Alternative Revenue Sources Prospects Requirements And Concerns For Nonprofits:

Alternative Revenue Sources Dwight Burlingame, Warren Frederick Ilchman, 1996 The Study of Nonprofit Enterprise Helmut K. Anheier, Avner Ben-Ner, 2012-12-06 This volume addresses the need to revisit the economic theories from the last two decades that have contributed to the development of a concentrated research agenda on nonprofit organizations Long neglected as a topic of theorizing and empirical investigation by mainstream economics in particular these initial theories of nonprofit organizations from the late 1970s and early 1980s continue to shape theoretical and conceptual efforts Importantly their influence extends beyond economics and informs sociological and politics science approaches to the set of organizations and institutions located between the market firm and the state agency as well While the theoretical map of nonprofit research has expanded beyond these early attempts and now include several other major theories such as stakeholder approaches supply side or entrepreneurial theories institutional theories and comparative approaches This work suggests that it is time to take stock and reexamine some of the basics from which these economic theories operate Money for the Asking Peter Munstedt, 2019-11-01 Money for the Asking explores the basics of fundraising for music library professionals Music libraries face many challenges today including shrinking budgets Fundraising is one way to increase a library s resources but few books address fundraising opportunities specifically for music libraries In this concise volume Peter Munstedt provides practical advice for music librarians who want to initiate fundraising Based on his depth of experience the author explains the importance of promoting a library s needs which can be critical in establishing fundraising efforts Working with individual donors is essential for any fundraising program The book differentiates four essential steps that development professionals employ when working with donors including identification cultivation solicitation and stewardship There is also an explanation of the various types of donations such as gifts in kind monetary gifts endowments and planned giving Obtaining resources through grants is another significant aspect of fundraising The book covers corporation foundation and government grants within the context of music libraries Other methods of raising money are also described including several kinds of fundraising events such as benefit concerts book sales as well as other public and private events While encouraging music libraries to pursue fundraising the author also cautions about several subtle issues that consist of hidden costs internal politics and ethical concerns This book reveals principles in the professional development world as seen through the eyes of a music librarian The author explains real life experiences in a music library setting including case studies from his library Also provided are examples of fundraising web pages from various other music libraries The book reveals the positive effects and actual benefits that fundraising can bring to a music library Money really is there for the asking Small Nonprofits: Strategies for Fundraising Success Mary Louise Mussoline, 1998-12-14 As advocates for the poor builders of community and guardians of the environment small organizations are big players in the work of the not for profit world This volume of New Directions for Philanthropic Fundraising was written to help people within these small organizations approach fundraising in the same way they approach their programs with pride determination and passion The authors consider areas of special importance for small organizations diversity of income sources strength of the board of directors involvement of diverse constituencies in fundraising issues that all small nonprofits face today They also discuss more focused topics important to small organizations such as the conversion of special events donors to annual fund donors and the important human aspects of working with volunteers This is the 20th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Philanthropic Fundraising Managing Think Tanks Raymond J. Struyk, 2002 Finance Fundamentals for Nonprofits Woods Bowman, 2011-07-05 A complete guide to the financial requirements a nonprofit organization must follow to indefinitely maintain the volume and quality of their services An organization may have plenty of capacity in the long run but in the short run donor restrictions and limited financing options are constraining Here and now liquid assets are the only resources available Finance Fundamentals for Nonprofits Building Capacity and Sustainability shows how to measure a nonprofit organization's financial capacity in different time frames and how to measure its ability to sustain capacity in each case Explains how nonprofits differ from businesses and how they promote values centered management Reveals how to improve financial capacity and sustainability Written by a nonprofit scholar Filled with real world case studies and actionable advice relating financial health to financial capacity and sustainability this book is essential reading for every nonprofit professional The Impact of Technology on Fundraising Dwight F. Burlingame, Michael J. Poston, 1999 This issue explores how to harness powerful new information technologies particularly the internet to strengthen fundraising and it examines the ethical issues raised by the extraordinary potential of these technologies The contributors argue that nonprofits may have to develop revolutionary new institutional structures in order to take the fullest advantage of these new tools while at the same time taking care not to abuse the expanded information gathering and outreach capabilities now available to them Chapters use a case study to show how to construct a web page that compellingly reflects an organization's mission and purpose and how to avoid common mistakes when choosing fundraising software The contributors draw on current fundraising regulations to offer a model for regulating internet fundraising practices discuss whether existing guidelines for gathering information on donors and potential donors are still applicable in the new technological environment and challenge nonprofits to use technology to bridge the gap between the haves and have nots This is the 25th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Philanthropic Fundraising The Changing World of Foundation Fundraising, New Challenges and Opportunities Sandra A. Glass, 1999-04-13 There are over forty thousand unique private foundations in the United States with total assets of approximately 300 billion As these foundations grow in number and size it is increasingly important for grantseekers to understand their missions and modes of operation This volume of New Directions for Philanthropic Fundraising offers insights into the changes taking place in different types of foundations including special purpose regional community and international foundations The authors suggest practical ways that grantseekers can