

WHAT IS AIR SUPERIORITY?

Air Superiority is a fundamental pillar of American combat power. With it, the joint force has freedom of action, freedom of access and freedom of operations. Without it, our nation's forces would have to radically change how they go to war.

Air Superiority Operations J. R. Walker, 1989 Another excellent addition to this series Very detailed and not for the amateur Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Case studies in the achievement of air superiority ,

Case Studies in the Achievement of Air Superiority Office of Air Force History, U.S. Air Force, 2015-01-29 The historical roots of air superiority date to the First World War which marked the emergence of the fighter airplane offensive and defensive fighter doctrine and the trained fighter pilot By the end of the war the Imperial German Air Service had been decisively outfought and though occasional bitter air combat still occurred the Allied air arms were free to harass and attack German ground forces wherever and whenever they chose After the war there were defense commentators who injudiciously predicted not for the last time that the era of dogfighting was over higher aircraft speeds would make maneuvering air combat a thing of the past Instead the lesson of the importance of air superiority was rediscovered in the skies over Spain and confirmed again throughout the Second World War Having tenaciously wrested air superiority from the Luftwaffe the Allies in 1941 went on to achieve genuine air supremacy a situation acknowledged by General Dwight Eisenhower who riding through Normandy after D Day remarked to his son If I didn't have air supremacy I wouldn't be here Sadly many of these lessons were lost in the post Second World War era when technology advances supersonic design theory nuclear weapons and robot aircraft seemed to signal an end to the traditional air to air fighter even though the experience of the Korean War demonstrated that transonic jet combat was not merely possible but the new normative form of air warfare Indeed the fighter airplane underwent a dramatic transformation into a nuclear armed strike aircraft now that popular wisdom held that surface to air and air to air missiles foreshadowed the end of the era of classic air combat That prediction collapsed in the face of the Vietnam war and the experiences of the Middle East The 1970s witnessed both a revolution in fighter aircraft design spawned by the technology advances of the 1960s and 1970s and a return to basics in both design fundamentals and the training of fighter pilots Operations in the Falklands war over the Bekaa Valley and most recently during DESERT STORM confirmed not only the benefits of this revolution and rediscovery but also the enduring importance of air superiority During DESERT STORM which occurred while this book was in press the airmen of the United States Air Force established air superiority over Iraq and occupied Kuwait from the outset of the war defeating the Iraqi air force both in the air and on the ground By so doing they created the conditions essential for decisive air war Strike and support aircraft and helicopters could go about their duties without fear of molestation from enemy aircraft Iraq's forces pinned in place were denied any respite from punishing air attack Because of coalition air supremacy coalition land operations could be undertaken with an assurance speed and rapidity of pace never before seen in warfare Bluntly stated the Gulf war demonstrated that with air superiority General Norman Schwarzkopf could undertake his famed Hail Mary play Lacking air superiority Iraq paid dearly Its III Corps became vulnerable to air attack stuck in a traffic jam out of Kuwait City on the Highway of Death Air superiority like democracy itself must be constantly secured and renewed In recognition of this the United States Air Force is developing the F 22 Advanced Tactical Fighter to ensure that America retains its technological edge well into the 21st century The case studies in this volume encompassing several major air to air battles eloquently demonstrate why the quest for air superiority remains critically important for today s Air Force Case Studies in the Achievement of Air Superiority Benjamin Franklin Cooling (III),1994

