Anne Duvic-Paoli, 2020-11-27 This illuminating Research Handbook offers a detailed overview and critical discussion of the key themes and perspectives that characterize the burgeoning research area of transnational environmental law. Varied perspectives from leading and emerging scholars are brought together to deliver methodological and conceptual frameworks for future research whilst providing an original view on this emerging field of law. Natural Art, Second Site James Nisbet, 2021-11-30 In the decades following World War II, artists and designers developed the land art movement, consisting of outdoor artworks that can exist only in a specific place. Major works within this genre include Walter De Maria's Lightning Field 1977, located on an isolated high desert plain in New Mexico; Robert Smithson's Spiral Jetty 1970 in the Great Salt Lake; the concrete cylinders of Nancy Holt's Sun Tunnels 1976 located in the Great Basin Desert in Utah; and other projects that nestle into environments ranging from open fields to concrete cityscapes. These works are typically depicted as they were when originally constructed. Yet their environmental contexts have transformed due to weather, agriculture, climate change, land use policy, and more. In Second Site, James Nisbet presents the first sustained argument on how to account for the passage of time and environmental change in site-specific artworks, ranging from Richard Serra's Shift 1970, whose initial small farm setting is now a growing suburb of Toronto, to Ant Farm's Cadillac Ranch 1974 and Nancy Holt's Dark Star Park 1984. Nisbet argues for an ecological reading of the artworks, environments, and coins the term second site to argue that manmade artworks and non-living things have their own durations but co-exist in the continuous experience of an environment Any single photograph or experience of a site can provide only one view of an ever changing existence Nisbet advocates for new methods of evaluation conservation and depiction in order to read the content of these sites of time In doing so he uses site specific artworks to help understand what it means for humans and their cultural production to live in an ecologically volatile world

Human-Environment Relations Emily Brady,Pauline Phemister,2012-02-02 This fresh and innovative approach to human environmental relations will revolutionise our understanding of the boundaries between ourselves and the environment we inhabit The anthology is predicated on the notion that values shift back and forth between humans and the world around them in an ethical communicative zone called value space The contributors examine the transformative interplay between external environments and human values and identify concrete ways in which these norms residing in and derived from self and society are projected onto the environment

Art, Ethics and Environment Ólafur Páll Jónsson,Æsa Sigurjónsdóttir,2009-03-26 Nature has been a recurrent theme in arts and philosophy for several decades Nature is experienced in variety of contexts artists have been enacting with nature as phenomena material space environment or simply as a place or an idea In philosophy this is evidenced by an increasing interest in environmental ethics and aesthetics as well as in philosophy of biology and metaphysics In the 1960s new affinities between art and nature developed and became among the characteristics of contemporary art Environmental approaches became essential and artists were engaging the public closely with social and physical spaces Generating processes rather than creating objects both in nature as well as in the urban landscape artists reintroduced art into nature and nature into art and opened up new ways of engaging environment creating non permanent artworks which produced a new understanding of creativity that following generations are still exploring The distinction between art and nature became increasingly blurred at the same time as the ancient dichotomy of culture and nature became controversial With the rise of environmental ethics in the 1970s philosophers began discussing nature as an independent source of moral values rather than a mere stage for moral life deriving its value from relations among humans It has both been suggested that nature might have independent moral value much like persons are thought to have such value or that nature can be an active participant in a morally virtuous life Both aesthetics of nature and environmental ethics have become established fields in contemporary philosophy with their distinct bibliography to draw on But even if distinct and properly so these two new fields might be more closely related than often suggested The aim of this collection is to bring together different trends in thinking about nature and value that are distinctive of these changing moods in art and philosophy and to juxtapose them with some other ways of thinking about these issues such as economics and religion The authors include Holmes Rolston III Antje von Graevenitz Roger Pouivet Eric Palazzo and Emily Brady The essays and artworks in this volume derive from the conference Nature in the Kingdom of Ends held in Selfoss Iceland on June 11th and 12th 2005

Arts for Change Beverly Naidus,2009-04-01 Arts for Change presents strategies and theory for teaching socially engaged art with an historical and contemporary overview of the field

