Cows Pigs Wars And Witches The Riddles Of Culture:

Cows, Pigs, Wars, and Witches Marvin Harris, 2011-07-13 One of America's leading anthropologists offers solutions to the perplexing question of why people behave the way they do Why do Hindus worship cows Why do Jews and Moslems refuse to eat pork Why did so many people in post medieval Europe believe in witches Marvin Harris answers these and other perplexing questions about human behavior showing that no matter how bizarre a people's behavior may seem it always stems from identifiable and intelligible sources Cows, Pigs, Wars & Witches Marvin Harris, 1974 "Mother Cow"

Marvin Harris, 1989 Handbook of Sociological Theory Jonathan H. Turner, 2006-05-17 Sociology is experiencing what can only be described as hyperdifferentiation of theories there are now many approaches competing for attention in the intellectual arena From this perspective we should see a weeding out of theories to a small number but this is not likely to occur because each of the many theoretical perspectives has a resource base of adherents As a result theories in sociology do not compete head on with each other as much as they coexist This seminal reference work was brought together with an eye to capturing the diversity of theoretical activity in sociology specifically the forefront of theory Contributors describe what they themselves are doing right now rather than what others have done in the past The goal of this volume is to allow prominent theorists working in a variety of traditions who wouldn't usually come together to review their work The chapters in this volume represent a mix of theoretical orientations and strategies but these theories are diverse and represent the prominent theoretical discussions in sociology today Some areas included are Section I Theoretical Methodologies and Strategies Section II The Cultural Turn in Sociological Theorizing Section III Theorizing Interaction Processes Section IV Theorizing from the Systemic and Macrolevel Section V New Directions in Evolutionary Theorizing Section VI Theorizing on Power Conflict and Change Section VII Theorizing from Assumptions of Rationality This handbook will be of interest to those wanting a broad spectrum and overview of late 20th early 21st century sociological theory The Riddles of Human Society Conrad L. Kanagy, Donald B. Kraybill, 1999-01-27 Why are all U S Presidents white men Why does technology enchant us Why do some people commit suicide Why are sports so important to Americans How will the Internet change society Why do people do good This very teachable and short new introductory text explores these and other riddles to stir students sociological curiosity and promote active learning as the sure path toward mastering the fundamentals of the discipline Once again Pine Forge Press has done us Intro teachers a great service with The Riddles of Human Society The authors have produced a remarkable text designing it from the point of view of how students actually acquire sociological tools and imagination when reflecting on their social world It is written as a conversation with readers yet is organized with learning tools like chapter summaries discussion questions and an in text glossary It considers a broad range of topics from micro to macro levels thus uniquely blending the best of a shorter textbook and a monograph It will serve very well as a main text for introductory sociology courses I recommend it highly Stephen Sharkey Department of Social Science Alverno College

Feast Martin Jones,2008-04-10 Is sharing food such an everyday unremarkable occurrence In fact the human tendency to sit together peacefully over food is actually rather an extraordinary phenomenon and one which many species find impossible It is also a phenomenon with far reaching consequences for the global environment and human social evolution So how did this strange and powerful behaviour come about In Feast Martin Jones uses the latest archaeological methods to illuminate how humans came to share food in the first place and how the human meal has developed since then From the earliest evidence of human consumption around half a million years ago to the era of the TV dinner and the drive through diner this fascinating account unfolds the history of the human meal and its huge impact both on human society and the ecology of the planet

Milk Craze Veronica S. W. Mak,2021-02-28 Why do the Chinese who are mostly lactase non persistent suddenly thirst for milk today Whether it is formula milk fresh cow milk or tea with condensed milk the rocketing milk consumption and production in China are of increasing global food safety health and environmental concerns Milk Craze examines and compares developments in China's dairy industry and dietary dairy consumption cross nationally and globally and more specifically in two localities Shunde and Hong Kong Through an innovative analysis of medical texts and social media as well as careful ethnographic studies Veronica Mak ponders why the surge in demand for Western cow milk coincides with the plunge in sales of indigenous water buffalo milk and cheese She reveals the multiple ways in which global industries and Chinese dairy conglomerates sabotage and destroy local dairy farms She shows that the rise of milk consumption is not just about the globalization of cow milk production and Westernization of the Chinese diet but also due to the crossovers between the traditional Chinese diet and medicine and modern global diets She uses these reference points to explore the multiple meanings of dairy foods in China such as the class and cultural attributes associated with British milk tea and flavored yogurt products water buffalo curds and cheese and the lower class associations of labor in the water buffalo dairying industries and then discusses these developments in China through colonial and modern global perspectives Milk Craze argues powerfully that the Westernization or dramatic change of diet in China too often obscures structural educational occupational and social stresses and constraints while naturalizing the dubious redefinition of health cognitive performance and ideal body shape as individual responsibility and imperative

Classification as an object of recent anthropological scrutiny came to prominence during the 1960s exemplified in the British constructionist tradition by the writings of Mary Douglas and in the American ethno semantics cognitive tradition by the likes of Harold Conklin and Brent Berlin At the time these approaches seemed by turns to contradict each other or even to exist in parallel universes However over the last 30 years we have witnessed both a renewed interest in classification studies as well as a cross fertilization of these once antagonistic approaches These essays by one of leading scholars in this field bring together a body of influential and inter linked work which attempts to bridge the divide between cultural and cognitive studies of classification and which develops a more embedded and processual approach In particular the essays focus on people s categorization of natural kinds as a means through which to obtain an understanding of how classifying behavior in general works engaging with the ideas of both anthropologists and psychologists The theoretical background is set out in an entirely new and substantial introduction which also provides a comprehensive and systematic review of developments in cognitive and social anthropology since 1960 as these have impacted on classification studies In short it constitutes a useful and approachable introduction to its subject The Ecosystem Approach in Anthropology Emilio F.
