Communities, Performance and Practice

Kerrie Schaefer, 2022-04-07 This book examines how a predominantly negative view of community has presented a challenge to critical analysis of community performance practice The concept of community as a form of class based solidarity has been hollowed out by postmodernism's questioning of grand narratives and poststructuralism's celebration of difference Alongside the critique of a notion of community has been a critical re-signification of community following the thinking of philosopher Jean Luc Nancy who conceives of community not as common being but as being in common The concept of community as being in common generates questions that have been taken up by feminist geographers J K Gibson Graham in theorising a post capitalist approach to community based development These questions and approaches guide the analyses in researched case studies of community performance practice The book revises theoretical debates that have defined the field of community theatre and performance It asks how the critical re-signification of community aligns with these debates and at the same time opens new modes of critical analysis of community theatre and performance practice