improve relations with foundations and show how grantmakers and other foundation staff enhance their effectiveness and better serve their constituents' needs through strategic planning and alliance building. This is the 23rd issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Philanthropic Fundraising. Ethical Decision Making in Fund Raising Marilyn Fischer, 2000-02-22 A handbook for ethical reasoning and discussion Ethical Decision Making in Fund Raising provides resources with which fund raisers can analyze ethically troubling situations and make choices for their organizations. BOOK JACKET Fundraising in Diverse Cultural and Giving Environments Robert E. Fogal, 2003-04-02 Bringing diverse cultural traditions into philanthropic fundraising can be rewarding for all parties involved. Accomplishing that daunting task successfully is the theme of this issue. Opening a constructive dialogue between theory and practice in philanthropic fundraising in diverse cultural and giving environments. Editor Robert E. Fogal, executive director of St. Mary's Duluth Clinic Foundation, is joined by contributing authors from the 2002 Think Tank on Fundraising at St. Mary's College. Notre Dame, Indiana. Exploring the topic from a variety of perspectives, editors and authors seek a set of normative recommendations and findings that will promote a stronger philanthropic community and extend professional, academic, and public conversations about philanthropic issues. Chapters examine trends in giving in African American, Asian American, Latino, and Native American communities. Pier C. Rogers presents the results of structured interviews with African American philanthropic professional managers, volunteer leaders, and fundraisers for nonprofits and provides insight into values, attitudes, and practices in this community. Janice Gow Petty addresses the theme of remittances in nonmajority immigrant families and explores ways that the majority culture can understand and engage this tradition to create new models of giving that successfully blend various and distinct methods of giving and sharing. Mike Cortes examines common assumptions about the Hispanic community and illustrates the more specific geographical identities in that diverse Latino community that supersede the term. Similarly, Kay C. Peck reminds fundraising professionals that there is no single American Indian culture and stresses the importance of recognizing the history of cultural destruction as a prerequisite to understanding philanthropic traditions within the American Indian community. Effects of race and gender on giving and volunteering are explored. Presenting the results of a survey of 885 Indiana households, a research team at the School of Public and Environmental Affairs, Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis, examines these effects and tracks them across different survey methodologies used in eight past studies. Findings from this study bring to light significant and surprising trends in giving and volunteering behaviors by race and gender. Philanthropic fundraisers must also recognize emerging cultures. Working at the Community Foundation Silicon Valley, Barbara Larson explores the new philanthropy in the dot-com world and reveals the breakdown of donor market categories in the face of the variety of options and vehicles for giving in this volatile, constantly changing donor community. Unexpected trends emerging in the wake of the Bush administration's initiatives to foster faith-based engagement in social welfare through government funding must be recognized as well Director of Development for Catholic Near East Welfare Association Margaret Guellich examines some of the potential risks to mission integrity stewardship and donor erosion Thomas H Jeavons visiting fellow at the Yale University Program on Nonprofit Organizations at Yale Divinity School cautions against perceive faith based organizations as monolith social entities and demonstrates that the impact of the proposed government program is likely to be small What does the fundraising professional need to face these and other emerging challenges Roger C Hedgepeth principal consultant for CWC Hedgepeth Group asserts that fundraising and fundraising professionals are not prepared to deal with the cultural and social changes they face Instead they need to become boundary spanners characterized by uncommon professional skills that are supported by keen self awareness and multicultural literacy This volume is a crucial tool for philanthropic fundraisers committed to achieving that goal Advancing Philanthropy ,1997 American Baptist Quarterly ,2002 Public Access Television Laura Linder,1999-07-30 As Laura Linder asserts increased concentration of media ownership has resulted in the homogenization of public discourse Packaged commercialized messages have replaced the personalized and localized opinions necessary for the uninhibited marketplace of ideas envisioned in the First Amendment Narrowcast outlets such as talk radio give vent to individual voices but only to a limited predefined audience The media have led a social shift toward splintering and compartmentalization away from pluralism and consensus Public access television provides an alternative to this trend requiring active public participation in the process of developing community based programming through the dominant medium of television Today more than 2 000 public access television centers exist in the United States producing more than 10 000 hours of original local programming every week But public access television remains underutilized even as deregulation and growing interest in other telecommunications delivery systems pose a potential threat to the long term viability of public access television In this comprehensive review of the background and development of public access television Linder offers all the information needed to understand the theoretical and philosophical underpinnings as well as the nuts and bolts of public access television in the United States Must reading for students and scholars involved with mass media in the United States and professionals in the television field Philanthropy Matters ,1996 Serving the Public Trust ,1999 Handbook of Research on Nonprofit Economics and Management Bruce A. Seaman,Dennis R. Young,2018-06-29 Building on the success of the first edition this thoroughly revised and expanded edition explores 1 areas of general agreement from previous research 2 areas of conflicting results and unexplored questions 3 the relative roles of theory data availability and empirical analysis in explaining gaps in our knowledge and 4 what must be done to improve our knowledge and extend the literature Selected original chapters addressing especially challenging topics include the value of risk management to nonprofit decision making nonprofit wages theory and evidence the valuation of volunteer labor property tax exemption for nonprofits when is competition good for the third sector and product diversification and social enterprise international perspectives the application of experimental research and the macroeconomic effects of the nonprofit sector
