Regulation (CPA Exam Review) Nathan M Bisk, JD, CPA,Nathan M. Bisk,2005      Reforming Occupational Licensing in the US Clifford Winston,2024-12-28 Nearly one third of US workers must obtain a license from a government agency to perform their jobs legally This impacts employees across all areas including lawyers doctors and accountants as well as florists hairdressers physical therapists and plumbers The justification for occupational licensing is that potential consumers allegedly lack the information and knowledge to judge the competence of a service provider This necessitates a licensing system built to ensure that customers are served by people who have received adequate training and certification in their profession While there are recognizable benefits of occupational licensing the training and certification requirements create barriers to entry for employees or those entering the profession These barriers can limit competition raise service costs and restrict consumer access to essential services Recent empirical work suggests that consumers have incurred these costs without being adequately protected from incompetent or unscrupulous service providers This book addresses this situation head on In light of occupational licensing s shortcomings the authors of this book propose and analyze constructive reforms assessing their effects on key professions such as law medicine and finance Chapters identify the significant costs of current policies and they recommend practical reforms that rely more on market forces The resulting book provides new ways to reduce licensing costs without compromising service quality      Paperbound Books in Print ,1992      Computer-Based Testing and the Internet Dave Bartram,Ron Hambleton,2005-09-27 No topic is more central to innovation and current practice in testing and assessment today than computers and the Internet This timely publication highlights four main themes that define current issues technical advances and applications of computer based testing Advances in computer based testing new test designs item selection algorithms exposure control issues and methods and new tests that capitalize
