

The background of the image is a close-up of a weathered brick wall. The bricks are light-colored, possibly white or light grey, and show significant signs of age and wear. There are many dark spots, stains, and areas where the surface has chipped away, revealing a darker, reddish-brown material underneath. The mortar between the bricks is also visible and appears aged. On the far left side of the image, there is a vertical wooden plank, likely part of a door or a window frame, which is light-colored and shows some texture. The overall lighting is somewhat dim, giving the image a gritty, historical feel.

Agents Of Reconciliation:

Agency and Ownership in Reconciliation Caitlin Mollica, 2024-04-01 The importance of youth's substantive participation for the realization of inclusive reconciliation practices has rarely been acknowledged. Agency and Ownership in Reconciliation provides a comprehensive nuanced and empirical account of the contribution of young people's voices to the success of transitional justice and peacebuilding practices. Caitlin Mollica illustrates the role of political will and agency in the development of transitional justice mechanisms that are substantively inclusive of those traditionally marginalized by post conflict institutions most notably youth. In doing so she highlights the importance of youth to lasting peace and meaningful justice. She does so by looking specifically at how truth and reconciliation commissions from South Africa to the Solomon Islands engage with the voices of youth and the meanings youth self ascribe to their experiences during truth and reconciliation commission processes. In a field which traditionally prioritizes stories about youth, Agency and Ownership in Reconciliation looks to center stories by youth. Amnesty United States. Congress. House. Military Chaplains as Agents of Peace S. K. Moore, 2013-01-01 Globally where faith and political processes share the public space with indigenous populations, religious leaders of tolerant voice who desire to transcend the conflict that often divides their peoples are coming forward. Affirming and enabling these leaders is increasingly becoming the focus of the reconciliation efforts of peace builders both internally and externally to existing conflict. By way of theoretical analysis and documented case studies from a number of countries, Military Chaplains as Agents of Peace considers Religious Leader Engagement (RLE) as an emerging domain that advances the cause of reconciliation via the religious peace building of chaplains. A construct that may be generalized to expeditionary humanitarian and domestic operational contexts. An overview of the benefits and limitations of RLE is offered and accompanied by a candid discussion of a number of the more perplexing questions related to such operational ministry.
