Constraints On Political Order In Uganda:

Constraints on Political Order in Uganda Jimmy Kazaara Tindigarukayo, 2004-09 Political order defined in terms of the absence of sustained societal conflict violence and instability has been an elusive goal rather than a reality in most developing countries and more particularly those in Africa Rather than moving towards political order thus defined majority of African countries have been characterized by political instability constitutional crises breakdown of law and order social and cultural conflict military coups economic dislocation and the like In other words most African countries have been moving towards political disorder rather than order NGOs, Africa and the Global Order R. Pinkney, 2015-12-04 Formal political structures have produced little more than electoral democracy in Africa without tackling the problems of poverty and elite exploitation This book looks at the opportunities for and limitations of voluntary bodies in seeking a more just order at both African and global levels Women, Gender, and Politics Mona Lena Krook, Sarah Childs, 2010 Six areas of research of the subjects of women gender and politics are debated social movements political parties elections political representation public policy and the state Hostile to Democracy Peter Bouckaert, 1999 The Role of Parliament The Politics of Presidential Term Limits Alexander Baturo, Robert Elgie, 2019 This book examines the politics of presidential term limits It looks at the theory and practice of term limits the experience of term limit avoidance worldwide and the consequences of presidential term limits in all forms of regimes The State of the Nations Michael F. Lofchie, 2024-06-21 The State of the Nations is a collection of essays evaluating the political social and economic development of independent African states in the 1960s The effort to employ the notion of constraint as a conceptual tool in analyzing African politics reflects an attempt to move away from evaluative terms such as development and modernization or decay and breakdown Development which has an implicit suggestion of social progress and constitutional government seems inappropriate for the study of the wide array of political phenomena found in African states Terms such as breakdown and decay with an equally broad suggestion of disruption disunity and instability seem equally inappropriate The vantage point of the authors in this volume is primarily political but their understanding of African development encompasses the social and economic spheres as well The constraints that impede achievement of African objectives are varied and many of course are not political Geographical factors for example are supremely relevant in accounting for the availability of natural resources The principal justification for emphasizing political rather than other constraints is the extent to which political will and political action can stimulate development in spite of other obstacles Contributors Jonathan Barker Henry Bienen Barbara Callaway Emily Card Martin R Doornbos Rupert Emerson R Cranford Pratt Richard E Stryker Immanuel Wallerstein Claude E Welch M Crawford Young This title is part of UC Press's Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press's mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was

Property and Political Order in Africa Catherine Boone, 2014-02-10 In sub Saharan Africa property relationships around land and access to natural resources vary across localities districts and farming regions These differences produce patterned variations in relationships between individuals communities and the state This book captures these patterns in an analysis of structure and variation in rural land tenure regimes In most farming areas state authority is deeply embedded in land regimes drawing farmers ethnic insiders and outsiders lineages villages and communities into direct and indirect relationships with political authorities at different levels of the state apparatus The analysis shows how property institutions that define political authority and hierarchy around land shape dynamics of great interest to scholars of politics including the dynamics of land related competition and conflict territorial conflict patron client relations electoral cleavage and mobilization ethnic politics rural rebellion and the localization and nationalization of political competition      African Frontiers John Idriss Lahai, Tanya Lyons, 2016-03-23 Through a multidisciplinary approach African Frontiers counters the superficial Eurocentric and gender insensitive dominant discursive representation of Africa within the discourse of war and conflict management and security and peace nation building The chapters historicize and theorize the realities in postcolonial African states and the ramifications on the continents future Situating the study within the context of the prevailing cultural and geo political realities in the postcolonial African states the chapters illustrate the complex ways in which events and processes are experienced at the local level and how these local realities in turn impact and shape the patterns of political and military engagement in Africa and beyond Organized along three major themes Insurgency governance and peacebuilding expert researchers from around the world contribute chapters on Rebel and insurgent formations such as the RUF the LRA and Boko Haram state governance and corruption terrorism and counter terrorism security and peacebuilding focussing on the tensions and challenges facing post conflict societies such as Sierra Leone Rwanda and the newest nation state on the continent South Sudan This highly significant and topical study problematizes the impact of wars on African nations as well as the epistemological framing of the local realities and fallouts of armed conflict on post colonial states

