It is also beautifully and interestingly written The chapters flow together like Berlioz's own harmonic changes and with equal resonance Roger Norrington Independent Canadian Children's Literature, 1975 How Much Truth Do We Tell the Children? Betty Bacon, 1988 Assisted Death L. W. Sumner, 2011-07-07 Ethical and legal issues concerning physician assisted suicide and euthanasia are very much on the public agenda in many jurisdictions In this timely book L W Sumner addresses these issues within the wider context of palliative care for patients in the dying process His ethical conclusion is that a bright line between assisted death and other widely accepted end of life practices including the withdrawal of life sustaining treatment pain control through high dose opioids and terminal sedation cannot be justified In the course of the ethical argument many familiar themes are given careful and thorough treatment conceptions of death the badness of death the wrongness of killing informed consent and refusal the ethics of suicide cause of death the double effect the sanctity of life the active passive distinction advance directives and nonvoluntary euthanasia The legal discussion opens with a survey of some prominent prohibitionist and regulatory regimes and then outlines a model regulatory policy for assisted death Sumner concludes by defending this policy against a wide range of common objections including those which appeal to slippery slopes or the possibility of abuse and by asking how the transition to a regulatory regime might be managed in three common law prohibitionist jurisdictions Breaking the Mosaic Jonathan C. Young, 1987 Recent trends in education have emphasized changes in curriculum as a way of attaining cultural equality in Canadian schooling but with thin results Using an analysis grounded in political economy this book contends that cultural inequality is a result of structural factors and discusses new ways of thinking about race ethnicity education and the organization of knowledge Paul Gerrard, the Cabin Boy William Henry Giles Kingston, 2022-09-15 In Paul Gerrard the Cabin Boy William Henry Giles Kingston crafts an adventurous maritime tale that delves into the life of a young boy who embarks on a journey of self discovery amid the perils of the sea Kingston's literary style is marked by vivid descriptions and strong character development offering readers an immersive glimpse into the rigors of nautical life during the 19th century The novel captures the themes of courage friendship and resilience set against the backdrop of a fading age of exploration and burgeoning maritime power thus resonating with the conventions of sea literature popular in the Victorian era William Henry Giles Kingston a prolific author of children's literature and adventure novels drew upon his own experiences in marine commerce to infuse authenticity into his writing Growing up in a port city Kingston's fascination with the sea and its stories shaped his literary voice His commitment to moral lessons and character building narratives reflects the Victorian ethos aiming to instill virtues in young readers while entertaining them with thrilling plots This captivating tale is recommended for readers of all ages seeking adventure and moral fortitude Kingston's ability to engage with young audiences makes this book a perfect introduction to classic literature promising both excitement and valuable life lessons that endure beyond its pages The Director's Idea Ken Dancyger, 2006 As a director you must have a concept a director's idea to shape your approach to the actors the camera
