Course In Basic Writing:

Ecologies of Writing Programs Mary Jo Reiff, Anis Bawarshi, 2015-04-15 Ecologies of Writing Programs Profiles of Writing Programs in Context features profiles of exemplary and innovative writing programs across varied institutions. Situated within an ecological framework, the book explores the dynamic interrelationships as well as the complex rhetorical and material conditions that writing programs inhabit. Conditions and relationships that are constantly in flux as writing program administrators negotiate constraint and innovation. Effective Revenue Writing: Advanced course United States. Internal Revenue Service, Lucile B. Spurlock, Luthera Burton Dawson, 1961

Everyone Can Write Peter Elbow, 2000-03-30 This new collection of essays brings together the best of Elbow's writing since the publication of Embracing Contraries in 1987. The volume includes sections on voice, the experience of writing, teaching and evaluation. Implicit throughout is Elbow's commitment to humanizing the profession and his continued emphasis on the importance of binary thinking and nonadversarial argument. The result is a compendium of a master teacher's thoughts on the relation between good pedagogy and good writing; it is sure to be of interest to all professional teachers of writing and will be a valuable book for use in graduate composition courses.

Learning to Write as a Hostile Act for Latino Students Raul E. Ybarra, 2004 Cultural differences play a part in communication breakdowns between students and teachers, and only a complete understanding of the model that English instructors use when teaching writing gives us an insight into the reasons why. This book observes and analyzes the communication patterns of Latino students in an English course at the college level, closely observing the interaction between Latino students and the teacher as well as between Latino students and other student groups in the class. Learning to Write as a Hostile Act for Latino Students concludes that cultural differences and the resulting miscommunications significantly contribute to the negative impressions Latino students have about the writing process and English courses. Understanding these differences is crucial to improving the teaching of writing to Latino and other minority students.

Composition in the Twenty-first Century Lynn Z. Bloom, Donald A. Daiker, Edward Michael White, 1997 The essays in this book, stemming from a national conference of the same name, focus on the single subject required of nearly all college students: composition. Despite its pervasiveness and its significance, composition has an unstable status within the curriculum. Writing programs and writing faculty are besieged by academic, political, and financial concerns that have not been well understood or addressed. At many institutions, composition functions paradoxically as both the gateway to academic success and as the gatekeeper reducing access to academic work and opportunity for those with limited facility in English. Although writing programs are expected to provide services that range from instruction in correct grammar to assisting or resisting political correctness, expanding programs and shrinking faculty get caught in the crossfire. The bottom line becomes the firing line as forces outside the classroom determine funding and seek to define what composition should do. In search of that definition, the contributors ask and answer a series of specific and salient questions. What implications intellectual political and institutional will forces outside the classroom have on the quality and delivery of composition in the twenty first century How will faculty and administrators identify and address these issues What policies and practices ought we propose for the century to come This book features sixteen position papers by distinguished scholars and researchers in composition and rhetoric most of the papers are followed by invited responses by other notable compositionists In all twenty five contributors approach composition from a wide variety of contemporary perspectives rhetorical historical social cultural political intellectual economic structural administrative and developmental They propose solutions applicable to pedagogy research graduate training of composition teachers academic administration and public and social policy In a very real sense then this is the only book to offer a map to the future of composition Resources in Education ,1999 Networked

Process Helen Foster,2007-08-01 Helen Foster problematizes one of the dominant metaphors in rhetoric and composition the notion of writing process and in turn offers an important and engaging new approach for the future of the discipline one that directly addresses the complexities challenges and opportunities for writing research in a postmodern world The WPA Outcomes Statement—A Decade Later Nicholas N. Behm,Gregory R. Glau,2014-09-12 The WPA Outcomes Statement A Decade Later examines the ways that the Council of Writing Program Administrators Outcomes Statement for First Year Composition has informed curricula generated programmatic institutional and disciplinary change and affected a disciplinary understanding of best practices in first year composition Reclaiming the Public University Judith Summerfield,Crystal

Benedicks,2007 To reclaim the public university is to focus our energies on teaching all our students well educating them for a new increasingly complicated age To deliver on this promise we must interrogate the general education we provide for our students for that is the vast unrecognized ground we stand on It is what students and faculty do most in common If we can get educating our students right generally and liberally then we will have laid a claim to what the public university needs to be College Information Literacy Efforts Benchmarks ,2008 College Information Literacy Efforts Benchmarks

Marguerite H. Helmers,1994-01-01 This is a book about the usual teacher student relationship in composition courses It disrupts and rewrites the commonplace conception of the relationship by revealing the uneven ways in which power is deployed in and around the classroom And it offers a responsible alternative The author not only offers teachers a way of learning about power relations at their own specific sites but also works towards a more equitable redistribution Drawing from testimonials about teaching practice published in the journal College Composition and Communication Helmers explores conventions in this form of writing that portray students in a negative light and show the teacher to be powerfully triumphant in his or her creative pedagogy Several prevalent modes of representation are discussed in the book all of which define the students as distinctly different from the teachers in other words as an other The texture of the work is rich because Helmers takes an enormous amount of post structuralist theory and recasts it in the sphere of the teacher student relationship itself an underexplored realm The Writing Program Administrator's Resource Stuart C.
