Court Performance Around The World A Comparative Perspective:

Court Performance Around the World Maria Dakolias, 1999-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper no 430 QUOTE Many countries are undertaking legal and judicial reforms as part of their overall development programs there is increasing recognition that economic and social progress requires consolidation of democracy as well as respect for the rule of law and human rights without these development is not sustainable QUOTE Many developing countries find that their judiciaries are inconsistent in conflict resolution and carry a large backlog of cases thus stifling private sector growth eroding individual and property rights and perhaps even violating human rights Delays affect both the fairness and the efficiency of the system They impede the public's access to the courts which in effect weakens democracies the rule of law and the ability to enforce human rights This paper aims to describe and explain the performance of court systems in a sample of developing and developed countries in order to provide data to those designing or evaluating reforms The study also seeks to show areas in which international comparison of judicial performance can be fruitful suggesting indicators that can be used in such comparisons Finally it endeavors to provide comparisons of performance within individual countries over time Court Performance Around the World: a Comparative Perspective M. Dakolias, 1999 Increasing importance has been placed on an effective and efficient judiciary by governments and civil society However apart from decisions that they render little is known about court performance trends The judicial reform experiences so far have made it clear that more information is needed to review and compare trends among different countries This paper addresses the efficiency aspect of court performance as it can be quantitatively measured using objective data In addition congestion cost and delay are some of the problems most often complained about by the public This paper reviews data collected from eleven countries on three continents and provides a description of performance The main areas of comparison include the number of cases filed resolved and pending per judge the clearance and congestion rates time to resolve a case the number of judges and the cost of a case The paper also reviews the recent trends within each country and discusses some possible reforms

Subnational Budgeting in Russia Lev M. Freinkman, Daniel Treisman, Stepan Titov, 1999-01-01 Not only are Russia's regions economically diverse but the policies that regional governments have adopted to deal with the strains of economic transition also vary widely Some regions have generally embraced market reforms while others have sought to preserve enclaves of socialism with price restrictions large subsidies and barriers to trade Reforms of Russia's budgetary system at the subnational level are vital to preserve macroeconomic stability improve the efficiency and accountability of government and enhance incentives for local and regional governments to vigorously support economic growth Previous analytical and reform efforts have focused on possible changes at the federal level and in the system of center region relations An opportunity now exists to make progress by providing reform advice and conditional aid to policymakers at the regional and subregional level This report focuses on opportunities for reform at the subnational level It reviews recent trends in fiscal adjustment budgeting and government debt at the regional and local levels in Russia It analyzes major problems and suggests a number of measures and performance indicators that could form part of a reform strategy initiated by the Government of Russia     Treasury Reference Model Ali Hashim,Bill Allan,2001-01-01 The World Bank and IMF are placing increasing emphasis on projects aimed at improving the management of public finances An integrated treasury system forms the backbone for recording and processing all transactions This book provides a treasury reference model TRM to give guidelines for the design of automated treasury systems for governments It provides detailed flow charts of the functional processes associated with Treasury systems This book also includes a diagnostic questionnaire that could be used to evaluate country specific requirements as well as a set of sample functional specifications that could be used for procurement and or development of the application software that would be required to implement these systems     Possibilities and Impossibilities in a Contradictory Global Order Stian Nordengen Christensen,2018-04-21     Administrative Courts in Indonesia Adiaan Bedner,2021-09-06 In 1991 Indonesia introduced a system of administrative courts that was to contribute to establishing the rule of law in Indonesia and to provide recourse for citizens against unlawful administrative behaviour This book evaluates the performance of the administrative court system It explains why the courts were established in spite of the Indonesian state s authoritarian nature and why and to what extent the system is a Dutch legal transplant It analyses the jurisdictionary powers of the courts and how the courts have used them It then proceeds to explain the unbalanced nature of the record presented by analysing factors inside and outside the administrative court organisation which influence its performance These include budgetary deficits lack of training opportunities career manipulation corruption lack of government support and many other non legal issues Finally the author provides a number of recommendations for change many of which may also be of use to other developing countries     The Development of Electricity Markets in the Euro-Mediterranean Area Daniel Müller-Jentsch,2001-01-01 Annotation The main objective of this report is to outline key policy issues that need to be addressed in order to achieve energy sector reform at the national and regional levels     The Fictions of Latin American Law and their Strategic Uses Jorge L. Esquirol,2019-11-21 Challenges the distorted hegemonic accounts of Latin American law and reveals their geopolitical and economic consequences in the world today     Financial Markets, Credit Constraints, and Investment in Rural Romania Rodrigo Chaves,2001 This study evaluates the performance of financial markets in rural areas of Romania based on the 1998 rural household rural enterprise and financial intermediary surveys along with other official statistical data for 1997 It presents empirical evidence indicating that constrained access to credit markets negatively influences the investment behavior of households and enterprises The report recommends a detailed government strategy to correct the observed shortcomings of rural financial markets and identifies new challenges that are likely to appear     The TB and HIV/AIDS Epidemics in the Russian Federation ,2001-01-01 The TB and HIV AIDS Epidemics in the Russian Federation describes the socioeconomic conditions in the Russian Federation and examines how they are influencing infectious disease epidemics It also discusses the impact of the epidemics on the population including the incidence and prevalence in the general and prison populations Finally this paper presents a description of a mathematical model of improvements in health status possible under various TB control strategies with implications for HIV AIDS as well      Access to Education for the Poor in Europe and Central Asia Nancy

