Artificial Horizon Imagining The Blue Mountains:

Artificial Horizon Thomas, Martin, 2014-05-20 Martin Thomas takes the reader on a journey through a compelling study of culture landscape and mythology For both Aboriginal people and their colonisers the rugged landscape of the Blue Mountains has stood as an intriguing riddle and a stimulus to the imagination The author evokes this dramatic and bewildering landscape and leads his readers through the cultural history of the locality in order to probe the dreamwork of imperialism

The Artificial Horizon Martin Edward Thomas, 2005 For both Aboriginal people and their colonisers the rugged landscape of the Blue Mountains has stood as an intriguing riddle and a stimulus to the imagination This book explores the myths that form the meanings of the Blue Mountains taking the reader on a journey through culture landscape and mythology

Expedition into Empire Martin Thomas, 2014-09-04 Expeditionary journeys have shaped our world but the expedition as a cultural form is rarely scrutinized This book is the first major investigation of the conventions and social practices embedded in team based exploration In probing the politics of expedition making this volume is itself a pioneering journey through the cultures of empire With contributions from established and emerging scholars Expedition into Empire plots the rise and transformation of expeditionary journeys from the eighteenth century until the present Conceived as a series of spotlights on imperial travel and colonial expansion it roves widely from the metropolitan centers to the ends of the earth This collection is both rigorous and accessible containing lively case studies from writers long immersed in exploration travel literature and the dynamics of cross cultural encounter

Landscape and Branding Nicole Porter, 2015-10-05 Landscape and branding explores the way landscape is conceptualised conceived represented and designed by professionals in a brand driven age Landscape incorporating tangible physical space as well as intangible concepts narratives images and experiences of place is constructed by a number of creative industries This book tests the hypothesis that place branding a powerful marketing and management practice increasingly blurs the distinction between the promotion of landscape and its production in design terms Place branding involves the strategic and systematic composition of single minded experiential and market friendly place identities which are consistently communicated across various media including physical space How does this implicate or transform notions of place nature landscape experience and the qualitative value of landscape itself How does this affect the role of landscape architecture To answer these questions place branding theory and practice is critically examined alongside an in depth case study of one specific landscape the Blue Mountains Australia Projects undertaken between 1995 and 2015 including a branding strategy for the region media campaigns television cinema and several landscape architectural works in the public and private domain are comparatively analysed focusing on the discourse conventions and values informing their production and the landscape narratives they convey

