Ajax The Dutch The War:

Ajax, The Dutch, The War Simon Kuper, 2011-07-21 Football history at its best SCOTLAND ON SUNDAY Hugely moving a very good book indeed FOUR FOUR TWO Kuper is an original sophisticated and adventurous writer The story he has to tell is fascinating and pressing SUNDAY TIMES In FOOTBALL AGAINST THE ENEMY Simon Kuper crossed the globe in search of the links between football politics and culture In AJAX THE DUTCH THE WAR he skilfully pieces together an alternative account of World War II He looks at the lives of the footballers who played for the Dutch club the officials and the ordinary fans during this tumultuous period and challenges the accepted notion of the War in occupied Europe With almost 80 per cent of Amsterdam's Jewish Corner wiped out during the war the long held belief that by and large half the Dutch population had some kind of link to the Resistance has of late come into question Kuper explores this issue and looks deeper into the role of football across Europe in the years both preceding and following the War The result is a compelling and controversial account of the War seen through the lens of football The Holocaust, Israel and 'the Jew' Evelien Gans, Remco Ensels, 2025-10-01 This book is the first comprehensive study of postwar antisemitism in the Netherlands It focuses on the way stereotypes are passed on from one decade to the next as reflected in public debates the mass media protests and commemorations and everyday interactions The Holocaust Israel and the Jew explores the ways in which old stories and phrases relating to the stereotypical Jew are recycled and modified for new uses linking the antisemitism of the early postwar years to its enduring manifestations in today's world The Dutch case is interesting because of the apparent contrast between the Netherlands' famous tradition of tolerance and the large numbers of Jews who were deported and murdered in the Second World War The book sheds light on the dark side of this so called Dutch paradox in manifestations of aversion and guilt after 1945 In this context the abusive taunt 'They forgot to gas you' can be seen as the first radical expression of postwar antisemitism as well as an indication of how the Holocaust came to be turned against the Jews The identification of the Jew with the gas chamber spread from the streets to football stadiums and from verbal abuse to pamphlet and protest The slogan 'Hamas Hamas all the Jews to the gas' indicates that Israel became a second marker of postwar antisemitism The chapters cover themes including soccer related antisemitism Jewish responses philosemitism antisemitism in Dutch Moroccan and Dutch Turkish communities contentious acts of remembrance the neo-Nazi tradition and the legacy of Theo van Gogh The book concludes with a lengthy epilogue on the Jew in the politics of the radical right the attacks in Paris in 2015 and the refugee crisis The stereotype of the Jew appears to be transferable to other minorities

The Postcolonial Low Countries Elleke Boehmer, Sarah De Mul, 2012-06-01 The Postcolonial Low Countries is the first book to bring together critical and comparative approaches to the emergent field of neerlandophone postcolonial studies The collection of essays ranges across the cultures and literatures of the Netherlands and Belgium and establishes an encounter between postcolonial theoretical discourses from both within and without the region Each one of the contributions puts under pressure the definitive concepts of postcolonial studies in its more conventional anglophone or francophone formation as well as perceptions of the Low Countries Belgium and the Netherlands as lying outside or to the side of the postcolonial domain In the Low Countries local and regional issues concerning multiculturalism and colonial belatedness have raised important questions about the possible grounds on which postcolonial critical concepts might be not only translated but also generated afresh to suit these paradoxically new contexts As The Postcolonial Low Countries incisively demonstrates the Low Countries demand a careful rearticulation of such postcolonial readymades as hybridity accommodation and creolization Gathering together contributions from both internationally renowned scholars and newly established researchers in the field The Postcolonial Low Countries maps previously underexplored national and transnational literary critical trajectories The book challenges in boundary shifting ways current readings of the so described multicultural and postcolonial Netherlands and Belgium

The Making of Jew Clubs Pavel Brunssen, 2025-09-02 Why do non Jewish football fans chant Yid Army or wave Super Jews banners especially in support of clubs that are not Jewish The Making of Jew Clubs explores how four major European football clubs FC Bayern Munich FK Austria Vienna Ajax Amsterdam and Tottenham Hotspur came to be seen as Jew Clubs even though they have never officially identified as Jewish In this transnational study Pavel Brunssen traces how both Jewish and non Jewish actors perform Jewishness antisemitism and philosemitism within European football cultures over the 20th and 21st centuries Drawing on a wide array of primary sources from fan chants and matchday rituals to media portrayals and club histories the book reveals how football stadiums have become unexpected stages for negotiating memory identity and historical trauma Offering a new approach to Holocaust memory sports history and Jewish studies The Making of Jew Clubs shows how football cultures reflect and reshape Europe's conflicted relationship with its Jewish past

Four Histories about Early Dutch Football, 1910-1920 Nicholas Piercey, 2016-10-06 What is the purpose of history today and how can sporting research help us understand the world around us In this stimulating book Nicholas Piercey constructs four new histories of early Dutch football exploring urban change club members the media and the diaries of Cornelis Johannes Karel van Aalst a stadium director to propose practical examples of how history can become an important democratic tool for the 21st century Using early Dutch football as a field for experimental thinking about the past the four histories offer new insights into the lives interests and passions of those connected to the sport in the 1910s and the cities they lived in How did the First World War impact on Dutch football Were new stadia a form of social control Is the spread of the beautiful game really a good thing And why was one of the sport's most prominent figures more concerned with potatoes These stories of early Dutch football suggest how vital sport and history can be in shaping our lives perceptions and actions and why we need to challenge the influence they have today
