Artists Video An International Guide:

Artist's Video Lori Zippay, 1991 Artists' Video Electronic Arts Intermix (Organization), 1991 A catalogue of the Electronic Arts Intermix collection of artists videotapes AIVF Guide to International Film and Video Festivals Kathryn Bowser, 1988 Producing and Directing the Short Film and Video David K. Irving, Peter W. Rea, 2013-03-20

Producing and Directing the Short Film and Video is the definitive book on the subject for beginning filmmakers and students. The book clearly illustrates all of the steps involved in preproduction, production, postproduction, and distribution. Its unique two-fold approach looks at filmmaking from the perspectives of both producer and director and explains how their separate energies must combine to create a successful short film or video from script to final product. This guide offers extensive examples from award-winning shorts and includes insightful quotes from the filmmakers themselves describing the problems they encountered and how they solved them. The companion website contains useful forms and information on grants and financing sources, distributors, film and video festivals, film schools, internet sources for short works, and professional associations.

Art History After Modernism Hans Belting, 2003-08 Art history after modernism does not only mean that art looks different today; it also means that our discourse on art has taken a different direction. If it is safe to say it has taken a direction at all, so begins Hans Belting's brilliant iconoclastic reconsideration of art and art history at the end of the millennium, which builds upon his earlier and highly successful volume The End of the History of Art. Known for his striking and original theories about the nature of art, according to The Economist, Belting here examines how art is made, viewed, and interpreted today. Arguing that contemporary art has burst out of the frame that art history had built for it, Belting calls for an entirely new approach to thinking and writing about art. He moves effortlessly between contemporary issues: the rise of global and minority art and its consequences for Western art history; installation and video art and the troubled institution of the art museum; and questions central to art history's definition of itself, such as the distinction between high and low culture, art criticism versus art history, and the invention of modernism in art history. Forty-eight black and white images illustrate the text perfectly, reflecting the state of contemporary art. With Art History after Modernism, Belting retains his place as one of the most original thinkers working in the visual arts today.

From City Space to Cyberspace Amanda Wasielewski, 2025-10-01 The narrative of the birth of internet culture often focuses on the achievements of American entrepreneurs in Silicon Valley, but there is an alternative history of internet pioneers in Europe who developed their own model of network culture in the early 1990s. Drawing from their experiences in the leftist and anarchist movements of the 80s, they built DIY networks that give us a glimpse into what internet culture could have been if it were in the hands of squatters, hackers, punks, artists, and activists. In the Dutch scene, the early internet was intimately tied to the aesthetics and politics of squatting. Untethered from profit motives, these artists and activists aimed to create a decentralized tool that would democratize culture and promote open and free exchange of information.
