Ahrends, Burton and Koralek Kenneth Powell,2012 Ahrends Burton and Koralek ABK was established in London in 1961 by three young AA graduates Peter Ahrends Richard Burton and Paul Koralek By the 1970s ABK was known as one of the most creative and versatile of Britain's younger practices its workload ranging from college buildings in Oxford and Chichester to housing public libraries retail and industrial buildings While influenced by High tech their buildings were characterised by a concern for strong form and materiality Major projects of the 1980s included stations for the Docklands Light Railway and the pioneering St Mary's Hospital on the Isle of Wight as well as buildings at Hooke Park in Dorset designed in collaboration with Frei Otto ABK's victory in the prestigious 1982 competition for an extension to the National Gallery in London reflected the firm's standing but the scheme was abandoned following a controversial intervention by the Prince of Wales Written by eminent architectural author and critic Kenneth Powell and lavishly illustrated with images from the practice's archive and stunning new photography this book is an essential read for architects students architectural historians and anyone who is interested in learning more about a key practice in British post war architecture This book has been commissioned as part of a series of books on Twentieth Century Architects by RIBA Publishing English Heritage and The Twentieth Century Society

Ahrends, Burton and Koralek Peter Blundell Jones,1991 Collaborations Ahrends, Burton, and Koralek,2002 The work of British architects ABK is characterised by the founding partners belief that buildings should address far more than purely functional needs Energy and the environment historical context and user participation are central to their work Peter Ahrends Richard Burton and Paul Koralek are particularly interested in the integration of art architecture and landscape an approach which has resulted in a series of collaborative partnerships over the course of their careers This book traces ABK's development from early landmark projects like the Berkeley Library at Trinity College Dublin to the highly acclaimed British Embassy in Moscow which opened in 2000 It also tells the full story for the first time behind the most notorious British architectural episode of the 1980s how ABK won the commission to design an extension to the National Gallery in London only to have it taken away from them when Prince Charles described the scheme as a monstrous carbuncle

Papers Relating to the Public Enquiry Into Ahrends Burton & Koralek's Application for Planning and Listing Consent for a Revised Scheme for the Proposed National Gallery Extension Building in Trafalgar Square, London, Held Apr-May 1984 , Contains copies of the proofs of evidence statements and reports submitted to the inquiry by Peter Ahrends Lord Annan G H B Carter B A Clamp G T G Eccles Stephen Gardiner Patrick Hannay Margaret Ingram Gerald Ian Lacey Sir Michael Levey Bruce Colin Methuen James Michael Stack and Roger White Also with the competition brief ABK's reports and copies of ABK's correspondence with the Royal Fine Art Commission Accompanied by a set of exhibition panels of drawings for the scheme