The Water Dreamers Michael Cathcart, 2010-08-02 The long awaited history that will change the way Australians think about their country The Water Dreamers is the story of the settlement of Australia of the scarcity of water and the need to fill an imagined silence with the sounds of civilisation From the moment the First Fleeters stepped ashore water determined progress The Tank Stream that flowed through what is now the Sydney CBD provided fresh water until settlers and their livestock fouled it Then water from a nearby swamp was piped into the growing settlement When it ran dry sights were set further afield The Water Dreamers is an illuminating account of the ways people have imagined and interpreted Australia while struggling to understand this continent and striving to conquer its obstacles It s an environmental history and a cultural history with an unmistakable sense of how today we are part of that continuing story Unstable Ground Gay McAuley,2006 As an art form that is utterly dependent on its own spatiality theatre has a major contribution to make to contemporary debates about space and place In this book Australian academics explore the nexus between place and performance in practices ranging from mainstream theatre to site specific performance Reframing Indigenous Biography Shino Konishi,Malcolm Allbrook,Tom Griffiths,2024-11-11 This book explores the history practice and possibilities of writing about the lives of First Nations peoples in Australia as well as Aotearoa New Zealand North America and the Pacific This interdisciplinary collection recognises the limitations of Western biographical conventions for writing Indigenous long and short form biographies Through a series of diverse life stories of both historical and contemporary First Nations figures this book investigates innovative ways to ameliorate the challenges we face in recovering the stories of Indigenous people and reimagining their lives in productive new ways Many of the chapters in this collection are deeply reflective aiming not just to relate the life story of an individual but also to reflect on the archival intellectual and emotional journeys that biographers undertake in researching Indigenous biography This volume will be of value to scholars and students interested in Indigenous Studies biography history literature creative writing archaeology and colonial and postcolonial studies Body and Performance Sandra Reeve,2013-06-28 12 contemporary approaches to the human body that are being used by performers or in the context of performance training Exploring the Legacy of the 1948 Arnhem Land Expedition Martin Thomas,Margo Neale,2011-06-01 In 1948 a collection of scientists anthropologists and photographers journeyed to northern Australia for a seven month tour of research and discovery now regarded as the last of the big expeditions The American Australian Scientific Expedition to Arnhem Land was front page news at the time but 60 years later it is virtually unknown This lapse into obscurity was due partly to the fraught politics of Australian anthropology and animus towards its leader the Adelaide based writer photographer Charles Mountford Promoted as a friendly mission that would foster good relations between Australia and its most powerful wartime ally the Expedition was sponsored by National Geographic the Smithsonian Institution and the Australian Government An unlikely cocktail of science diplomacy and popular geography the Arnhem Land Expedition put the Aboriginal cultures of the vast Arnhem Land reserve on an international stage Publisher s website Sydney, updated paperback edition Delia Falconer,2020-11-16 As I set out from the city s southern end the sandstone walls beneath the Central railway line still held the day s heat I passed a row of old terraces where feral banana trees had colonised the tiny courtyards behind them and walked on past the smell of Thai food up dirty William Street The moon rose from the invisible harbour into a sky of such deep royal blue it was almost hard to believe in The street smelled of low tide For all its beauty the city could return in an instant to pulp And that thought was strangely cheering Sydney has always been the sexiest and brashest of our cities but perhaps the most misunderstood In this new edition of Sydney part of the classic City Series Delia Falconer conjures up its sandstone humidity and jacarandas its fireworks glitz and magic But she discards lazy stereotypes to reveal a complex city beautiful violent half wild and at times deeply spiritual Beginning with her childhood in a decaying 70s Sydney caught between a faded Art Deco age and mega development Falconer intertwines her own stories with the wellsprings of the city's history and its literary past Melancholic moving and funny Sydney is about its people mad clergymen amateur astronomers Indigenous weather experts crimes and victims photographers and artists thinkers and dreamers Falconer's Sydney is intensely atmospheric and seductive Now with a new Afterword in which Falconer ponders the city's twenty first century transformations might it have become a softer nicer place Will it be able to withstand the real presence of climate change and her own THIS is Delia Falconer's Sydney She journeys through time and space both hers and her city's as an explorer gentle companion and confidant to the ghosts of its swaggering history This soul travel gives the book both its allure and alienation Falconer writes beautifully and evocatively in what is a long love letter to her home town as she delves deep into its essence But it is in the depths that she changes like an alchemist the city's meaning Perception is all Many Sydneysiders may not recognise or have empathy with this place Falconer's Sydney dazzles You can see the city's showers of light its clashes of lightning its thunder teeming Such is her skill the elements shear off their axes You can feel the crush of heat and humidity on your skin in summer and the cleansing when a tempest sweeps through and washes the city clean The Age Delia Falconer's Sydney is like its harbour brimful with tones vivid with contemplation Australian Book Review Falconer's arguments about the sombre undercurrents of Sydney are more delicate than I can give here but she has succeeded in doing something no other writer has achieved in writing about Sydney she has given it a melancholic and spectral seriousness that for far too long has been hidden under tinsel and fairy lights In other words she has given the city a unique mythic dimension This is a brilliant book If I were to recommend a book about Sydney to anyone it would be this one Louis Nowra The Australian Falconer's Sydney depicts a city of beauty and violence of pain and redemption Whatever your relationship with Sydney put aside your entrenched preconceptions and explore this book It may not change your opinion of Australia's largest city but I'm certain this book will give you a new perspective on our first city The Canberra Times

