Akha Oral Literature:

Akha Oral Literature Paul White Lewis, 2002 Akha Oral Literature presents the first comprehensive overview of oral literature of the Akha ethnic group of Southeast Asia in English translation. Included in this overview are stories and legends, the epic story of two brothers, the epic poem of creation, proverbs, and an Akha lullaby. The Akha people who live in China, Burma, Laos, and Thailand have a unique oral literature which has been handed down through time. Approximately 320,000 Akha live in these four countries, with some half of them living in China. The author started recording the Akha oral literature to a written system in the 1950s and invested fifty years of research in recording the Akha oral tradition. This book presents an English translation of samples from this literature, testifying to a rich storehouse of wisdom, fun, and humor accumulated over the centuries by this unique ethnic group.

Enchanted Modernities Micah F. Morton, 2025 Enchanted Modernities tells the story of an Indigenous community's work to decolonize and reclaim its collective ancestral identity. In this rich theoretically informed ethnography, Micah F. Morton follows a transregional network of Indigenous Akha people from Thailand, Myanmar, Burma, China, and Laos as they spearhead a new movement for a pan-Akha identity. In the face of enormous historical and present-day colonialist pressures, this neo-traditionalist movement has focused on revitalizing or vitalizing, in Morton's suggestive term, Akha ancestral ways, preventing ongoing conversion to Christianity and facilitating return conversion to the ways of the Ancestors. Morton focuses especially on the community's work to ensure their Ancestors live on and thus remain a dynamic part of their and their descendants' lives. Although modernity and its colonial legacies are often portrayed as severing or at least attenuating people's ancestral ties, Enchanted Modernities shows that those ties persist and in fact are on the rise. Akha and other Indigenous ancestral and animist resurgences are blossoming despite the paradigmatic Western framing of modernity as fundamentally at odds with Ancestors and, for that matter, kinship and even religion. Morton demonstrates that modernity and modernization proceed alongside the reproduction of new and old forms of enchantment.

Space and the Production of Cultural Difference among the Akha Prior to Globalization Deborah Tooker, 2025-10-01 Based on the author's extensive fieldwork among the Akha people prior to full nation-state integration, this illuminating study critically re-examines assumptions about space, power, and the politics of identity so often based on modern Western contexts. Tooker explores the active role that spatial practices and their Indigenous link to a life force have played in maintaining cultural autonomy in an historically migratory, multiethnic context. Space and the Production of Cultural Difference Among the Akha Prior to Globalization: Channeling the Flow of Life expands current debates about power relations in the region from a mostly political and economic framework into the domains of ritual cosmology and Indigenous meaning and social systems.
