Deep-Time Images in the Age of Globalization Oscar Moro Abadía,Margaret W. Conkey,Josephine McDonald,2024-05-13 This open access volume explores the impact of globalization on the contemporary study of deep time art The volume explores how early rock art research's Eurocentric biases have shifted with broadened global horizons to facilitate new conversations and discourses in new post colonial realities The book uses seven main themes to explore theoretical methodological ethical and practical developments that are orienting the study of Pleistocene and Holocene arts in the age of globalization Compiling studies as diverse as genetics visualization with the proliferation of increasingly sophisticated archaeological techniques means that vast quantities of materials and techniques are now incorporated into the analysis of the world's visual cultures Deep Time Images in the Age of Globalization aims to promote critical reflection on the multitude of positive and negative impacts that globalization has wrought in rock art research The volume brings new theoretical frameworks as well as engagement with indigenous knowledge and perspectives from art history It highlights technical methodological and interpretive developments and showcases rock art characteristics from previously unknown in the global north geographic areas This book provides comparative approaches on rock art globally and scrutinises the impacts of globalization on research preservation and management of deep time art This book will appeal to archaeologists social scientists and art historians working in the field as well as lovers of rock art Painted Caves Andrew J. Lawson,2012-05-24

Written from an archaeological perspective Painted Caves is a beautifully illustrated introduction to the oldest art of Western Europe the very ancient paintings found in caves Lawson offers an up to date overview of the geographical distribution of the sites and their significance within the varied network of Palaeolithic art The Cave of Altamira and Other Caves with Paintings in the Province of Santander Jesús Carballo,1963 Supernatural Graham Hancock,2010-12-07 From the bestselling author of Fingerprints of the Gods and creator of the explosive Netflix series Ancient Apocalypse

Supernatural of or relating to things that cannot be explained according to natural laws As gripping as any thriller New Statesman Provocative and fascinating Daily Mail _____ Less than 50 000 years ago mankind had no art no religion no sophisticated symbolism no innovative thinking Then in a dramatic and electrifying change described by scientists as the greatest riddle in human history all the skills and qualities that we value most highly in ourselves appeared already fully formed as though bestowed on us by hidden powers Graham Hancock sets out to investigate this mysterious before and after moment and to discover the truth about the influences that gave birth to the modern human mind His quest takes him on a journey of adventure from the stunningly beautiful painted caves of prehistoric France Spain and Italy to remote rock shelters in the mountains of South Africa where he finds a treasure trove of extraordinary Stone Age art ending in the depths of the Amazon rainforest where he drinks the powerful plant hallucinogen Ayahuasca with Indian shamans whose paintings contain images of supernatural beings identical to the animal human hybrids depicted in prehistoric caves and rock shelters Could these supernaturals be the ancient teachers of mankind And is human evolution in fact more purposeful and intelligent that we have barely even begun to understand

A welcome exploration and celebration of the mystery inside our skulls Guardian

Yolken,2005-02-03 Humans have lived in close proximity to other animals for thousands of years Recent scientific studies have even shown that the presence of animals has a positive effect on our physical and mental health People with pets typically have lower blood pressure show fewer symptoms of depression and tend to get more exercise But there is a darker side to the relationship between animals and humans Animals are carriers of harmful infectious agents and the source of a myriad of human diseases In recent years the emergence of high profile illnesses such as AIDS SARS West Nile virus and bird flu has drawn much public attention but as E Fuller Torrey and Robert H Yolken reveal the transfer of deadly microbes from animals to humans is neither a new nor an easily avoided problem Beginning with the domestication of farm animals nearly 10 000 years ago Beasts of the Earth traces the ways that human animal contact has evolved over time Today shared living quarters overlapping ecosystems and experimental surgical practices where organs or tissues are transplanted from non humans into humans continue to open new avenues for the transmission of infectious agents Other changes in human behavior like increased air travel automated food processing and threats of bioterrorism are increasing the contagion factor by transporting microbes further distances and to larger populations in virtually no time at all While the authors urge that a better understanding of past diseases may help us lessen the severity of some illnesses they also warn that given our increasingly crowded planet it is not a question of if but when and how often animal transmitted diseases will pose serious challenges to human health in the future Encyclopedia of Human Evolution and Prehistory Eric Delson,Ian Tattersall,John Van Couvering,Alison S. El Mirón Cave, Cantabrian Spain Lawrence Guy Straus, Manuel R. González Gonzales Morales, 2012-04-16 Though known as a site since 1903 El Mirón Cave in the Cantabrian Mountains of northern Spain remained unexcavated until a team from the universities of New Mexico and Cantabria began ongoing excavations in 1996 This large deeply stratified cave allowed the team to apply cutting edge techniques of excavation recording and multidisciplinary analysis in the meticulous study of a site that has become a new reference sequence for the classic Cantabrian region The excavations uncovered the long history of human occupation of the cave extending from the end of the Middle Paleolithic through the Upper Paleolithic up to the modern era This volume comprehensively describes the background information on the setting the site the chronology and the sedimentology It then focuses on the biological and archaeological records of the Holocene levels pertaining to Mesolithic Neolithic Chalcolithic and Bronze Age Archaeologists anthropologists and historians will be drawn to this study and its extensive findings dated by some seventy five radiocarbon assays

Arte paleolítico en la región cantábrica César González Sainz, Roberto Cacho Toca, Takeo Fukazawa, 2003 Base de datos elaborada por el Departamento de Ciencias Históricas de la Universidad de Cantabria que recoge documentación gráfica sobre el arte paleolítico en el norte de España

Palaeoart of the Ice Age Robert G. Bednarik, 2017-08-21 The many hundreds of books and thousands of academic papers on the topic of Pleistocene

Ice Age art are limited in their approach because they deal only with the early art of southwestern Europe This is the first book to offer a comprehensive synthesis of the known Pleistocene palaeoart of six continents a phenomenon that is in fact more numerous and older in other continents It contemplates the origins of art in a balanced manner based on reality rather than fantasies about cultural primacy Its key findings challenge most previous perceptions in this field and literally re write the discipline Despite the eclectic format and its high academic standards the book addresses the non specialist as well as the specialist reader It presents a panorama of the rich history of palaeoart stretching back more than twenty times as long in time as the cave art of France and Spain This abundance of evidence is harnessed in presenting a new hypothesis of how early humans began to form and express constructs of reality and thus created the ideational world in which they existed It explains how art producing behaviour began and the origins of how humans relate to the world consciously

Travels through Prehistoric Spain: A Guide Jude Brown, Gary Lock, 2025-09-11 This guide opens up Spain's rich prehistoric past highlighting over 220 sites museums and landscapes across the country From cave art to dolmen and Iron Age castros it combines practical visitor information with clear background on prehistoric chronology inviting discovery beyond the usual tourist routes
