Blood Knot And Other Plays:

Blood Knot, and Other Plays Athol Fugard, 1991 The brothers of Blood Knot one dark skinned one light betray their dreams of a better future with the impossible wish of passing for white In Hello and Goodbye a poor white brother and sister churn their once promising past to comprehend their bleak present Boesman and Lena a black husband and wife tramp homelessly through a severe and unforgiving landscape discovering strength and recovering devotion through an encounter with a mysterious old African

Blood Knot And Other Plays, 1993 These three Port Elizabeth plays which established South African playwright Athol Fugard's international reputation more than twenty years ago examine with passion and grace close family relationships strained almost unendurably by the harshest of economic and political conditions A rare playwright who could be a primary candidate for either the Nobel Prize in Literature or the Nobel Peace Prize Mel Gussow The New Yorker

The Blood Knot Athol Fugard, 1964 This is a play about race About apartheid which is technically dead and racism which is very much alive It's about the to the bone love between brothers the kind that transcends skin color and crosses social chasms Or not Family can at times tread a fine line between love and less admirable emotions Sometimes it even crosses over These men and their story invite you to explore that complex and compelling contradiction To dig beneath the surface of what makes us kin and what happens when we don't like what we find there Like all the best plays Blood Knot is both relatable and searingly intimate And like all the best plays it will get under your skin Two brothers live a quiet strained existence in a tiny house in apartheid South Africa Morris who has very fair skin and has in the past passed as white has recently returned to Port Elizabeth and is living with his brother Zachariah who works long painful hours as a sentry at the gate of a whites only park Despite Morris constant presence Zach is lonely for the company of a woman so Morris suggests he find a pen pal When it turns out Zach's pen pal isn't who they thought the brothers desperation exposes the complex angles of their relationship in this powerful play by the man who wrote The Island produced at APT in 2015 and Exits and Entrances at APT in 2010

The Ethos of Drama Robert L. King, 2010-04-26 A groundbreaking approach to drama criticism

Kuyanuka and other Plays Gha-Makhulu Diniso, 2009-10-19 Kuyanuka and other Plays by Gha Makhulu Diniso is also a collection of three one person plays Kuyanuka was first performed in 1991 Koropa in 2000 and Shoeville in 2005 As critic Darryl Accone observes It is precisely because of his conscience and commitment to true freedom that Diniso remains an artist neglected in his own country Not for him complacency about the much lip serviced Rainbow Nation at least not while the stench of inequality not only persists but grows fouler by the day There is no extravagant escapism imported from abroad and peddled to the nouveaux riches and petite bourgeois of the New South Africa Instead though the creation of multiple characters reflecting the harshness of life under the neo liberal economic order Diniso expresses the problematic of celebrating political freedom when most black people find their living standards under threat and soaring unemployment and casualization undermining much of the early liberation promise