Koralek Royal Institute of British Architects, Heinz Gallery, Ahrends, Burton, and Koralek, 1980 Buildings and Projects
 Ahrends, Burton, and Koralek, 1976* The Isle of Wight David Wharton Lloyd, Nikolaus Pevsner, 2006-01-01 This is a comprehensive guide to the buildings of the Isle of Wight The beguiling architecture of the many towns villages and resorts is explored in full as are the charming villas and cottages ornes dotted around the spectacular coasts But the Island also boasts architecture on the grandest scale the powerful fortress of Carisbrooke Castle with its evocative Saxon foundations the rich and enigmatic baroque mansion of Appuldurcombe Osborne House the domestic paradise of Victoria and Albert with its formal gardens and the extraordinary Quarr Abbey a masterpiece of Expressionist brick by the French monk and architect Dom Paul Bellot Other attractions include Roman villas sturdy manor houses powerful coastal defences built for Henry VIII and reinforced under Queen Victoria and the retreats of Tennyson and other Victorian notables not to mention a well established tradition of innovative modern design Each town or village is treated in a detailed gazetteer A general introduction provides a historical and artistic overview Numerous text illustrations maps and plans nearly a hundred new colour photographs full indexes and an illustrated glossary help to make this book invaluable as both reference work and guide London Anthony Sutcliffe, Professor Anthony Sutcliffe, 2006-01-01 London is one of the world s greatest cities and its architecture is a unique heritage The Tower of London is an urban castle unique in Europe St Paul s is one of the world s greatest domed cathedrals and the squares and crescents of the West End inspired Haussmann s Paris In London it is the variety of the streets buildings and parks that strikes the visitor No king or government has ever set its mark here Private ownership has shaped the city and architects have served a wide variety of clients London s Classical era produced an elegant townscape between 1600 and 1830 but medieval Tudor and Victorian London were a potpourri of buildings large and small each making its own design statement In London An Architectural History Anthony Sutcliffe takes the reader through two thousand years of architecture from the sublime to the mundane With over 300 color illustrations the book is intended for the general reader and especially those visiting London for the first time The Architecture of Bridge Design David Bennett, 1997 The role of the designer and architect in the planning and design of bridges is undergoing radical change with architects now being appointed before the engineer on a growing number of projects The relationship between the two roles is therefore on a different level than either will have previously experienced This book details the process of design whereby the inspiration for a bridge is developed into the final reality of the built solution It looks at the functions of a bridge defining purpose of place and context the spirit of creativity and the reasoned progression of an idea It also explores the exploitation of materials technology and construction innovation and the tension between lightness and mass and between sculpture and scale The architecture of bridge design takes the form of a number of submissions from leading architects and engineers each setting out their views on bridge design present and future As well as providing vital source material for those tendering for bridge projects in which they will be closely involved in the design process it also provides a state of the art statement on modern bridge design from the viewpoint of client architect and engineer

Clean Living Under Difficult Circumstances Owen Hatherley, 2021-06-22 How to make a fairer more just city From the grandiose histories of monumental state building projects to the minutiae of street signs and corner cafés from the rebuilding of capital cities to the provision of the humble public toilet Clean Living under Difficult Circumstances argues for the city as a socialist project This essay collection spans a period from immediately before the 2008 financial crash to the year of the pandemic Against the business as usual responses to both crises Owen Hatherley outlines a vision of the city as both a venue for political debate and dispute as well as a space of everyday experience one that we shape as much as it shapes us Incorporated here are the genres of memoir history music and film criticism as well as portraits of figures who have inspired new ways of looking at cities such as the architect Zaha Hadid the activist and urbanist Jane Jacobs and thinkers such as Mark Fisher and Adam Curtis Throughout these pieces Hatherley argues that the only way out of our difficult circumstances is to imagine and try to construct a better modernity

Brutalist Britain Elain Harwood, 2022-10-13 Introducing Britain's finest examples of brutalist architecture Brutalist architecture is more popular now than it has ever been Imposing and dramatic with monolithic concrete exteriors it forms an enduring part of our post war urban landscape This beautifully photographed book is an authoritative survey of the finest British examples from the very late 1950s to the 1970s from leading architectural writer Elain Harwood following on from her acclaimed books on art deco and mid century architecture It features iconic public buildings like London's National Theatre imposing housing such as the Trelick Tower in West London and Park Hill in Sheffield great educational institutions including the University of Sussex and places of worship such as Liverpool's glorious Metropolitan Cathedral along with some lesser known buildings such as Arlington House on Margate's sea front Headed up with an introduction that places British brutalism within the context of global events and contemporary world architecture the huge range of buildings is arranged into Private Houses and Flats Public Housing Educational Buildings Public Buildings Shops Markets and Town Centres Culture and Sport Places of Worship Offices and Industry and Transport and there is a chapter on the atmospheric brutalist sculptures and murals that dot our cities If you're part of the increasingly large ranks of brutalism fans or interested in late 20th century architecture and society in general Brutalist Britain is the book for you

