Altered States Wendy M. Watson, Thomas Branchick, Mount Holyoke College. Art Museum, 1994 Issues in the Conservation of Paintings David Bomford, Mark Leonard, 2004 This volume will be of interest to teachers and students of conservation and art history as well as to practicing conservators and museum curators professionals in related disciplines and others interested in art history and paintings conservation BOOK JACKET Contemporary Theory of Conservation Salvador Munoz-Vinas, 2012-05-23 Classical theories of conservation are well known in the heritage community but in the last two decades thinking has shifted and classical theory has faced increasing criticism Contemporary Theory of Conservation brings together current ideas in conservation theory presenting a structured coherent analysis of the subject for the first time This engaging and readable text is split into 3 parts The first Fundamentals of conservation addresses the identity of conservation itself and problems arising when classical conservation theories are applied The second part Questioning classical theories delves deeper into the criticism of classical ideas such as reversibility This leads on to the creation of new paradigms such as sustainability which are covered in the final part of the book Conservation ethics Friends of Interpretable Objects Miguel TAMEN, Miguel Tamen, 2009-06-30 Tamen's concern is to show how inanimate objects take on life through their interpretation notably in our own culture as they are collected and housed in museums It is his claim that an object becomes interpretable only in the context of a society of friends Thus he suggests our inveterate tendency as human beings to interpret the phenomenal world gives objects not only a life but also a society George Inness and the Science of Landscape Rachael Z. DeLue, 2008-09-15 George Inness 1825-94 long considered one of America's greatest landscape painters has yet to receive his full due from scholars and critics A complicated artist and thinker Inness painted stunningly beautiful evocative views of the American countryside Less interested in representing the details of a particular place than in rendering the subjective mystery of nature Inness believed that capturing the spirit or essence of a natural scene could point to a reality beyond the physical or as Inness put it the reality of the unseen Throughout his career Inness struggled to make visible what was invisible to the human eye by combining a deep interest in nineteenth century scientific inquiry including optics psychology physiology and mathematics with an idiosyncratic brand of mysticism Rachael Ziady DeLue's George Inness and the Science of Landscape the first in depth examination of Inness's career to appear in several decades demonstrates how the artistic spiritual and scientific aspects of Inness's art found expression in his masterful landscapes In fact Inness's practice was not merely shaped by his preoccupation with the nature and limits of human perception he conceived of his labor as a science in its own right This lavishly illustrated work reveals Inness as profoundly invested in the science and philosophy of his time and illuminates the complex manner in which the fields of art and science intersected in nineteenth century America Long awaited this reevaluation of one of the major figures of nineteenth century American art will prove to be a seminal text in the fields of art history and American studies New Museum Theory and Practice Janet Marstine, 2008-04-15 New Museum Theory and Practice is an original collection of essays with a unique focus on the contested politics and ideologies of museum exhibition. Altered States Wendy M. Watson, 1997-06 Museums are meant to display, interpret and preserve art. This volume combines the artwork of the artist and the interpretation of the art historian with the science of conservation. Focusing on 33 works of art primarily from the Williamstown Regional Art Conservation Laboratory, this collection provides a history of the restoration involved for each work along with background on the artist. Three essays at the beginning provide the overall context for these works by analyzing the history, the science and the philosophical questions surrounding the preservation of artwork. The scientific section includes brief discussions of preservation technique and also of authenticating pieces of art.

Tafadzwanashe, Cofie, Olufunke, 2022-11-01 A Social Ecological Landscape (SEL) comprises a set of important resources e.g. natural, socioeconomic and cultural whose flow and use are controlled by a mix of ecological and social subsystem dynamics. In developing countries, drivers of SEL changes are complex and SEL pressures are growing. Areas endowed with natural resources e.g. fertile soils, forests, water, minerals etc. tend to have high population growth rates and high poverty incidence. These tend to culminate in high demand for livelihood capitals e.g. access to livelihood alternatives, education, food, health, water, forest resources, dwellings, roads, agriculture, aquaculture, spaces etc. Further, multiple national and global stakeholders have continued to place a high demand on exploiting natural resources at the subnational level.
