Alberta Landscapes:

Landscapes and Landforms of Western Canada Olav Slaymaker, 2016-12-01 This is the only book to focus on the geomorphological landscapes of Canada West. It outlines the little appreciated diversity of Canada's landscapes and the nature of the geomorphological landscape which deserves wider publicity. Three of the most important geomorphological facts related to Canada are that 90% of its total area emerged from ice sheet cover relatively recently from a geological perspective; permafrost underlies 50% of its landmass and the country enjoys the benefits of having three oceans as its borders: the Arctic, Pacific and Atlantic oceans. Canada West is a land of extreme contrasts: from the rugged Cordillera to the wide open spaces of the Prairies; from the humid west coast forests to the semi desert in the interior of British Columbia; and from the vast Mackenzie river system of the north to small steep cascading streams on Vancouver Island. The thickest Canadian permafrost is found in the Yukon and extensive areas of the Cordillera are underlain by sporadic permafrost side by side with the never glaciated plateaus of the Yukon. One of the curiosities of Canada West is the presence of volcanic landforms extruded through the ice cover of the late Pleistocene and Holocene epochs which have also left a strong imprint on the landscape. The Mackenzie and Fraser deltas provide the contrast of large river deltas debouching respectively into the Arctic and Pacific oceans. The Atlas of Breeding Birds of Alberta, 2007

Storied Landscapes Frances Swyripa, 2010-09-01 Storied Landscapes is a beautifully written sweeping examination of the evolving identity of major ethno religious immigrant groups in the Canadian West. Viewed through the lens of attachment to the soil and specific place and through the eyes of both the immigrant generation and its descendants, the book compares the settlement experiences of Ukrainians, Mennonites, Icelanders, Doukhobors, Germans, Poles, Romanians, Jews, Finns, Swedes, Norwegians, and Danes. It reveals how each group's sense of identity was shaped by a complex interplay of physical and emotional ties to land and place and how that sense of belonging influenced and was influenced by relationships not only within the prairies and the Canadian nation state but also with the homeland and its extended diaspora. Through a close study of myths, symbols, commemorative traditions and landmarks, Storied Landscapes boldly asserts the inseparability of ethnicity and religion both to defining the prairie region and to understanding the Canadian nation building project.

Alberta's Lower Athabasca Basin Brian M. Ronaghan, 2017-05-24 Over the past two decades the oil sands region of northeastern Alberta has been the site of unprecedented levels of development. Alberta's Lower Athabasca Basin tells a fascinating story of how a catastrophic ice age flood left behind a unique landscape in the Lower Athabasca Basin, one that made deposits of bitumen available for surface mining. Less well known is the discovery that this flood also produced an environment that supported perhaps the most intensive use of boreal forest resources by prehistoric Native people yet recognized in Canada. Studies undertaken to meet the conservation requirements of the Alberta Historical Resources Act have yielded a rich and varied record of prehistoric habitation and activity in the oil sands area Evidence from between 9 500 and 5 000 years ago the result of several major excavations has confirmed extensive human use of the region s resources while important contextual information provided by key geological and palaeoenvironmental studies has deepened our understanding of how the region s early inhabitants interacted with the landscape Touching on various elements of this rich environmental and archaeological record the contributors to this volume use the evidence gained through research and compliance studies to offer new insights into human and natural history They also examine the challenges of managing this irreplaceable heritage resource in the face of ongoing development Contributors Alwynne Beaudoin Angela Younie Brian O K Reeves Duane Froese Elizabeth Roberston Eugene Gryba Gloria Fedirchuk Grant Clarke John W Ives Janet Blakey Jennifer Tischer Jim Burns Laura Roskowski Luc Bouchet Murray Lobb Nancy Saxberg Raymond LeBlanc Robert R Young Robin Woywitka Thomas V Lowell and Timothy Fisher