The Island of Extraordinary Captives Simon Parkin, 2023-10-31 Following the events of Kristallnacht in 1938 Peter Fleischmann evaded the Gestapo's midnight roundups in Berlin by way of a perilous journey to England via the Kindertransport train But he could not escape the British police who came for him in the early hours and shipped him off to Hutchinson Camp on the Isle of Man under suspicion of being a spy for the very regime he had fled Peter's story was no isolated incident During Hitler's rise to power in the 1930s tens of thousands of German and Austrian Jews escaped and found refuge in Britain Once war broke out in 1939 the nation turned against them fearing that Nazis had planted spies posing as refugees Innocent asylum seekers thus were labeled enemy aliens and ultimately sentenced to an indefinite period of internment When Peter arrived at Hutchinson Camp he found one of history's most astounding prison populations renowned professors composers journalists and artists Together they created a thriving cultural community complete with art exhibitions lectures musical performances and poetry readings The artists welcomed Peter as their pupil and forever changed the course of his life Meanwhile suspicions grew that a real spy was hiding among them one connected to a vivacious heiress from Peter's past Drawing from unpublished first person accounts and newly declassified documents from the British government award winning journalist Simon Parkin tells the story of this unlikely group of internees The Island of Extraordinary Captives brings history to life in vivid detail revealing the hidden truth of Britain's grave wartime mistake and showcasing how hope and creativity can flourish in even the darkest of circumstances The Modern Station Brian Edwards, 2013-10-08 An exciting new generation of railway architecture has emerged in Europe and elsewhere over the past decade This book explains the reasons for the renaissance of the station as a building type and the current changes it is undergoing The functional social and technical factors which shape railway architecture are examined As stations are essential elements of sustainable development the environmental benefits of railways are also discussed Essential guidance is provided for those who design commission or manage railway stations By drawing on technical design manuals and examples of recent stations many designed by leading architects the book gives help and instruction to all those with an interest in the future of railway architecture Planning by Consent Philip Booth, 2003-09-02 Please note this is an unedited paperback reprint of the hardback originally published in 2003 The British system of universal development control celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1997 Remarkably the system has survived more or less intact but the experience of the 1980s has left large questions unanswered about the relevance and effectiveness of the system This book traces the history of the development control system in Britain from early modern times to the present day Avery Index to Architectural Periodicals. 2d Ed., Rev. and Enl Avery Library, 1996 Artists' Impressions in Architectural Design Bob Giddings, Margaret Horne, 2003-09-02 This book analyses the ways in which architects have presented their designs for clients and the public both historically and contemporarily University Planning and Architecture Jonathan Coulson, Paul Roberts, Isabelle Taylor, 2015-01-09 The environment of a university what we term a campus is a place with special resonance They have long been the setting for some of history's most exciting experiments in the design of the built environment Christopher Wren at Cambridge Le Corbusier at Harvard and Norman Foster at the Free University Berlin the calibre of practitioners who have shaped the physical realm of academia is superlative Pioneering architecture and innovative planning make for vivid assertions of academic excellence while the physical estate of a university can shape the learning experiences and lasting outlook of its community of students faculty and staff However the mounting list of pressures economic social pedagogical technological currently facing higher education institutions is rendering it increasingly challenging to perpetuate the rich legacy of campus design In this strained context it is more important than ever that effective use is made of these environments and that future development is guided in a manner that will answer to posterity This book is the definitive compendium of the prestigious sphere of campus design envisaged as a tool to help institutional leaders and designers to engage their campus s full potential by revealing the narratives of the world s most successful time honoured and memorable university estates It charts the worldwide evolution of university design from the Middle Ages to the present day uncovering the key episodes and themes that have conditioned the field and through a series of case studies profiles universally acclaimed campuses that through their planning architecture and landscaping have made original influential and striking contributions to the field By understanding this history present and future generations can distil important lessons for the future The second edition includes revised text many new images and new case studies of the Central University of Venezuela and Indian Institute of Management Ahmedabad
