Multilingual Life Writing by French and Francophone Women Natalie Edwards, 2019-10-17 This volume examines the ways in which multilingual women authors incorporate several languages into their life writing It compares the work of six contemporary authors who write predominantly in French It analyses the narrative strategies they develop to incorporate more than one language into their life writing French and English French and Creole or French and German for example The book demonstrates how women writers transform languages to invent new linguistic formations and how they create new formulations of subjectivity within their self narrative It intervenes in current debates over global literature national literatures and translingual and transnational writing which constitute major areas of research in literary and cultural studies. It also contributes to debates in linguistics through its theoretical framework of translanguaging. It argues that multilingual authors create new paradigms for life writing and that they question our understanding of categories such as French literature.

France Au XXI<sup>e</sup> Siècle Marie-Christine W. Koop, Rosalie Vermette, 2009. The twenty first century is now underway and it's time to look at France once again as it moves into the new millennium. The current collection of essays explores cultural themes which are different than those in the editors' earlier volume La France l'aube du XXI<sup>e</sup> siècle. Tendances et mutations. France at the Dawn of the Twenty First Century Trends and Transformations published in 2000. Summa Publications. See Google Book Search on home page. Among the topics explored in this new volume are the presidential election of 2007, changing dietary habits, the condition of women, environmental policies, the economy, education, social mobility, young people, religion, as well as contemporary music, cinema, regional theater, and literature. Articles on multiculturalism, the position of French in today's world, and France in the European Union also provide the reader with provocative insights. All chapters include extensive references and web sites and will be of interest to academics, teachers, and students of contemporary French culture and all Francophiles. For the classroom teacher, additional cultural information and activities will be found on the editors' own home page; this material will be updated on a regular basis, thus facilitating the task of presenting a modern day France that is continuously changing.