The book features interviews with over thirty maverick artists faculty from colleges and universities in the United States Canada and Great Britain whose pedagogy is drawn from and informs activist arts practice The issues these teaching artists address are provocative and diverse Some came to this work through personal healing from injustice and trauma or by witnessing oppressions that became intolerable Many have taught for decades deeply influenced by social movements of the 1960s and 1970s yet because the work is controversial tenured positions are rare Art Nature Dialogues John K. Grande,2012-02-01 Art Nature Dialogues offers interviews with artists working with in and around nature and the environment The interviews explore art practices ecological issues and values as they pertain to the siting of works the use of materials and the ethics of artmaking John K Grande includes interviews with Hamish Fulton David Nash Bob Verschueren herman de vries Alan Sonfist Nils Udo Michael Singer Patrick Dougherty Ursula von Rydingsvard and others Breaking the Mind Barrier Todd Siler,1997-10 Siler s provocative and highly accessible work is designed to help readers gain a fuller understanding of this artist visionary s latest tome casting a fresh light on the unrealized symmetry of the mind and the universe Illustrations The Grove Encyclopedia of American Art Joan M. Marter,2011 Arranged in alphabetical order these 5 volumes encompass the history of the cultural development of America with over 2300 entries Dictionary of Artists: Sommer - Valverane Emmanuel Bénézit,2006 First English language edition of Emmanuel B n zit s Dictionnaire critique et documentaire des peintres sculpteurs dessinateurs et graveurs based on the 14 volume French edition published in 1999 It has been revised adapted and updated Preface The End of Art Robert Rosenblum,2004 Landscape into Eco Art Mark Cheetham,2018-02-14 Dedicated to an articulation of the earth from broadly ecological perspectives eco art is a vibrant subset of contemporary art that addresses the widespread public concern with rapid climate change and related environmental issues In Landscape into Eco Art Mark Cheetham systematically examines connections and divergences between contemporary eco art land art of the 1960s and 1970s and the historical genre of landscape painting Through eight thematic case studies that illuminate what eco art means in practice reception and history Cheetham places the form in a longer and broader art historical context He considers a wide range of media from painting sculpture and photography to artists films video sound work animation and installation and analyzes the work of internationally prominent artists such as Olafur Eliasson Nancy Holt Mark Dion and Robert Smithson In doing so Cheetham reveals eco art to be a dynamic extension of a long tradition of landscape depiction in the West that boldly enters into today s debates on climate science government policy and our collective and individual responsibility to the planet An ambitious intervention into eco criticism and the environmental humanities this volume provides original ways to understand the issues and practices of eco art in the Anthropocene Art historians humanities scholars and lay readers interested in contemporary art and the environment will find Cheetham s work valuable and invigorating Geographical Aesthetics Elizabeth Straughan,2016-03-03 Geographical Aesthetics places the terms aesthetics and geography under critical question together responding both to the increasing calls from within geography to develop a geographical aesthetics and a resurgence of interdisciplinary interest in conceptual and empirical questions around geoaesthetics environmental aesthetics as well as the spatialities of the aesthetic. Despite taking up an identifiable role within the geographical imagination and sensibilities for centuries and having what is arguably a key place in the making of the modern discipline, aesthetics remains a relatively under-theorized field within geography. Across 15 chapters, Geographical Aesthetics brings together timely commentaries by international interdisciplinary scholars to rework historical relations between geography and aesthetics and reconsider how it is we might understand aesthetics. In renewing aesthetics as a site of investigation but also an analytic object through which we can think about worldly encounters, Geographical Aesthetics presents a reworking of our geographical imaginary of the aesthetic.

Sculpture, 2004 Art in the Land Alan Sonfist, 1983 Haacke Hans Smithson Robert Sonfist Alan Christo Holt Nancy etc Landscape Aesthetics Alberto L. Siani, 2024-07-16 Winner 2025 International Original Work Italian Society for Aesthetics. The notion of landscape typically seems innocuous, associated with leisure and contemplation. Likewise, aesthetics is often seen as apolitical, a matter of subjective tastes and preferences. This book challenges the common understanding of these categories as disengaged and demonstrates how uniting landscape studies and philosophical aesthetics opens new ways of addressing both the environmental crisis and the crisis of the humanities. Alberto L. Siani argues that the concept of landscape helps us overcome deeply ingrained oppositions such as nature and culture, spirit and flesh, or the environment and the human. Landscape represents the intersection of these categories and therefore provides a helpful vantage point on contemporary predicaments that cannot be understood within dualistic frameworks. An engaged aesthetics shows that landscapes are not simply ways of seeing the world but ways of being in the world, offering practical guidance for inhabiting places ethically. Landscape Aesthetics sheds new light on issues spanning art and its interpretation, environmentalism, temporality, lived spaces, justice, education, and interdisciplinarity. Bringing together a wide range of sources across philosophy and other disciplines as well as personal experience, Siani reveals the key role of landscape and aesthetics in responding to the pressing crises we face today. Art in the Seventies Edward Lucie-Smith, 1980. A critic and historian of art who is deeply immersed in the works and trends of the seventies, here provides the first general survey of the decade. In a volume alive with visual images that are often surprising and sometimes disturbing, he analyzes the development both of old forms and of new ones and provides a coherent framework for the general reader.