Vandycke,2001-01-01 This paper focuses on the long term benefits of education It also examines the supply of education the short term incentives to invest in education for the poor and draws on the policy implications This paper also stresses the need to study further the determinants of school enrollment among the poor      Private Infrastructure in East Asia Aldo

Emeseh,Olabisi D. Akinkugbe,2021-08-06 The contributions to this volume focus on a diverse array of topics in international law with scholarly interventions from experts in the field both in academia and the judiciary as well as case commentary on a recent decision of the International Court of Justice Chagos Decision The theoretical and methodological breadth of the issues covered are relevant to audiences beyond the Nigerian and African intellectual space In particular this volume includes analysis on critical intellectual property law questions intersections of national regional and international law and technology the African Continental Free Trade Area Agreement and maritime law The authoritative views of the experts on the different issues covered in this volume make excellent contributions to their relevant fields      Judicial Integrity

,2004-05-01 Traditional separation of powers theories assumed that governmental despotism will be prevented by dividing the branches of government which will check one another Modern governments function with unexpected complicity among these branches Sometimes one of the branches becomes overwhelming Other governmental structures however tend to mitigate these tendencies to domination Among other structures courts have achieved considerable autonomy vis vis the traditional political branches of power They tend to maintain considerable distance from political parties in the name of professionalism and expertise The conditions and criteria of independence are not clear and even less clear are the conditions of institutional integrity Independence including depolitization of public institutions is of particular practical relevance in the post Communist countries where political partisanship penetrated institutions under the single party system Institutional integrity particularly in the context of administration of justice became a precondition for accession to the European Union Given this practical challenge the present volume is centered around three key areas of institutional integrity primarily within the administration of justice First in a broader theoretical interdisciplinary context the criteria of institutional independence are discussed The second major issue is the relation of neutralized institutions to branches of government with reference to accountability Thirdly comparative experience regarding judicial independence is discussed to determine techniques to enhance integrity

Kazakhstan John Gray,2000-01-01 The success achieved in stimulating real change in farm ownership control and management in some areas combined with the extremity of the difficulties faced by farms in less favored areas point to the need for an active process of policy reformulation to address the problems which are now emerging from the restructuring process Agriculture in Kazakhstan is in crisis the majority of farms are insolvent and production has fallen to the lowest level in 30 years Initial restructuring efforts yielded disappointing results and mostly failed to lead to new patterns of ownership or management However since 1998 the government has pursued a more aggressive approach to farm restructuring based on increased reliance on farm bankruptcy This report reviews the experience of the farm restructuring policies and programs pursued in 1998 and 1999 and draws conclusions for the continuing development of agricultural sector policies This review forms one of a group of simultaneous agricultural sector studies undertaken by the World Bank at the request of the Government of Kazakhstan

Kazakhstan A Review of Farm Restructuring reviews the progress to date in the implementation of the government s reform measures which were begun in late 1998 The report is based on a field mission undertaken in April May 1999 which concentrated primarily on the Northern oblasts and information provided by the staff of the Headquarters of the Ministry of Agriculture in Astana

Groundwater Salman M. A. Salman,1999-01-01 Water is becoming an increasingly scarce resource for most of the world s citizens The current trends indicate that the overall situation is likely to deteriorate further at least for the next decade unless the water profession eschews business as usual practices which can only allow incremental changes to occur Groundwater is the least understood and least appreciated yet the most important natural resource available to mankind Groundwater represents about 97% of the existing fresh water resources excluding the resources locked in polar ice More than one and a half billion people in the urban parts of the world today depend on groundwater Groundwater supply is more reliable than the seasonal and sometimes erratic surface water and provides the main line of defense against drought Moreover the quality of groundwater is by and large superior to surface water and cheaper to develop However when available data on groundwater is very scanty As a result the World Bank is now paying increasing attention to this valuable resource through both operations and sector work This publication represents the proceeding of the seminar Groundwater Legal and Policy Perspectives that was organized by the Legal Vice Presidency of the World Bank It explains some basic technical aspects of groundwater surveys the regulatory framework for it and discusses the World Bank experience and international law regarding this precious resource It is a timely publication and should also assist in a better understanding and appreciation of this valuable source It will be of interest to Bank staff borrowing country officials international agencies and research organizations working on groundwater
