Rozeboom,Windsor Feminist Theatre Staff,      Always Wear Clean Underwear Lillian Hinds,2003-12 It must have been some grand conspiracy Some all consuming cultural phenomenon of the first half of the American 20th century Somehow all mothers had to constantly remind all children to wear clean underwear Of all possible lessons about life marriage responsibility and character it was determined that wearing clean underwear was the most important life lesson How do we know It s the one lesson that everyone remembers instantly when they see the title of this book Yet between these covers are other lessons too Taught by the author s mother and tested by time and fire Yours to use for laughing for crying for enjoying And for enhancing what is often the most neglected relationship of all the one between mother and daughter If this fun and serious little book can inspire you as a mother or a daughter its purpose will be fulfilled Book jacket      Life: The Lost

E Becknell Sr. PhD,2019-11-25 For many African Americans who grew up in the pre civil rights era the segregated community was usually referred to as a village This was the origination of the phrase It takes a village to raise a child The voices that came out of the village were voices that are now becoming diminished These voices helped to keep the culture intact The voices from the elderly the parents the church and the community provided discipline hope pride and integrity for the inhabitants Many may feel that some of the messages were crude or inappropriate but we have to take into account the lack of educational opportunities during this time This book attempts to capture the messages that we need to not only remember but respect These voices helped us to survive racism and discrimination The voices of the village are still relevant today and should not be forgotten      Fracking The Fylde Alan Tootill,2016-12-17 The frackers promised jobs Promised to turn Blackpool into a new super rich gold rush town They brought jobs all right They brought in foreign workers who sent their money back to their loving wives and families in France and Eastern Europe while they shot up heroin and snorted cocaine at the end of the day s work For the rest of Blackpool before the problems started it was business as usual But then people started getting wise The stories started emerging how the fracking companies purpose built venture frackploitation capital firms were wrecking the land and air The profit from raping the countryside was going abroad to their US Australian and Cayman Island and other offshore backers The only money that stayed in the country went into corrupt politicians pockets Of course back in the early 2010s no one knew this was coming But the signs were there The environmentalists raged on about earthquakes water pollution and health problems Most folk didn t listen The antis were a ragbag lot and as often as not were squabbling between themselves When one of them died in front of a fracking fluid lorry she was blamed for her own stupidity Now the Fylde is ruined forever and everyone s wise after the event      Letters from the Nude Lake and Other Historic Monuments David R.
