A Multi-Disciplinary Approach* Donald Gates,2006-03 This work examines the two apparently contradictory concepts of Altruism and Economic Rationalism in the context of Health and Welfare Delivery It is multi dsiciplinary and employs a number of diciplines including Sociology Economics Theology Religion Eccesiology History and Political Science Decisions and Trends in Social Systems Daniela Soitu,Šárka Hošková-Mayerová,Fabrizio Maturo,2021-06-01 This book presents a systemic perspective on the broadly perceived problem of social care meant in terms of a network engaging balanced resources and actors to assure the functionality in an integrative approach The approach involves individual institutional and organizational structures at the micro mezzo and macro levels in their interrelations with proper contexts for understandings interpretations and actions by stakeholders The papers presented suggest ways of changes involving even participant actors as changing agents taking into account evolving behaviors and human relations policies and inter institutional frameworks from many points of view In the first part various aspects notably economic and emotional of innovative and integrated approaches to long term care are dealt with Different aspects are considered exemplified by legal educational economic environmental cultural and those related to the perception of aging labor market for the elderly perceived quality of life etc The planning and management of social services are discussed in terms of a functional and effective and efficient system with the identification and analysis of actors and processes and transformation policies This is done at the local regional and global levels Handbook of the Economics of Giving, Altruism and Reciprocity Serge-Christophe Kolm,Jean Mercier Ythier,2006-07-20 The Handbook on the Economics of Giving Reciprocity and Altruism provides a comprehensive set of reviews of literature on the economics of nonmarket voluntary transfers The foundations of the field are reviewed first with a sequence of chapters that present the hard core of the theoretical and empirical analyses of giving reciprocity and altruism in economics examining their relations with the viewpoints of moral philosophy psychology sociobiology sociology and economic anthropology Secondly a comprehensive set of applications are considered of all the aspects of society where nonmarket voluntary transfers are significant family and intergenerational transfers charity and charitable institutions the nonprofit economy interpersonal relations in the workplace the Welfare State and international aid Every volume contains contributions from leading researchers Each Handbook presents an accurate self contained survey of a particular topic The series provides comprehensive and accessible surveys

The Market Economy as a Social System Hiroto Tsukada,2018-08-30 This book develops John Rawls s theory of justice by adding reality based analyses This is accomplished by answering the question of who makes rules and how and by providing new answers to three of today s most practical and critical issues The question of who and how makes rules is discussed first and group orientation instead of individualism and a balance of negotiating power instead of a veil of ignorance are presented as new answers to this question Based on this new understanding of rulemaking three important practical rules are subsequently discussed the rule of distribution of land and other natural resources including the question of natural talent or who should bear the costs of children s education the rule of distribution of products and what motives support our acts of kindness These rules are all dealt with from a shared perspective viewing society as a single integrated construct Equal distribution of land not private but public payment of education fees strengthening employees bargaining power and moving toward nobility based kindness are put forward as central answers By addressing critical questions on social rules and proposing answers this book provides reliable principles to fall back on in our daily lives and in our rapidly changing globalized world International Encyclopedia of Civil Society Helmut K. Anheier, Stefan Toepler, 2009-11-24

Recently the topic of civil society has generated a wave of interest and a wealth of new information Until now no publication has attempted to organize and consolidate this knowledge The International Encyclopedia of Civil Society fills this gap establishing a common set of understandings and terminology and an analytical starting point for future research Global in scope and authoritative in content the Encyclopedia offers succinct summaries of core concepts and theories definitions of terms biographical entries on important figures and organizational profiles In addition it serves as a reliable and up to date guide to additional sources of information In sum the Encyclopedia provides an overview of the contours of civil society social capital philanthropy and nonprofits across cultures and historical periods For researchers in nonprofit and civil society studies political science economics management and social enterprise this is the most systematic appraisal of a rapidly growing field

Beyond the Dichotomy Between Altruism and Egoism Emiliana Mangone, 2020-06-01 The birth of the social sciences and specifically of sociology begets some open questions among which the debate on altruism and the concept of social solidarity The term altruism was firstly used by Auguste Comte It is one of the few terms born within the scientific field that will enter the common language roughly maintaining the same meaning For the positivist Comte altruism represented the powerful impulse to the intellectual and moral development of humanity to which we must strive as a future state The term commonly means all those actions whose benefits fall on others and not on the agent actor In short for Comte altruism means to live for others vivre pour autrui The centrality of altruism as part of the reflections of social sciences can be found in many classic authors Durkheim for example explains the foundations of social solidarity in modern society precisely through the opposition between altruism and egoism and defines its implications in the book Le Suicide in 1897 also identifying what will later become the main typology of suicide by contrasting altruistic suicide with egoistic suicide Likewise both Weber and Marx while not using the term altruism as such refer to it indirectly The former when describing the ethics of love for the charismatic authority as opposed to legal and rational authority the latter when corroborating his polemics against Christian charity The interest in altruism as an object of study of social sciences however is progressively waning especially in Europe From the second half of the last century theoretical and empirical studies show the indifference of social scientists towards this object except for the Russian American sociologist Sorokin who in 1949 founded the Harvard Research Center in Creative Altruism In recent years however the topic seems to take renewed vigor especially in the United States with the birth in 2012 of the section Altruism Morality Social Solidarity within the American Sociological Association It considered these three aspects as a single field of disciplinary specialization since they are significantly dependent on socio cultural reality This is the situation in the United States In Europe there is a renewed interest in studies on altruism especially in French language sociology above all starting from the numerous contributions to reading and re reading work on Marcel Mauss s on gift of 1925 and in following the anti utilitarian movement and studies of the school of social representations of Moscovici which leads to the definition of the elementary forms of altruism The book aims to analyze the concept of altruism starting from classical philosophy up to the systems of ideas of contemporaneity considering the approaches and authors of reference in an interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary way The representations of altruism and egoism in contemporary society are constantly changing following the transformations of society itself Having abandoned the idea that the factors leading to altruism or egoism lay only in human nature we find them in people s conduct freedom relationships their associative forms and society The attention is thus turned to two elements of the daily life of individuals culture and social relations The book tries therefore through the meso theories developed in recent decades which study the relationships between life world and social system to describe the links between altruism egoism culture and social relations We will pay particular attention to the relationality of individuals in an attempt to overcome the dichotomy altruism egoism by reading some aspects little considered by previous studies or contemplated only indirectly or marginally The ultimate goal is to highlight how positive actions are necessary for the contemporary society and how social sciences must go back and study positive socio cultural actions and phenomena not only negative as a way to promote them for the well being of the society

