Journal of Asian Pacific Communication ,2002 Hong Kong Documentary Film Ian Aitken,2014-03-17

Described as the lost genre the tradition of documentary film making in Hong Kong is far less known than its martial arts films However documentary film has always existed in Hong Kong and often trenchantly represents its troubled relationship to itself China and the west Including the period of colonial film making the high points of television documentary and the tradition of independent documentary film making this book is the first to present a comprehensive study of this lost genre It explores the role of public service television including representations of the massacre at Tiananmen Square and presents critical analysis of key films Based on original archival research it will be an invaluable resource for students and academics who work in the fields of film studies colonial studies and Hong Kong cinema Forgotten Disney Kathy Merlock Jackson,Carl H. Sederholm,Mark I. West,2023-06-19 This work demonstrates that not everything that Disney touched turned to gold In its first 100 years the company had major successes that transformed filmmaking and culture but it also had its share of unfinished projects unmet expectations and box office misses Some works failed but nevertheless led to other more stunning and lucrative ones others shed light on periods when the Disney Company was struggling to establish or re establish its brand In addition many Disney properties popular in their time but lost to modern audiences emerge as forgotten gems By exploring the studio's missteps this book provides a more complex portrayal of the history of the company than one would gain from a simple recounting of its many hits With essays by writers from across the globe it also asserts that what endures or is forgotten varies from person to person place to place or generation to generation What one dismisses someone else recalls with deep fondness as a magical Disney memory Hong Kong Cinema Yingchi Chu,2003-08-29

Examining Hong Kong cinema from its inception in 1913 to the end of the colonial era this work explains the key areas of production market film products and critical traditions Hong Kong Cinema considers the different political formations of Hong Kong's culture as seen through the cinema and deals with the historical political economic and cultural relations between Hong Kong cinema and other Chinese film industries on the mainland as well as in Taiwan and South East Asia Discussion covers the concept of national cinema in the context of Hong Kong's status as a quasi nation with strong links to both the motherland China and the coloniser Britain and also argues that Hong Kong cinema is a national cinema only in an incomplete and ambiguous sense
