Ainsi Parle Le Fleuve Noir:

Ainsi parle le fleuve noir René Depestre, 1998    Ainsi parle le fleuve noir René Depestre, 1998    The Yale Anthology of Twentieth-century French Poetry Mary Ann Caws, 2004-01-01 An influential social thinker the late Richard Harvey Brown was professor of sociology at the University of Maryland and the author of Toward a Democratic Science Scientific Narration and Civic Communication published by Yale University Press    Exile and Post-1946 Haitian Literature Martin Munro, 2013-08-15 Exile and Post 1946 Haitian Literature provides readers with an excellent introduction to recent Haitian literature one of the richest literary traditions in the Americas Martin Munro focuses on works written after 1946 a period in which exile has become the dominant theme in Haitian literature Using this notion of Haitian writing as a literature of exile Munro analyzes key novels by the most important figures of each generation of the past sixty years including Jacques Stephen Alexis Ren Depestre mile Olivier Dany Laferrière and Edwidge Danticat    American Creoles Martin Munro, Celia Britton, 2012-01-01 In American Creoles leading authorities examine the cultural social and historical affinities between the Francophone Caribbean and the American South The essays focus on issues of history language politics and culture in various forms and consider figures as diverse as Barack Obama Frantz Fanon Miles Davis James Brown Edouard Glissant William Faulkner and Lafcadio Hearn Exploring the ideas of Creole culture and creolization terms rooted in the history of contact between European and African people and cultures in the Americas the essays provide productive ways to conceive of the larger Caribbean as a single cultural and historical entity    Shaping and Reshaping the Caribbean Martin Munro, 2000 The current drive in Caribbean literary studies stresses similarities and points of convergence between the various islands of the archipelago and their authors the fundamental aim of which is to move closer to an all encompassing theory of Caribbeanness Martin Munro challenges this movement and through a study of the work of Aime Cesaire and Rene Depestre proposes an alternative vision of the present and future of Caribbean literature The main areas of inquiry are how these two Caribbean writers construct their sense of themselves how they relate to the Caribbean and to the wider world and how they have been influenced by the historical and cultural particularities of their respective islands Aime Cesaire's sense of self and of the Caribbean is essentially shaped around the circuit triangulaire the model of Africa Europe Caribbean interdependencies ultimately inherited from the time of the slave trade Munro shows how Cesaire views the Caribbean as a deeply traumatic insubstantial space how he looks to Africa for his lost sense of self and how Europe is seen at once as the malevolent colonial power and also the home of poetry and learning Rene Depestre's Caribbean shape is quite different Africa is relatively absent in Depestre's work Europe is not presented as a threat and Depestre unlike Cesaire sees in the Caribbean an energy and a creativity brought about by the historical fusion of disparate cultures An important factor in shaping Depestre's model of Caribbeanness is his long exile from Haiti and Depestre's experience of exile is analysed in detail The combination of broad contextualization diverse theoretical approaches and close analysis of these important writers work produces a strong argument against attempts to view and read writing from the Caribbean as one literature Difference and diversity it is argued predominate as Caribbean writing embraces the new century and the whole notion of Caribbeanness undergoes further processes of highly creative splintering and reshaping     Forgotten Friendships

International Relations and Non-Western Thought Robbie Shilliam,2010-09-13 International Relations as a discipline tends to focus upon European and Western canons of modern social and political thought Alternatively this book explores the global imperial and colonial context within which knowledge of modernity has been developed. The chapters sketch out the historical depth and contemporary significance of non Western thought on modernity as well as the rich diversity of its individuals groups movements and traditions. The contributors theoretically and substantively engage with non Western thought in ways that refuse to render it exotic to superfluous to or derivative of the orthodox Western canon of social and political thought. Taken as a whole the book provides deep insights into the contested nature of a global modernity shaped so fundamentally by Western colonialism and imperialism. Now as ever these insights are desperately needed for a discipline that is so closely implicated in Western foreign policy making and yet retains such a myopic horizon of inquiry. This work provides a significant contribution to the field and will be of great interest to all scholars of politics political theory and international relations theory.

Dany Laferrière Yanick Lahens Lyonel Trouillot and Edwidge Danticat are some of the Haitian writers whose writing is marked by Haiti's political history. Successive dictatorships have indeed shaped Haiti's creative space, imposing constraints that the authors ingeniously counteract and against which they all react. This collection of essays and interviews illustrates and analyzes the various ways in which the fictional, poetic and theatrical texts transcend the forces of oppression through linguistic and formal strategies.
