Xinqiao Cen,Derek Irwin,2025-08-29 This book offers an in depth exploration of diplomatic interpreting as a complex form of multimodal interaction drawing on examples from China U S diplomatic interpreting activities to demonstrate the nuances of meaning transfer across modes and contexts The volume introduces the notion of interpreting being inherently multimodal through its employment of a range of semiotic repertoires including linguistic modes gesture audial information spatial arrangement and visual imagery Featuring case studies from China U S diplomatic interpreting scenarios Cen and Irwin examine the means and reasons by which interpreters mediate the range of multimodal semiotic resources in such situations in order to accommodate different meanings across varied contexts and their strategies for contextualizing and recontextualizing meaning while navigating different diplomatic interests and interpersonal relationships Taken together the book outlines a new framework for understanding and analyzing bilateral interpreting through a multimodal lens with implications for interpreting in international studies on a wider scale This volume will be valuable reading for students and scholars in interpreting studies applied linguistics intercultural communication and international relations Usability

research for interpreter-centred technology: The case study of SmarTerp Francesca Maria Frittella,2023-01-05

Technological advancement is reshaping the ways in which language interpreters operate This poses existential challenges to the profession but also offers new opportunities This books moves from the design of the computer assisted interpreting tool SmarTerp as a case study of impact driven interpreting technology research It demonstrates how usability testing was used to achieve an interpreter centred design By contextualising the case study within the past and current developments of translation and interpreting technology research this book seeks to inform and inspire a redefinition of the conceptualisation of interpreting technology research not just as a tool to understand change but to drive it into a sustainable and human direction Mapping the Research Landscape of Interpreter and Translator Education Xiangdong Li,2024-11-29 Mapping the Research Landscape of Interpreter and Translator Education explores research themes in interpreter and translator education based on a systematic review of more than 20 years of research in the field The book focuses on the ten research themes on the chain of curriculum development and evaluation specifically market needs analysis content conceptualisation learning needs analysis teaching objectives teaching beliefs syllabus design material development instruction and or effect assessment and course evaluation It also touches upon the other 14 research themes for example trainer education admissions learner traits thesis and research training pre service preparation certification in service training client education and translation and interpreting as a means to education The discussion of each theme is accompanied by a synthesis of its sub themes typical research cases research prospects and suggested reading As a guide it supports teachers by illustrating how to combine teaching and research in university settings and offers ways to integrate research into pedagogy This book is a go to reference for trainers and a hands on guide for academics researchers and postgraduate students specialising in translation and interpreting curriculum development and pedagogy research Knowledge Systems and Translation Helle V. Dam, Jan Engberg, Heidrun Gerzymisch-Arbogast, 2011-12-22 It is generally agreed that knowledge plays an important role in translation and interpreting and that it should therefore be of central concern to translation and interpreting studies However there is no general agreement about what is actually meant by the term knowledge in this context nor about in exactly what ways it is relevant Also present day translation and interpreting studies offer only a limited amount of research specifically dedicated to knowledge systematization and other knowledge related issues This book is one of the first to systematically and exclusively address the question of knowledge in translation and interpreting It is a collection of papers by leading scholars both from the field of translation and interpreting and from adjacent fields where knowledge also plays an important role such as linguistics and computer science The experts present a wide variety of conceptions of knowledge and a number of different approaches to the study of knowledge in translation and interpreting some of them draw on concepts such as scenes and frames mental spaces and semantic networks some discuss knowledge systems from an ontological point of view and some present more general concepts of knowledge in translation and interpreting Along the same lines some of the contributors deal mainly with theoretical and conceptual aspects others focus on methodological issues and again others report on empirical studies What brings them together however is their common focus on the interface between knowledge and translation interpreting and their main achievement is that by joining forces they manage to present to their readers a state of the art report which offers both a clearer delimitation of the concept of knowledge and a better understanding of its role in translation and interpreting