Joint Operational Warfare Milan N. Vego,2009 Smallholder farmers and pastoralists fulfil an invaluable yet undervalued role in conserving biodiversity They act as guardians of locally adapted livestock breeds that can make use of even marginal environments under tough climatic conditions and therefore are a crucial resource for food security But in addition by sustaining animals on natural vegetation and as part of local ecosystems these communities also make a significant contribution to the conservation of wild biodiversity and of cultural landscapes This publication provides a glimpse into the often intricate knowledge systems that pastoralists and smallholder farmers have developed for the management of their breeds in specific production systems and it also describes the multitude of threats and challenges these often marginalized communities have to cope with Doctrine for Joint Operations United States. Harahan,2015-11-06 Includes over 20 illustrations In November 1981 Lt Gen Hans H Driessnack Assistant Vice Chief of Staff asked the Historical Program to assemble a small number of retired officers for a group oral history interview General Driessnack believed that in reminiscing together these officers would recall incidents and experiences that might otherwise go unrecorded by exchanging ideas and questioning each other in effect interviewing each other they would recall material that would be of interest and importance to the Air Force today General Driessnack also suggested selecting retired officers from the senior statesman conference a gathering every spring at which retired four star generals are briefed on Air Force issues and then discuss them with contemporary Air Force leaders The result is the following interview The four participants Gen James Ferguson Gen Robert M Lee Gen William W Momyer and Lt Gen Elwood R Pete Quesada gathered on May 21 1982 around a table in the Vandenberg room at the Bolling Air Force Base Officers Club For approximately two and one half hours they responded to questions sent to them earlier and discussed air superiority in World War II and Korea Their discussions ranged far and wide flying in the pre World War II Army Air Corps campaigning in North Africa and Western Europe in World War II planning and participating in the Normandy invasion using secret intelligence supplied by Ultra struggling to codify tactical air doctrine in the post war years fighting the air battle in Korea and thinking about the general problem of air superiority throughout their careers This collective interview is not history but the source material on which history rests it is a memoir a first hand account by air leaders who flew fought and commanded tactical air forces in combat

The Role of Italian Fighter Aircraft in Crisis Management Operations: Trends and Needs Vincenzo Camporini,Tommaso De Zan,Alessandro Marrone,Michele Nones,Alessandro R. Ungaro,2014-08-16 Italian combat aircraft have played an increasing important role in the international missions in which Italy has participated in the post Cold War era from the First Gulf War to Libya including Bosnia Herzegovina Kosovo and Afghanistan This participation has been a significant tool of Italy's defense policy and therefore of its foreign policy towards crisis areas relevant to its national interests from the Western Balkans to the Mediterranean as well as towards its most important allies within NATO and the EU This IAI publication analyses the role of these military capabilities in recent operations and their prospects for the future In fact a number of trends can be inferred from the operational experience in ten international missions in which Italy deployed more than 100 combat aircraft in more than 13 000 sorties clocking up 36 000 flight hours These trends are considered in light of the recent developments in the doctrine of Air Power as well as possible future scenarios for the use of combat aircraft in crisis theaters The aim of the analysis is to understand the needs of the Italian Armed Forces the Air Force and Navy in particular which will have to replace a substantial portion of their current combat fleets in the near future due to the gradual obsolescence of the aircraft in service an operational necessity linked to the inevitable political decisions regarding the options available in the field of military procurement for maintaining the capabilities required so far for international missions In this context the study looks into the acquisition of F 35 aircraft also considering the industrial aspects of a multinational program that will produce more than 3 000 units for over 12 countries Joint Force Quarterly ,1995 The Evolution of Soviet