Culture in Translation Martin Thomas, 2007-09-01 R H Mathews 1841-1918 was an Australian born surveyor and self taught anthropologist From 1893 until his death in 1918 he made it his mission to record all new and interesting facts about Aboriginal Australia Despite falling foul with some of the most powerful figures in British and Australian anthropology Mathews published some 2200 pages of anthropological reportage in English French and German His legacy is an outstanding record of Aboriginal culture in the Federation period This first edited collection of Mathews writings represents the many facets of his research ranging from kinship study to documentation of myth It include eleven articles translated from French or German that until now have been unavailable in English Introduced and edited by Martin Thomas who compellingly analyses the anthropologist his milieu and the intrigues that were so costly to his reputation CULTURE IN TRANSLATION is essential reading on the history of cross cultural research Brokers and boundaries Tiffany Shellam, Maria Nugent, Shino Konishi, Allison Cadzow, 2016-04-27 Colonial exploration continues all too often to be rendered as heroic narratives of solitary intrepid explorers and adventurers This edited collection contributes to scholarship that is challenging that persistent mythology With a focus on Indigenous brokers such as guides assistants and mediators it highlights the ways in which nineteenth century exploration in Australia and New Guinea was a collective and socially complex enterprise Many of the authors provide biographically rich studies that carefully examine and speculate about Indigenous brokers motivations commitments and desires All of the chapters in the collection are attentive to the specific local circumstances as well as broader colonial contexts in which exploration and encounters occurred This collection breaks new ground in its emphasis on Indigenous agency and Indigenous explorer interactions It will be of value to historians and others for a very long time Professor Ann Curthoys University of Sydney In bringing together this group of authors the editors have brought to histories of colonialism the individuality of these intermediaries whose lives intersected colonial exploration in Australia and New Guinea Dr Jude Philp Macleay Museum Atlantic Voyages John McAleer, 2023 A history of the East India Company told through experiences of everyday life on the ocean maritime travel shipboard conditions foreign encounters islands and ports of call the waters of the Atlantic itself McAleer portrays these as essential to the understanding of the Company as an agent of globalisation in the early modern world The Last Blank Spaces Dane Kennedy, 2013-03-01 The challenge of opening Africa and Australia to British imperial influence fell to a coterie of proto professional explorers who sought knowledge adventure and fame but often experienced confusion fear and failure The Last Blank Spaces follows the arc of these explorations from idea to practice intention to outcome myth to reality Reports from a Wild Country Deborah Bird Rose, 2004 Explores some of Australia s major ethical challenges Written in the midst of rapid social and environmental change and in a time of uncertainty and division it offers powerful stories and arguments for ethical choice and commitment The focus is on reconciliation between Indigenous and Settler peoples and with nature Limits of Location Gretchen Poiner, Sybil Jack, 2007-01-01 The contributors to this book reveal different approaches to creating a colony Using the rich collections of the Mitchell Library the authors go beyond the traditional sources of history highlighting the personal stories revealed through family letters and creative interaction with the landscape through poetry and drawings Wind and the Source, The, 2006-06-01 The People That Never Were Christopher M. Hutton, Christopher Hutton, 2025 In The People That Never Were Christopher M Hutton takes a fresh look at the term Aryan making the case that the concept was brought into being by western philology and Indology Hutton then takes the reader through the history of the concept beginning with colonial scholarship in India around 1800 and ending in the first decades of the twentieth century By exploring the complex history of the Aryan paradigm Hutton raises a challenging set of questions for the modern discipline of linguistics and illuminates the role of linguistic scholarship in political understandings of human diversity

Aboriginal-Colonial Exchanges in New South Wales, 1800-1835 Annemarie McLaren, 2025-07-11 In Aboriginal Colonial Exchanges in New South Wales 1800 1835 Annemarie McLaren re tells key elements of the foundational story of Australia the meeting between Indigenous people and colonists and the entangled world that resulted She does so through a nuanced and peopled narrative account that is novel in its focus on tracing objects and its deep readings of people and episodes With fresh attention on Indigenous perspectives its claims about the extent of diplomacy and negotiation and its vivid engaging style Aboriginal Colonial Exchanges in New South Wales 1800 1835 will appeal to non specialist readers as well as a global academic community in the fields of history and empire literary critics Indigenous studies scholars cultural anthropologists students at a tertiary level and art historians archivists and those working in collecting institutions more broadly such as museums libraries and galleries
