based on qualitative data and specifically focused on the migratory flow between Morocco and Italy through an exploration that encompasses a range of interrelated issues such as transnational marriages intimacy love daily domestic life the formation of second generations and citizenship Providing an exhaustive analysis of such phenomena the book portrays cultural diversity in a nuanced manner and in so doing contributes to de politicize widely stigmatized traits of migrant families

Learning to Love Raksha Pande, 2021-03-19 Learning to Love moves beyond the media and policy stereotypes that conflate arranged marriages with forced marriages Using in depth interviews and participant observations this book assembles a rich and diverse array of everyday marriage narratives and trajectories and highlights how considerations of romantic love are woven into traditional arranged marriage practices It shows that far from being a homogeneous tradition arranged marriages involve a variety of different matchmaking practices where each family tailors its own cut and paste version of British Indian arranged marriages to suit modern identities and ambitions Pande argues that instead of being wedded to traditions people in the British Indian diaspora have skillfully adapted and negotiated arranged marriage cultural norms to carve out an identity narrative that portrays them as modern and progressive migrants ones who are changing with the times and cultivating transnational forms of belonging

Love in Africa Jennifer Cole, Lynn M. Thomas, 2009-08-01 In recent years scholarly interest in love has flourished Historians have addressed the rise of romantic love and marriage in Europe and the United States while anthropologists have explored the ways globalization has reshaped local ideas about those same topics Yet love in Africa has been peculiarly ignored resulting in a serious lack of understanding about this vital element of social life a glaring omission given the intense focus on sexuality in Africa in the wake of HIV AIDS Love in Africa seeks both to understand this failure to consider love and to begin to correct it In a substantive introduction and eight essays that examine a variety of countries and range in time from the 1930s to the present the contributors collectively argue for the importance of paying attention to the many different cultural and historical strands that constitute love in Africa Covering such diverse topics as the reception of Bollywood movies in 1950s Zanzibar the effects of a Mexican telenovela on young people s ideas about courtship in Niger the models of romance promoted by South African and Kenyan magazines and the complex relationship between love and money in Madagascar and South Africa Love in Africa is a vivid and compelling look at love s role in African society Highways and Byways to Health ...
