Alone Together Robert B. Edgerton, 2022-07-15 This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1979 Bibliography on Racism Center for Minority Group Mental Health Programs (U.S.), 1972 Bibliography on Racism, 1972-1975 Center for Minority Group Mental Health Programs (U.S.), 1978 Perspectives in Motion Brian Diettrich, 2021-03-10 Focusing on visual approaches to performance in global cultural contexts Perspectives in Motion explores the work of Adrienne L Kaeppler a pioneering researcher who has made a number of interdisciplinary contributions over five decades to dance and performance studies Through a diverse range of case studies from Oceania Asia and Europe and interdisciplinary approaches this edited collection offers new critical and ethnographic frameworks for understanding and experiencing practices of music and dance across the globe Sibling Interaction Across Cultures Patricia G. Zukow, 2012-12-06 Sibling Interaction Across Cultures is a collection of studies focusing on the role siblings play in the social emotional and cognitive development of their younger siblings Unlike much previous research on sibling relationships these studies share the underlying assumption that social interaction plays a significant role in the acquisition and transmission of cultural knowledge and social understanding The contributors evaluate the advantages as well as limitations of current methodological issues directly affecting sibling research and assess the various theoretical perspectives underpinning these methodologies Drawing from empirical cross and intra cultural research this volume lays new groundwork for identifying universal environmental and culture specific aspects of the role of siblings in child development Culture and Early Interactions (Psychology Revivals) Tiffany Field, Anita Sostek, Peter Vietze, P. Herbert Leiderman, 2014-08-01 In the late 1960s after a period of intense acceleration of the pace of research on human infancy a number of investigators some anthropologists some psychologists some psychiatrists and paediatricians and even a few ethologists developed the conviction that certain contributions to the understanding of infancy would come from and perhaps only come from cross cultural and cross population studies This book originally published in 1981 represents part of the first fruit of that conviction and its impressive range of chapters justifies not only the belief itself but also the several rationales behind it Cultural Identity and Ethnicity in the Pacific Jocelyn Linnekin, Lin Poyer, 1990-01-01 Hawaiian Native Claims Settlement Study Commission United States. Potent Mana Wende Elizabeth Marshall, 2012-01-02 Brilliantly elucidating and weaving together the forces of indigenous sovereignty colonialism and personal health Potent Mana offers a uniquely holistic and intimate portrait of the long term effects of colonialism on an indigenous people the k naka maoli Native Hawaiians An ethnographic exploration based on fifteen months of research the book moves the conversation on the dangerous effects of colonialism forward by exploring the theories and practices of Native Hawaiians engaged in decolonization Decades of substance abuse mental illness depression language loss and the concomitant dispossession from sacred lands have accompanied colonialism Consequently healing both mental and physical are essential to decolonization and indigenous sovereignty in twenty first century Hawaii i Native Hawaiian run treatment centers and clinics more than political rallies are centers for healing and decolonization on Oahu today The effects of colonialism and the measures taken to counter and move beyond it as Wende Marshall convincingly argues do not take place solely on a supralocal level but shatteringly involve the physical and emotional well being of real individuals Becoming decolonized is about overcoming the shame of colonialism and requires a process of remembering the traditions of ancestors and reinterpreting and rewriting histories that have only been told from a colonial point of view Decolonization is an indigenous perspective and an understanding that health was impossible without political power and cultural integrity

Cognitive Approaches in Special Education David A. Making History Robert Borofsky, 1987 Making History begins with a puzzle In 1976 the inhabitants of Pukapuka a Polynesian island in the South Pacific revived a traditional form of social organization that several authoritative Pukapukan informants claimed to have experienced previously in their youth Yet five professional anthropologists who conducted research on the island prior to 1976 do not mention it in any of their writings Had the Pukapukans invented a new tradition Or had the anthropologists collectively erred in not recording an old one In unraveling this puzzle Robert Borofsky compares two different ways of making history two different ways of constructing knowledge about the past He examines the dynamic nature of Pukapukan knowledge focusing on how Pukapukans in the process of learning and validating their traditions continually change them He also shows how anthropologists in the process of writing about such traditions for Western audiences often overstructure them emphasizing uniformity at the expense of diversity stasis at the expense of change As well as being of interest for what it reveals about Pukapukan and more generally Polynesian culture Making History helps clarify important strengths and limitations of the anthropological approach It provides valuable insights into both the anthropological construction of knowledge and the nature of anthropological understanding
