Alternative Approaches To British Defence Policy:

Alternative Approaches to British Defence Policy John Baylis, 1983 Alternative Approaches to British Defence Policy John Baylis, 1983-12-01 The Royal Navy in the Falklands Conflict and the Gulf War Alastair Finlan, 2004 This book provides an insight into the relationship between the Royal Navy's institutional culture and modern warfare with specific reference to the Falklands Conflict and the Gulf War

International Crisis Management Marc Houben, 2004-11-23 Over the past fifty years crisis management has become essential to achieving and maintaining national security This book offers a comparative analysis of the preconditions and constraints nine European states place on their participation in international crisis management operations and the important consequences of such decisions and provides a theoretical framework to help the reader understand this complex decision making process

Screening the Fleet Jonathan Rayner, 2025-02-04 In Screening the Fleet Prof Jonathan Rayner explores the representation of the modern Royal Navy on British television over a fifty year period from 1973 to 2023 Contextualising his subject with significant aspects of earlier naval representation in recruiting documentary and public information films from the 1940s to the 1960s Rayner then brings his focus forward to 1973-2023 The 1970s were a significant decade for naval representation on television and saw the broadcast of two definitive series the BBC's drama series Warship and the acclaimed documentary series Sailor These landmark series set the benchmark for naval representation in both realist and in fictional portrayals They also set precedents for audience perceptions and these have affected the production and the reception of the series on the Royal Navy that have followed Rayner's work investigates how advances in technology allow programme makers to use new techniques in the spheres of naval drama and documentary More recent series also need to balance the required conventions for any portrayal of the navy on television with the revelatory or iconoclastic approaches now expected by modern audiences In focussing on the changing portrayal of the Royal Navy on television however Rayner also surfaces how the Navy itself has evolved in the post World War II world The series analysed in Screening the Fleet also evidence the changing nature and increasing diversity of the naval community as a reflection of changing notions of Britishness Offering the first study of its type this volume highlights evolving and emerging trends in factual and fact based television programmes through their portrayal of a highly popular patriotic and persistent subject over a fifty year period It debates developments in television and documentary approaches using the representation of the Royal Navy and its changing position in perceptions of British identity