First World Petro-Politics Laurie E. Adkin, 2016-01-01 First World Petro Politics examines the vital yet understudied case of a first world petro state facing related social ecological and economic crises in the context of recent critical work on fossil capitalism A wide ranging and richly documented study of Alberta s political ecology the relationship between the province s political and economic institutions and its natural environment the volume tackles questions about the nature of the political regime how it has governed and where its primary fractures have emerged Its authors examine Alberta s neo liberal environmental regulation institutional adaptation to petro state imperatives social movement organizing Indigenous responses to extractive development media framing of issues and corporate strategies to secure social license to operate Importantly they also discuss policy alternatives for political democratization and for a transition to a low carbon economy The volume s conclusions offer a critical examination of petro state theory arguing for a comparative and contextual approach to understanding the relationships between dependence on carbon extraction and the nature of political regimes

Visual Environmental Communication Anders Hansen, David Machin, 2016-03-17 In 2008 the editors published a well cited journal paper arguing that while scholarly work on media representations of environmental issues had made substantial progress in textual analysis there had been much less work on visual representations This is surprising given the increasingly visual nature of media and communication and in light of emerging evidence that the environment is visualized through the use of increasingly symbolic and iconic images Addressing these matters this volume marks out the present state of the field and contains chapters that represent fresh and exciting high quality scholarly work now emerging on visual environmental communication These include a range of fascinating and often alarming topics which draw on a variety of methods and forms of visual communication The book demonstrates that research needs to think much more widely about what we mean by the visual which plays a massive yet under researched role in the politics and ideology of public understanding and misunderstanding of and the environment and environmental problems The book is of relevance to students and researchers in media and communication studies cultural studies film and visual studies geography sociology politics and other disciplines with an interest in the politics of visual environmental communication This book was published as a special issue of Environmental Communication A Journal of Nature and Culture

Changing Prairie Landscapes Patrick Douaud, Todd A. Radenbaugh, 2000 Landscapes of the Northern Great Plains have been constantly changing but never so rapidly as under modern conditions of economic affluence and technological development This change is multifaceted and has an impact not only on the fabric of culture and its perception of landscape but also on the ecology and physical landforms Multidisciplinary research has therefore become an important tool in identifying the influences that human activities have not only on cultural landscapes but on biophysical ones as well This collection of articles originating in a conference held at the Royal Saskatchewan Museum in April 2000 focuses on just such an integration of research concerning the Great Plains of North America and involving the disciplines of geology archaeology biology geography sociology and agriculture

Impaired Wetlands in a Damaged Landscape Kevin P. Timoney, 2015-07-01 This work is a scientific monograph that examines the flora and vegetation of natural mineral wetlands in comparison to mineral wetlands affected by bitumen exploitation The work is of broad relevance because a wetland loss and degradation is a global problem b the continued global increase in fossil fuel exploitation is resulting in widespread damage and c bitumen tar sands oil sands exploitation is a rapidly growing and destructive set of activities The core of the work is a meta analysis of 417 vegetation plots Analyses of change over time and chemical and physical attributes of water and soil are presented for the subset of plots with sufficient data The purpose of the work is to demonstrate that 1 There are marked differences between natural and industrially affected wetlands 2 Industrially affected mineral wetlands differ from natural wetlands in their vegetation assemblages their depressed vegetation and species diversity and their abundance of exotic weeds 3

Successful post bitumen mining wetland reclamation has not been accomplished and may not be attainable within the foreseeable future given the ecological and physical conditions of the industrial wetlands current reclamation practices and lax regulatory standards In regard to government policy and industrial practices it finds that they are responsible for reclamation failure on a grand scale

Alberta Landscapes Darwin Wiggett,2006-01-01 Explore the drama and complexity of Alberta through the eyes of master photographer Darwin Wiggett From the sagebrush speckled lowlands to the bustling skylines of its major cities to the towering wall of the Rocky Mountains the landscapes of Alberta cast a seductive spell This series of photography books features the work of some of the best contemporary and historical photographers

