Asia Teaching About Learning From:

Asia Seymour H. Fersh, 1978 More than half the world's people live in Asia This fact alone justifies the importance of Asian studies in today's American curriculum Author Seymour Fersh believes that Asian studies can and should be more than a subject area they should be a source of stimulation and enrichment that will help students of all ages become self directing as well as better informed Students can benefit from the opportunity of learning from as well as about Asia Learning to Teach Small Classes Maurice Galton, Kwok Chan Lai, Kam Wing Chan, 2014-08-13 The justification for smaller classes has traditionally been that students can receive more individual attention and be provided with a curriculum that promotes student centred learning However in Asia where student engagement is generally over 90% in primary school classrooms the focus of smaller classes is for teachers to increase the quality of their teaching building on the already impressive levels of student engagement Learning to Teach Small Classes comprehensively instructs teachers on ways they can utilise the advantage of a smaller class to its fullest potential It works through different case studies and gives examples of successful classroom practice in each of the core subject areas Chinese English and Mathematics Chapters include Setting Objectives Asking and Answering Questions Sustaining Successful Group and Pair Work The Use of Feedback and Assessment for Developing Independence in Learning Bringing it all together and Sustaining Effective Practice With questions for discussion and further suggested reading this book is an invaluable resource for anyone involved in small class teaching and East Asian teaching and education policy Teaching and Learning English in East Asian Universities Lan Li, David D. Qian, 2014-10-02 The 25 chapters contained in this book were all written by scholars working in the field of applied linguistics and English language teaching in various East Asian contexts East Asia is large and diverse in terms of socio economic linguistic and ethnic parameters Statistics alone cannot give a clear understanding of what goes on in rural and urban universities and what challenges English language teachers and learners face in those contexts To understand this wide gamut of issues in English language teaching in East Asia is thus a very large undertaking The book addresses some of these issues arranging its 25 chapters into five sections namely Assessing Language Performance Teaching English Writing Learner Autonomy Corpus and Discourse Research and Learning English in East Asian Contexts Many of the chapters in this volume concern familiar topics such as linking assessment to teaching learning and curriculum conducting assessment validation research examining meta cognitive strategies investigating teaching and learning English for academic purposes and profiling prevailing word lists for language learners Other chapters are on novel or lesser known topics such as non verbal delivery in speaking assessment the use of visualization as a reading strategy learner strategies in a Facebook corpus effects of discourse signaling cues and rate of speech and an ontogenetic analysis of college English textbooks Collectively these chapters showcase English language learning teaching and assessing in a range of contexts using a variety of methods and techniques to deal with issues relevant to East Asian teachers learners and researchers Asia's High Performing
