Political Adaptation in Canadian Theatre Kailin Wright, 2020-09-23 In Canada adaptation is a national mode of survival but it is also a way to create radical change Throughout history Canadians have been inheritors and adaptors of political systems stories and customs from the old world and the new More than updating popular narratives adaptation informs understandings of culture race gender and sexuality as well as individual experiences In Political Adaptation in Canadian Theatre Kailin Wright investigates adaptations that retell popular stories with a political purpose and examines how they acknowledge diverse realities and transform our past Political Adaptation in Canadian Theatre explores adaptations of Canadian history Shakespeare Greek mythologies and Indigenous history by playwrights who identify as English Canadian African Canadian French Canadian French Kuna Rappahannock and Delaware from the Six Nations Along with new considerations of the activist potential of popular Canadian theatre this book outlines eight strategies that adaptors employ to challenge conceptions of what it means to be Indigenous Black queer or female Recent cancellations of theatre productions whose creators borrowed elements from minority cultures demonstrate the need for a distinction between political adaptation and cultural appropriation Wright builds on Linda Hutcheon's definition of adaptation as repetition with difference and applies identification theory to illustrate how political adaptation at once underlines and undermines its canonical source An exciting intervention in adaptation studies Political Adaptation in Canadian Theatre unsettles the dynamics of popular and political theatre and rethinks the ways performance can contribute to how one country defines itself

Outlaws & Lawmen of Western Canada Edited by Art Downs, 1983 Dramatic cases involving Western Canada's pioneer lawmen Included are The Mad Trapper of Rat River Saskatchewan's Midnight Massacre The Yukon's Christmas Day Assassins When Guns Blazed at Banff The Strangler Who Terrified the Prairies and British Columbia's Boone Helm The Murdering Cannibal

The Law and the Lawless Art Downs, 2014-04-21 They looked impressive in their red tunics but the members of the fledgling North West Mounted Police had little experience as they departed from Fort Garry in 1874 on a mission to bring order to the lawless territories west of the Red River There they found a vast and rugged land ruled by whiskey traders outlaws and First Nations determined to defend their way of life from encroaching settlers From remote barracks in Alberta Saskatchewan and Manitoba the new recruits quickly rose to the job of dispatching justice to criminals such as the Plains Cree trapper Swift Runner hanged for murder and cannibalism and the notorious Regina crime duo of Gaddy and Raclette They put their lives on the line and sometimes paid the ultimate price for it as revealed in the story of Constable Graburn shot in the back at Cypress Hills by an unknown killer and of Manitoba's beloved first police chief Richard Power who drowned while pursuing the fugitive Mike Carroll In other stories the frontier town of Calgary is the site of the first hanging of a white man in western Canada while further east a quick witted Métis from St Boniface earns the title of Manitoba's first indigenous outlaw These are amazing stories indeed of a formative time in Canada's history and the steadfast constabulary who helped bring order to a lawless land

Almighty Voice and the Red Coats Nan Shipley, 1967 This is the story of a tragic misunderstanding that took place in the spring of 1897 Based on both North West Mounted Police reports and the eye witness accounts of Indians it tells of the last bloodshed between the white man and the Indians of Canada Page facing title page

Floating Voice Stan Dragland, 1994 The writing of Duncan Campbell Scott has long represented a sympathetic understanding of Canada's Native peoples perhaps mistakenly so however as in his work as a bureaucrat Scott put in place white paternalistic policies that Native peoples resist to this day Floating Voice examines Scott's contradictions with renewed consideration of his best Indian fiction and poetry

PALMER, 2024-09-17 In the past decade Canadian history has become a hotly contested subject Iconic figures notably Sir John A Macdonald are no longer unquestioned nation builders The narrative of two founding peoples has been set aside in favour of recognition of Indigenous nations whose lands were taken up by the incoming settlers An authoritative and widely respected Truth and Reconciliation Commission together with an honoured Chief Justice of the Supreme Court have both described long standing government policies and practices as cultural genocide Historians have researched and published a wide range of new research documenting the many complex threads comprising the Canadian experience As a leading historian of labour and social movements Bryan Palmer has been a major contributor to this literature In this first volume of a major new survey history of Canada he offers a narrative which is based on the recent and often specialized research and writing of his historian colleagues One major theme in this book is the colonial practices of the authorities as they pushed aside the original peoples of this country While the methods varied the result was opening up Canada's rich resources for exploitation by the incoming European settlers The second major theme is the role of capitalism in determining how those resources were exploited and who would reap the enormous power and wealth that accrued The first volume of this challenging and illuminating new survey history covers the period that concludes in the 1890s after the creation out of Britain's northern colonies of the semi autonomous federal Canadian state Volume II to be published in spring 2025 takes the narrative to the present
