Horowitz,Paul E. Potter,2012-12-06 This is a book for beginners Not geological beginners because an introductory course in paleontology and some knowledge of the petrographic microscope is assumed but for beginners in the study of the petrography of fossil constituents in sedimentary rocks Fossils are studied for various reasons 1 to provide chron ologic time frameworks 2 to delineate rock units and ancient environments or 3 to understand the past development evolu tion of living plants and animals All of these uses may be at tained through petrographic studies of thin sections of fossils embedded in sedimentary rocks Some knowledge of the appear ance of fossils in thin section is also fundamental for general stratigraphic studies biofacies analyses and is even useful in studying some metamorphic rocks Commonly fossils are essen tial for the delineation of carbonate rock types facies or bio facies We have written this book for sedimentary petrologists and stratigraphers who routinely encounter fossils as part of their studies but who are not specialists in paleontology and for students who are seeking a brief review and an introduction to the literature of the petrography of fossiliferous sedimentary rocks Although experienced paleontologists may be appalled by the many generalized statements on size shape and principal fossil characters recited herein we counter that we have had some success in introducing non paleontologically oriented geologists to the use and identification of fossil constituents without using excessive paleontological terminology and detailed systematics Sediment Records of Biomass Burning and Global Change James S. Clark, Helene Cachier, Johann G. Goldammer, Brian J. Stocks, 2013-06-29 Biomass burning profoundly affects atmospheric chemistry the carbon cycle and climate and may have done so for millions of years Bringing together renowned experts from paleoecology fire ecology atmospheric chemistry and organic chemistry the volume elucidates the role of fire during global changes of the past and future Topics covered include the characterization of combustion products that occur in sediments including char soot fly ash and polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons the calibration of these constituents against atmospheric measurements from wildland and prescribed fire emissions spatial and temporal patterns in combustion emissions at scales of individual burns to the globe
