these children suffered as they grew up the rites of passage that mark coming of age the various genres of childhood narratives and the historical development of such narratives Catherine of Lancaster and her Religious Court Poets Lesley Twomey,2024-07-18 This book offers an integrated study of the English princess and Castilian queen Catherine of Lancaster 1373 1418 drawing on available archival architectural and poetic sources in England and Spain Catherine s mother Queen of Castile in exile and father the powerful military commander John of Gaunt raised her to take the Castilian throne This volume connects Catherine s early life providing insights into those who promoted her cause from birth as Princess of Castile and her later life as Princess of Asturias then Queen consort and finally Dowager and Co regent of Castile Her influence on the Castilian court s poetic circles has not previously been connected to her English heritage Poetry written about her and influenced by her was compiled into a songbook presented to her son Juan II The book brings new understanding of the role an Englishwoman played in Trast mara Castile s turbulent history In the Sultan's Salon: Learning, Religion, and Rulership at the Mamluk Court of Qāniṣawh al-Ghawrī (r. 1501-1516) (2 vols) Christian Mauder,2021-08-09 Christian Mauder s In the Sultan s Salon builds on his award winning research and constitutes the first detailed study of the Egyptian court culture of the Mamluk Sultanate 1250 1517 Based mainly on understudied Arabic manuscript sources describing the learned salons of the Mamluk Sultan al Ghawr In the Sultan s Salon presents the first theoretical conceptualization of the term court that can be fruitfully applied to premodern Islamic societies It uses this conceptualization to demonstrate that al Ghawr s court functioned as a transregionally interconnected center of dynamic intellectual exchange theological debate and performance of rule that triggered novel developments in Islamic scholarly religious and political culture The Household and Court of James IV of Scotland, 1488-1513 William Hepburn,2023 A fresh perspective on the role of the court in late medieval Scotland highlighting its centrality to the effective government for which James IV is renowned Mexican Business Culture Carlos M. Coria-Sánchez,John T. Hyatt,2016-04-27 Western business owners and managers are increasingly interested in doing business in Mexico Yet few have thoroughly investigated the country s business climate and culture This collection of new essays by contributors who work in and research the business culture of Mexico takes a combined academic and real world look at the country s vibrant and dynamic commerce Topics include business and the government conceptions of time Mexican entrepreneurialism and the place of women in business Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here Sakuntala Romila Thapar,2011 The figure of Sakuntala appears in many forms throughout South Asian literature most famously in the Mahabharata and in Kalidasa s fourth century Sanskrit play Sakuntala and the Ring of Recollection In these two texts Sakuntala undergoes a critical transformation relinquishing her assertiveness and autonomy to become the quintessentially submissive woman revealing much about the performance of Hindu femininity that would come to dominate South Asian culture Through a careful analysis of sections from Sakuntala and their various iterations in different contexts Romila Thapar explores the interactions between literature and history culture and gender that frame the development of this canonical figure as well as a distinct conception of female identity

The Creative South Andrea Acri, Peter Sharrock, 2022-04-12 This edited volume programmatically reconsiders the creative contribution of the littoral and insular regions of Maritime Asia to shaping new paradigms in the Buddhist and Hindu art and architecture of the mediaeval Asian world Far from being a mere southern conduit for the maritime circulation of Indic religions in the period from ca the 7th to the 14th century those regions transformed across mainland and island polities the rituals icons and architecture that embodied these religious insights with a dynamism that often eclipsed the established cultural centres in Northern India Central Asia and mainland China This collective body of work brings together new research aiming to recalibrate the importance of these innovations in art and architecture thereby highlighting the cultural creativity of the monsoon influenced Southern rim of the Asian landmass Although Maritime Asia in mediaeval times was not as densely populated as the agrarian hinterland Asia's coasts were highly urbanized The region from southern India to south China was a heterogeneous blend of cultures leavened with a strong interest in trade This cosmopolitan society afforded plentiful opportunities for artists to find patrons and develop individual styles and aesthetic sensibilities