Water Security for Better Lives Organisation for Economic Co-Operation and Development (OECD),2014-01-31 This publication examines the critical issues surrounding water security water shortage water excess inadequate water quality the resilience of freshwater systems providing a rationale for a risk based approach and the management of trade offs between water and other sectoral and environmental policies The report sets out a three step process to know target and manage water risks 1 appraising the risks 2 judging the tolerability and acceptability of risks and weighing risk risk trade offs and 3 calibrating appropriate responses The publication provides policy analysis and guidance on the use of market based instruments and the complex links between water security and other policy objectives such as food security energy security climate mitigation and biodiversity protection

Artists of Alberta Suzanne Devonshire Baker,1980 Waterfowl 2000 ,2000 Sustaining Rocky Mountain Landscapes Tony Prato,Tony Professor Prato,Dan Professor Fagre,2010-09-30 Prato and Fagre offer the first systematic multi disciplinary assessment of the challenges involved in managing the Crown of the Continent Ecosystem CCE an area of the Rocky Mountains that includes northwestern Montana southwestern Alberta and southeastern British Columbia The spectacular landscapes extensive recreational options and broad employment opportunities of the CCE have made it one of the fastest growing regions in the United States and Canada and have lead to a shift in its economic base from extractive resources to service oriented recreation and tourism industries In the process however the amenities and attributes that draw people to this New West are under threat Pastoral scenes are disappearing as agricultural lands and other open spaces are converted to residential uses biodiversity is endangered by the fragmentation of fish and wildlife habitats and many areas are experiencing a decline in air and water quality Sustaining Rocky Mountain Landscapes provides a scientific basis for communities to develop policies for managing the growth and economic transformation of the CCE without sacrificing the quality of life and environment for which the land is renowned The book begins with a natural and economic history of the CCE It follows with an assessment of current physical and biological conditions in the CCE The contributors then explore how social economic demographic and environmental forces are transforming ecosystem structure and function They consider ecosystem change in response to changing patterns of land use pollution and drought the increasing risk of wildfire to wildlife and to human life and property and the implications of global climate change on the CCE

A final policy focused section of the book looks at transboundary issues in ecosystem management and evaluates the potential of community based and adaptive approaches in ecosystem management Rural Land Change and the Capacity for Ecosystem Conservation and Sustainable Production in North America Alisa W. Coffin, Mark A. Drummond, David R. Huggins, Farid Akhter, 2022-04-26 The Nebraska Sand Hills Charles Barron McIntosh, 1996-01-01 Charles Barron McIntosh has devoted a lifetime of scholarship to the history of human activity on Nebraska's Sand Hills the spare beautiful land that occupies much of western Nebraska From carefully deciphering Native American occupancy through rigorous analysis of thousands of arrowheads to patiently combing through decades of courthouse land title transaction records McIntosh has mastered the sweep of centuries of human interaction with the land We learn how the land shapes humankind far more than pride would have us believe and we see that perhaps our real success lies in learning how to live with the land rather than attempting to master it The Nebraska Sand Hills reflects McIntosh's lifetime of learning reading questioning analyzing in short everything it means to be a scholar seldom are these efforts so well demonstrated His affection for this unique landscape is present on every page Harmonizing Global Efforts in Meeting Sustainable Development Goals Gökhan Gölçek, Ali, Güdek-Gölçek, Şeyda, 2024-06-03 Navigating the complexities of sustainable development can be daunting amidst the urgent need for global action on climate change and social development Policies actions and philosophies must harmonize to meet the ambitious targets the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs set However the fragmented nature of research and the lack of comprehensive resources hinder progress towards these objectives Harmonizing Global Efforts in Meeting Sustainable Development Goals offers a timely solution By dissecting the intricacies of the global movement towards sustainable development this edited volume serves as an authoritative resource for academics researchers and practitioners alike It critically examines methodologies strategies and challenges shedding light on progress made and proposing innovative solutions to bridge divides
