CONSOLE Whenever a wise Indian poor person puts something against wealth and criticizes it we may wonder if this is a consolation for the poor It can happen in certain situations for example someone either says The man is rich but he couldn't even buy a pair of shoes for his child If he said that it would be a poor consolation Let's ask a question where does a person accelerate from Let me give you an example there are missiles such as ground to air air to air sea to land etc that is they have a specific role There is a place that humans also take over we call it the inertial habitat Let me give an example of this for example there are waterfalls in different places on a cliff these waterfalls are non functional but the area where they will be functional carries water that is their function is to carry water No one can get water from that waterfall it would be troublesome but when a lake forms where they fall that lake becomes a habitat because the lake has inertia Its meaning is predictable it has constants you will know over time Where is deep where is dirty where is clean Human beings can take action in such a habitat due to their nature About four rule systems cosmic rules metaphysical rules natural rules and cognitive simulation rules Let's start from the last one for example a game or gambling table is just a simulation it has its own rules the rules are valid at the table we call this a simulation The rules of nature duality entropy thermodynamic laws

Cosmic laws on the other hand are cosmic fields that are essentially composed of magnetic systems which we can somehow call the order of neutrinos. Metaphysical rules are a system that operates within the framework of quantum mechanics but of course there is more Human mechanics which is a cognitive structure essentially act within an inertial habitat that consists of a correlation of rules that these four create at different times. To give extreme examples there is no difference between a violation of the rules caused by a virgin nun living in a monastery kissing the gardener and a man who rigs the stock market and cheats the public. Now let's come to this situation of material wealth a person's money excessive amount of money having money or property I will describe them this way they are not rich they are MONEYED what is this. So if Ali can't be ruined how can Veli be ruined. This is due to rule violation. Which rule. In addition to mainly being a violation of rules this excessive money is actually caused by violating the correlation created by the four rules. To cut it down a bit how did the rich get rich. Answer They did this by violating metaphysically based rules we will give examples. Now let's consider the issue from the perspective of cosmic and quantum mechanics. What do we believe. A holistic universe that is the composite mind why do we believe this. Because due to quantum entanglement all minds are in communication with each other on a point by point basis that is they upload to each other. They provide a common mechanics or a common accumulation as in the theory of compound vessels. Holistic compound systems holistic spirit holistic energy and holistic structure we believe in this way. Now let's talk about a sequence to increase the holistic value I will give an example of the stock market. The stock market has a holistic value but it derives this value from the total value of the elements each individual share has a different value when a share rises this has an impact on the holistic system. What actually needs to happen in this case. It is to ensure that each element reaches a higher quality in terms of value that is other companies should allow or even support it to develop instead of sinking it. How will they do this. They will do so by taking themselves to a higher level. Now let's look at a paradoxical issue there are honest people and there are dishonest people. Let's take honest people let's take an honest person who does no harm to anyone and does not do evil. Doesn't this person have the right to get rich. Yes can this person become rich without violating the rules. The answer is no it can't. Let me give an example of this let's take a producer a writer an artist a musician a producer. Our question is one of them wants to start production and get rich from it what should he do. He needs to make something that will sell well. For example a writer the publishing house says if you write about this subject love pastry adventure in this way in a way that Hatice will understand it will sell well. Extend this to other manufacturers let's see what happens now. Let's go back to the lake where these waterfalls flow the inertia system created by that lake allows everyone to continue feeding from their own comfort zone. Let's give an example of this for example think of a chicken coop the chickens are wandering around their comfort zone in front of them. Let's also look at the wrens they are hunters looking for their sustenance among the bushes. Emotional Alchemy Tara Bennett-Goleman, 2003 Shows how we similarly all have the natural ability to turn the lead of our confused minds into the gold of insightful clarity.