In the bustling ports of Asia's south coast rulers sought to embellish their prestige and attract foreign merchants by sponsoring the development of monumental complexes and centres of learning and debate These educational institutions attracted teachers from all over Asia and in their cloisters they developed new intellectual frameworks which were reflected in works of art and architecture Scholars moved frequently by sea influencing and being influenced by other foreigners such as Japanese and central Asians who were also attracted to these places This very variety has hindered scholarly research in the past This volume contributes to the endeavour to show how Maritime Asia was not an incoherent jumble of misunderstood influences from better known civilizations there was a pattern to this creativity which the authors in this collection clarify for us The maritime world of Asia may have lain on the margins of the land but it provided a physical and intellectual medium through which artistic ideas from east and west flowed freely Maritime Asia also made significant original contributions which hold their own with those of the hinterland of the Asian continent Unconstrained by the burden of static hierarchical courts the peoples of Maritime Asia built on the inspiration provided by a hybrid society to demonstrate a high degree of artistic originality while testing but not breaking the link with conventional iconography Professor John Miksic Department of Southeast Asian Studies Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences National University of Singapore NUS The collective objective of this two volume work is to give substance to the oft cited mantra that mediaeval maritime Southeast Asia was as much an innovative contributor to as a recipient in the cultural conversations that took place across the Bay of Bengal and South China Sea In bracketing these studies between the 7th and 14th centuries the editors have drawn into focus two key traditions that are explicated in texts ritual art and architecture and religious landscapes of this period tantric Buddhism and esoteric Shaivism A great strength of these studies is this focus for which the editors are to be commended The chapters contain much that represents significant milestones in building new understanding in the field including overdue recognition of the importance of Southeast Asian esoteric Buddhist practice in shaping Chinese Buddhism. Nowhere did the architects of the religious landscape of early Southeast Asia think of themselves as being on the periphery or as outsiders looking in. Rather they knowingly imbued their tirthas and sacred centres with the same authority as those in India and created religious edifices that were on occasions beyond India's experience. I highly commend this publication to anyone with an interest in bringing a wider lens to the study of Indian esoteric religious practices and to understanding the relationship of early Hindu Buddhist Southeast Asia to the wider Asian world. John Guy, Senior Curator of South and Southeast Asian Art, The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. The Creative South is a rich compendium of scholarship concerning the religious art of Southeast Asia and its ties to India in the period beginning in the 8th century. It was a time when merchants were crisscrossing the seas from India to China and when advocates of innovative doctrines and rituals were finding ready support among the rulers of the varied kingdoms. From the identification of images embraced by the seafarers to the mysteries of the fire shrines in Cambodian temples from the funerary beliefs of Odisha to the unique character of the Javanese Ramayana, these eighteen studies provide fresh understandings of the patterns of reception and innovation. Hiram Woodward, Mr and Mrs Thomas Quincy Scott Curator of Asian Art, Emeritus, The Walters Art Museum. Cultural Revolutions Leora Auslander, 2009. Auslander's emphasis on the power of things as a motor of historical change permits her to present a refreshingly new set of arguments about well-known historical events. Denise Z Davidson, author of France After Revolution: Urban Life, Gender and the New Social Order. This lucidly written book brilliantly merges material culture firmly into political history and enriches both. Leora Auslander's original interpretation of changing gender relations in the age of the democratic revolutions offers fresh ways to understand the emotional and political work that has shaped national identity and persists into our own time. A remarkable accomplishment. Linda K Kerber, author of No Constitutional Right to Be Ladies: Women and the Obligations of Citizenship. Kings' Sagas and Norwegian History Shami Ghosh, 2011-09-23. Surveying the past two decades of scholarship on the medieval historiography of Norway, this book provides a critical appraisal of the principal issues involved in the study of the primary sources and the key areas of scholarship and future research.