A Companion to Contemporary Britain 1939 - 2000 Paul Addison, Harriet Jones, 2008-04-15 A Companion to Contemporary Britain covers the key themes and debates of 20th century history from the outbreak of the Second World War to the end of the century Assesses the impact of the Second World War Looks at Britain's role in the wider world including the legacy of Empire Britain's special relationship with the United States and integration with continental Europe Explores cultural issues such as class consciousness immigration and race relations changing gender roles and the impact of the mass media Covers domestic politics and the economy Introduces the varied perspectives dominating historical writing on this period Identifies the key issues which are likely to fuel future debate British Foreign and Defence Policy Since 1945 Robert Self, 2010-06-23 Foreign policy has dominated successive governments time in office and cast a consistently long shadow over British politics in the period since 1945 Robert Self provides a readable and incisive assessment of the key issues and events from the retreat from empire through the cold war period to Humanitarian Intervention and the debacle in Iraq Critical Reflections on Security and Change Stuart Croft, Terry Terriff, 2013-02-01 The contributors reflect critically on security studies since the 1980s They conclude that analysts and policy makers have not been able to respond well to the changes that have occurred and that they must revise their approach if they are to meet the challenges of the future British Defence Policy John Baylis, 1989-03-15 This study of British defence policy argues that a one off defence review is not enough but a regular process of defence reviews every five years provide a long term strategic direction which the author maintains is lacking at present Understanding UK Military Capability Andrew R. Curtis, 2024-05-21 Concentrating on decisions taken below the political level this book uncovers the factors that underpin the translation of strategic direction into military capability Europeanization of British Defence Policy Robert Dover, 2016-04-29 The phenomenon of Europeanization has become a topic that is constantly under debate This critical volume examines Europeanization through examples of British defence policy the European Security and Defence Policy the legal arms trade and the decision to go to war in Iraq in 2003 Drawing on examples from Austria and France as well as unveiling the role of the Prime Minister and his close confidants in driving through this controversial defence policy Robert Dover provides an original and engaging contemporaneous account of Europeanization Academics post graduate researchers and analysts concerned with British foreign and defence policy and those interested in European defence policy more generally will all find this study a must read Defence and Decolonisation in Southeast Asia Karl Hack, 2001 This text explains British defence policy by examining the overlapping of colonial military economic and Cold War factors in Southeast Asia Defence and Decolonisation in South-East Asia Karl Hack, 2013-12-16 This book explains why British defence policy and practice emerged as it did in the period 1941-67 by looking at the overlapping of colonial military economic and Cold War factors in the area Its main focus is on the 1950s and the decolonisation era but it argues that the plans and conditions of this period can only be understood by tracing them back to their origins in the fall of Singapore Also it shows how decolonisation was shaped not just by British aims but by the way communism communalism and nationalism facilitated and frustrated these Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1984 Making British Defence Policy Robert Self, 2022-06-16 This book explores the process by which defence policy is made in contemporary Britain and the institutions actors and conflicting interests which interact in its inception and continuous reformulation Rather than dealing with the substance of defence policy this study focuses upon the institutional actors involved in this process This is a subject which has commanded far more interest from public Parliament government and the armed forces since the protracted bloody and ultimately unsuccessful British military involvement in Iraq and Afghanistan. The work begins with a discussion of two contextual factors shaping policy. The first relates to the impact of Britain's special relationship with the United States over defence and intelligence matters while the second considers the impact of Britain's relatively disappointing economic performance upon the funding of British defence since 1945. It then goes on to explore the role and impact of all the key policy actors from the Prime Minister Cabinet and core executive to the Ministry of Defence and its relations with the broader Whitehall village and the Foreign Office and Treasury in particular. The work concludes by examining the increasing influence of external policy actors and forces such as Parliament, the courts, political parties, pressure groups and public opinion. This book will be of much interest to students of British defence policy, security studies and contemporary military history.

British Weapons Acquisition Policy and the Futility of Reform Warren A. Chin, 2019-09-17 Originally published in 2004. This incisive work reveals the causes of escalating costs and delays in British defence procurement from 1945 to the present. Tackling a complex subject in a straightforward and readable manner, it considers how successive British governments reacted to this problem, why they adopted the reforms they did, and why these reforms failed to have any meaningful effect on the operation of this process. The study draws upon a number of disciplines such as economics, politics and science and engineering to provide a broad synthesis that allows the reader to understand the technicalities of the process. The conclusion reached is that there is no apparent solution to the problem of intergenerational costs of weapons, but that a key to controlling the growing cost of projects during their development lies in the construction of a more effective research and development strategy, a path followed by Margaret Thatcher's predecessors and one that is also being advocated today.

The Defense Policies of Nations Douglas J. Murray, Paul R. Viotti, 1994. Now in its third edition, The Defense Policies of Nations has been thoroughly updated to take into account the dramatic developments of recent years: the dissolution of the Soviet Union, the resurgence of East Asian powers, the emergence of newly independent nations in Eastern Europe, the continuing instability of the Middle East, and the growing importance of third world nations in global security matters. For those dealing with national defense issues on a daily basis or even for those interested in the subject because of its current relevance, The Defense Policy of Nations is must reading.

Resource Allocation and Management in Defence: Need for a Framework, 2013-01-15. The question that faces governments and militaries the world over is how best to allocate resources for management of defence in the new age. This book by Shri A. K. Ghosh, who has an economics background, explores the framework for change in resource allocation and capability building. It emphasises the importance of introducing programming in Indian defence to serve as a link between defence planning and budgeting. There is a match between defence planning and budgeting needs to be connected by the introduction of resource constrained budgeting, having a multi-year perspective. The RMA force modernisation cost-benefit analysis, management of risks and internal and external audits are among the many issues the author has provided a perspective on It is argued by the author that defence needs to be viewed as a giant business and where possible business practices should be introduced The book is recommended reading forth planners and decision makers of defence management and will benefit readers from the armed forces as well The lay readers interested in the subject of national defence and security will also find it useful and interesting