China's Aerospace Strategy, 2013-02-15. China has emerged as a major regional power and has clear aspirations to be a global power in the not too distant future. Comprehensive military modernisation programs, sustained economic, scientific and technological developments have substantially elevated China's international profile. For the past three decades, China has been modernising its strategic weaponry and enhancing the capabilities of its nuclear warheads. It has also been developing new and complex military platforms that would be of great value to joint operations warfare. The decade from 2011 through 2020 will prove critical to the PLA as it attempts to integrate many new and complex platforms and to adopt modern operational concepts including network centric warfare. China's air force is in the midst of a transformation. A decade ago it was an antiquated service equipped almost exclusively with weapons based on 1950s era Soviet designs and operated by personnel with questionable training according to outdated employment concepts. Today the PLAAF appears to be on its way to becoming a modern highly capable air force for the 21st century. The PLA Air Force has continued expanding its inventory of long range advanced SAM systems and now possesses one of the largest such forces in the world. The January 2011 flight test of China's next generation fighter prototype the J 20 highlights China's ambition to produce a fighter aircraft that incorporates stealth attributes advanced avionics and super cruise capable engines. Over the next several years China is upgrading its B 6 bomber fleet with a new longer range variant that will be armed with a new long range cruise missile. China's aviation industry is developing several types of airborne early warning and control system AWACS aircraft. These include the KJ 200 based on the Y 8 airframe for AWACS as well as intelligence collection and maritime surveillance and the KJ 2000 based on a modified Russian IL 76 airframe. China can decisively defeat India in any nuclear confrontation but is currently unable to match the IAF in any conventional conflict specifically along the border region of the Himalayas. Also the IAF has greater experience than PLAAF in actual combat operations with its many conflicts. India is gradually building powerful military capabilities in tune with its expanding geopolitical interests even as the eastern and western fronts are being strengthened to deter the twin Pakistan China threat. IAF is on the path to transform into a true aerospace power with the capability to rapidly deploy and operate at great distances. As for the two front challenge apart from progressively basing Sukhoi 30MKI fighters and missile squadrons in the two theatres the plan also includes upgrading the airfields and advanced landing grounds in the sectors in order to give both defensive and offensive options. It is important for India to realise the relevance of Chinese achievements in space technologies and to critically view and analyse Chinese achievements in the area of manned space missions. In order to achieve further success in the space arena developments in cryogenic technology are important for India. These should be pursued in order to develop the capability of launching 4.5 ton satellites which will help in achieving a greater commercial edge. Programmes like moon and mars missions using robotic technologies are also important in order to know more about the nature of resources especially minerals available on these bodies and undertaking their mining. It is also important to work towards launching satellites for India's armed forces which will help gain an advantage over adversaries. The book is an attempt to analyse the strategic importance of rising economic political and military stature of China with a view to understand its regional and global implications in a new world order. As a rational actor in a chaotic world China will defend its security interests at all costs. Besides undertaking a comprehensive modernisation of its armed forces China is developing a series of offensive space capabilities while advocating the peaceful use of outer space The book will be of immense value not only to the readers of the countries in the immediate neighbourhood of China but to the strategic community across the globe since rise of China and other major Asian players including India will shape the strategic international environment in the decades to come during this century It is hoped that the book will contribute to the understanding of the growing importance of integration of air and space and the fact that aerospace has truly become the new theatre of war and thereby establishing a new milestone in mankind s history of warfare The unifying space dimension will remain the single most important source for information and communication which can be used in multiple forms Hence China s aerospace strategy and its implications for India assume greater military importance

The Air War in Ukraine Dag Henriksen,Justin Bronk,2024-08-01 This book provides a comprehensive account of the use of airpower in the first year of the Ukraine conflict Airpower has been central to political military and public debates from the outset of the Russo Ukrainian war After having started with whether the US and NATO should attempt to establish a No Fly Zone over Ukraine to protect the civilian population the international discussion soon focused on the underperformance of Russian airpower The fact that the initial contest for air superiority over Ukraine ended in an uneasy state of mutual denial came as a surprise to Western analysts who suspected Kyiv would fall within a relatively short period of time The surprise and relief that it did not only fueled urgent and ongoing discussions on how NATO nations could support the Ukrainian war effort Regardless of nationality age level of education or ethnicity the near daily footage of Russian missiles bombs and drones hitting residential areas and bombarding infrastructure to deprive an entire population of electricity and water has been emotionally imprinted on generations who have only known peace Why the Russians have used airpower with such brutality and how Ukraine and its allies have defended against this threat is an important topic to understand even outside a specialist military audience The aim of this book therefore is to provide an analysis on why the air war over Ukraine unfolded as it did during the first year of the war This book will be of much interest to students of air power military and strategic studies Russian and eastern European politics and International Relations Military Construction Appropriations United States.