Development Centre Seminars
Waging the Global War on Poverty Strategies and Case Studies OECD Development Centre, 2000-01-26 Eradicating poverty has long been one of the priorities of development co operation Yet despite undoubted progress towards this goal the strategies adopted at the international and national levels remain controversial Poverty reduction is a Tax Reform in Uganda Dorothy Kwagala-Igaga, 2016-12-14 In 1997 Uganda undertook extensive reforms in tax legislation This had been preceded by the structural reforms in tax administration that saw the creation of the Uganda Revenue Authority in 1991 The aim of the far reaching reforms was to improve the tax system and increase its revenue productivity This book demonstrates that the reforms were not as successful as anticipated and revenues have not improved in a sustained way The revenue from direct taxes only contributes about 20% to the total revenue well below the Sub Saharan average of 40% This has focused attention on the appropriateness of the reforms The focus of the reforms on achieving efficiency did not sufficiently take into account the fundamental importance of equity within the system As a result the Income Tax Act 1997 embodies distortions and inequalities in the treatment of taxable income and taxpayers that have led to inefficiency in the system as a whole The tax reforms also took a narrow technical view of the tax system The book employs political economy and optimal theory to explain the weaknesses in the tax system It is argued that the reforms although well designed were not likely to be successful given the timing and context of implementation The multidisciplinary and functionalist approach of the book is helpful in highlighting the constraints in which tax design and tax reform is undertaken in Uganda It is argued that the reforms were blunted by the manner of their formulation and context of implementation Taxation is a socio political issue and yet the IMF and World Bank which supported the reforms did not take into account the limited political will The lack of consensus in policy formulation has weakened the socio contract and allowed the government to blame external factors for the poor performance The weaknesses in governance and corruption have had an impact on the tax system by encouraging tax avoidance and evasion among political elites as well as on activities in the informal sector

Society in Uganda Katherine Bruce-Lockhart, Jonathon L. Earle, Nakanyike Musisi, Edgar C. Taylor, 2022 Key book on the debates surrounding the knowledge economy and decolonialization of African Studies that brings the subject up to date for the 21st century Decolonization of knowledge has become a major issue in African Studies in recent years brought to the fore by social movements such as RhodesMustFall and BlackLivesMatter This timely book explores the politics and disputed character of knowledge production in colonial and postcolonial Uganda where efforts to generate forms of knowledge and solidarity that transcend colonial epistemologies draw on long histories of resistance and refusal Bringing together scholars from Africa Europe and North America the contributors in this volume analyse how knowledge has been created mobilized and contested across a wide range of Ugandan contexts In so doing they reveal how Ugandans have built disputed and reimagined institutions of authority and knowledge production in ways that disrupt the colonial frames that continue to shape scholarly analyses and state structures From the politics of language and gender in Bakiga naming practices to ways of knowing among the Acholi the hampering of critical scholarship by militarism and authoritarianism and debates over the names of streets lakes mountains and other public spaces this book shows how scholars and a wide range of Ugandan activists are reimagining the politics of knowledge in Ugandan public life

Human Rights in Africa: Enhancing Human Rights Through the African Regional Human Rights System

George Mugwanya, 2021-10-01 The author argues that although the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the role the United Nations plays in promoting global awareness of human rights has had a positive influence in Africa their institutional financial and political impediments undercut the ability of a global system to address adequately the crisis in human rights violations occurring in Africa today Using case studies from South Africa and Uganda past difficulties in addressing human rights problems are analyzed and recommendations made for future methodologies including the creation of an African Court of Human and Peoples Rights Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint

The Politics of Successful Governance Reforms Mark Robinson, 2013-10-18 This book examines the factors that give rise to successful governance reforms in developing countries focusing on the importance of political commitment supportive institutions and the timing of reforms It reviews the lessons arising from the design and implementation of successful governance reforms in Brazil India Uganda and other parts of Africa through comparative analysis of experience with public financial management anti corruption civil service reform and innovations in service delivery The contributors suggest that three factors are critical in explaining positive outcomes strong consistent commitment from politicians to initiate and sustain reforms a high level of technical capacity and some degree of insulation from societal interests at least in the early phases for designing and managing reforms incremental approaches with cumulative benefits are more likely to produce sustainable results Explicit attention to the political feasibility of reform identifying and building incentives for reform and a more gradual and piecemeal approach are all integral to the success of future governance reforms      The Political Economy of Governance Reforms in Uganda Mark Robinson, 2006 Presents three cases of successful governance reforms in Uganda highlighting the political and institutional factors that explain the different trajectories of implementation as well as features they share in common