The Evolution of Social Systems John Paul Scott, 1989 First published in 1989 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

The Oxford Handbook of the Sociology of Religion Peter Clarke, 2009 An expert team of international scholars provide fifty one essays as entry points into the sociological study and understanding of religion and in depth surveys into its changing forms and content in the contemporary world Issues discussed range from ecology to law art to cognitive science crime to health care

Celibacy, Culture, and Society Elisa Janine Sobo, Sandra Bell, 2001 What does celibacy mean for individuals and for the people around them What function does it serve This is the first cross cultural inquiry into the practice of celibacy around the world and through the ages among groups as diverse as Kenyan villagers and U S prisoners Mazatec Shamans and Buddhist nuns and monks Shaker church members and anorexic women The examples of celibacy described here illustrate the complex relationship between human sexuality and its particular sociocultural context Ideas about the body gender family work religion health and other dimensions of life come sharply into focus as the contributors examine the many practices and institutions surrounding sexual abstinence. They show that though celibacy is certainly sometimes a punishment or a deliberate ritual abstinence, it also serves many other social and material functions and in some cases contributes to kin group survival and well being. Celibacy Culture and Society represents a significant step toward understanding the functions and meanings of sexuality.

The Adaptive Design of the Human Psyche Malcolm Owen Slavin, Daniel H. Kriegman, 1992-09-25 Addressing one of the most fundamental issues in any examination of human experience, this important new work connects evolutionary biological concepts to modern psychoanalytic theory and the clinical encounter. Synthesizing their years of experience in the practice of psychotherapy and psychoanalysis, the authors provide a comparative psychoanalytic map of current theoretical controversies and a new way of deconstructing the hidden assumptions that underlie Freudian Ego Psychological, Kleinian Object Relational Self Psychological and Interpersonal theories. In so doing, they provide a new vantage point from which to integrate competing models into a larger picture that more fully embraces the many facets of human nature. Moreover, they offer clinicians a new framework with which to understand and respond to the inevitable paradoxes and conflicts that arise in the therapeutic relationship.

Pathological Altruism Barbara Oakley, 2012-01-05 Pathological Altruism is a groundbreaking new book, the first to explore the negative aspects of altruism and empathy, seemingly uniformly positive traits. In fact, pathological altruism, in the form of an unhealthy focus on others to the detriment of one's own needs, may underpin some personality disorders. Hyperempathy, an excess of concern for what others think and how they feel, helps explain popular but poorly defined concepts such as codependency. The contributing authors of this book provide a scientific social and cultural foundation for the subject of pathological altruism, creating a new field of inquiry. Each author's approach points to one disturbing truth: what we value so much, the altruistic good side of human nature, can also have a dark side that we ignore at our peril.

Extraterrestrial Altruism Douglas A. Vakoch, 2013-09-14 Extraterrestrial Altruism examines a basic assumption of the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence (SETI): that extraterrestrials will be transmitting messages to us for our benefit. This question of whether extraterrestrials will be altruistic has become increasingly important in recent years as SETI scientists have begun contemplating transmissions from Earth to make contact. Technological civilizations that transmit signals for the benefit of others but with no immediate gain for themselves certainly seem to be altruistic. But does this make biological sense? Should we expect altruism to evolve throughout the cosmos, or is this only wishful thinking? Is it dangerous to send messages to other worlds as Stephen Hawking has suggested, or might humankind benefit from an exchange with intelligence elsewhere in the galaxy? Would extraterrestrial societies be based on different ethical principles, or would we see commonalities with Earthly notions of morality? Extraterrestrial Altruism explores these and related questions about the motivations of civilizations beyond Earth, providing new insights that are critical for SETI. Chapters are authored by leading scholars from diverse disciplines: anthropology, astronomy, biology, chemistry, computer science, cosmology, engineering, history of science, law, philosophy, psychology, public policy and sociology The book is carefully edited by Douglas Vakoch Director of Interstellar Message Composition at the SETI Institute and professor of clinical psychology at the California Institute of Integral Studies The Foreword is by Frank Drake This interdisciplinary book will benefit everybody trying to understand whether evolution and ethics are unique to Earth or whether they are built into the fabric of the universe Integralism, Altruism and Reconstruction Elvira del Pozo
