Constructing The Black Masculine Identity And Ideality In African American Men:

Constructing the Black Masculine Maurice O. Wallace, 2002-06-12 A major rethinking of the issues around African American masculinity tracing its relation to images of construction and applying ideas from Eve Sedgwick's Epistemology of the Closet

Black Male Outsider Gary L. Lemons, 2008-01-10 This fascinating book traces the development of the author's consciousness as a black male pro feminist professor Gary L. Lemons explores the meaning of black male feminism by examining his experiences at the New York City college where he taught for more than a decade a small private liberal arts college where the majority of the students were white and female Through a series of classroom case studies he presents the transformative power of memoir writing as a strategic tool for enabling students to understand the critical relationship between the personal and the political From the insightful inclusion of his own personal narratives about his childhood experience of domestic violence to stories about being a student and teacher in majority white classrooms for most of his life Lemons takes the reader on a provocative journey about what it means to be black male and pro feminist

Contesting Slave Masculinity in the American South David Stefan Doddington, 2018-07-12 Highlights competing masculine values in slave communities and reveals how masculinity shaped resistance accommodation and survival

The Making of the New Negro Anna Pochmara, 2011 The Making of the New Negro examines black masculinity in the period of the New Negro Harlem Renaissance which for many decades did not attract a lot of scholarly attention until in the 1990s many scholars discovered how complex significant and fascinating it was Using African American published texts American archives and unpublished writings and contemporaneous European discourses this book focuses both on the canonical figures of the New Negro Movement and African American culture such as W E B Du Bois Booker T Washington Alain Locke and Richard Wright and on writers who have not received as much scholarly attention despite their significance for the movement such as Wallace Thurman Its perspective combines gender sexuality and race studies with a thorough literary analysis and historicist investigation an approach that has not been extensively applied to analyze the New Negro Renaissance

Black Men, Black Feminism Jared Sexton, 2018-03-06 A brief commentary on the necessity and the impossibility of black men's participation in the development of black feminist theory and politics Black Men Black Feminism examines the basic assumptions that have guided and misguided black men's efforts to take up black feminism Offering a rejoinder to the contemporary study of black men and masculinity in the twenty first century Jared Sexton interrogates some of the most common intellectual postures of black men writing about black feminism ultimately departing from the prevailing discourse on progressive black masculinities Sexton examines by contrast black men's critical and creative work from Charles Burnett's Killer of Sheep to Jordan Peele's Get Out to describe the cultural logic that provides a limited moral impetus to the quest for black male feminism and that might if reconfigured prompt an ethical response of an entirely different order

Race, Social Science and the Crisis of Manhood, 1890-1970 Malinda Alaine Lindquist, 2012-05-31 Black Social Science and the Crisis of Manhood 1890 1970 describes the young black male crisis why we are largely unfamiliar with the story of the black superman and why this matters to contemporary debates It does so by returning to the work of those original black social scientists to explore the ways in which they understood the challenges of black manhood offered substantive critiques of the nation s race class and gender systems and worked to construct a progression The careful study of their work reveals the centrality of gender to discussions of race and class and also new possibilities for understanding and discussing black men This book offers a look at pioneering black social scientists as well as a history of the changing perceptions ideals and shifting depictions of black and white manhood over nearly a century Louis Armstrong's New Orleans Thomas Brothers,2007-03-27 Drawing on first person accounts this book tells the rags to riches tale of Louis Armstrong s early life and the social and musical forces in New Orleans that shaped him their unique relationship and their impact on American culture Illustrations Intimate Empires Tracey Rizzo,Steven Gerontakis,2017 Based on the latest scholarship in gender race and empire studies Intimate Empires offers truly global insight into the experiences of ordinary people during the Age of Empire Written for undergraduates it presents complex theories of identity construction in an accessible narrative and applies them to hundreds of memorable vignettes from all of the major modern empires Provided by publisher The Black Populations of France Sylvain Pattieu,Emmanuelle Sibeud,Tyler Stovall,2022-02 The Black Populations of France is a study of Black peoples and their history in France and the French Empire during the modern era from the eighteenth century to the present The contributors to this collection explore three main axes The first addresses circulations the ways Black populations have moved through the spaces of metropolitan France and the empire and focuses on the actors themselves and the margins of maneuver available to them particularly as soldiers sailors immigrants or political militants The second considers legacies and the ways the past has informed the present addressing themes such as the memory of slavery the histories of Black women and gender and the historical influence of African Americans on Blacks in France The final axis considers racial policy and the ways the state has shaped racial discourses through the interactions between state policies and ideas of race developed by individuals organizations and communities The Black Populations of France makes an important contribution to both modern French history and the history of the global Black diaspora By putting these histories in dialogue with each other it underscores the central place of France in world history Visualizing Blackness and the Creation of the African American Literary Tradition Lena Hill,2014-02-17 This study examines how black writers use visual tropes as literary devices to challenge readers conceptions of black identity Lena Hill charts two hundred years of African American literary history from Phillis Wheatley to Ralph Ellison and engages with a variety of canonical and lesser known writers James Baldwin Now Dwight A. The Illustrated Slave Martha J. Cutter,2017-08-15 Analyzes works in the archive of antislavery illustrated books published from 1800 to 1852 alongside other visual materials that depict enslavement The Psychic Hold of Slavery Soyica Diggs Colbert,Robert J. Patterson,Aida Levy-Hussen,2016-07-20 What would it mean to get over slavery Is such a thing possible Is it even desirable Should we perceive the psychic hold of slavery as a set of mental manacles that hold us back from imagining a postracist America Or could the psychic hold of slavery be understood as a tool helping us get a grip on the systemic racial inequalities and restricted liberties that persist in the present day Featuring original essays from an array of established and emerging scholars in the interdisciplinary field of African American studies The Psychic Hold of Slavery offers a nuanced dialogue upon these questions With a painful awareness that our understanding of the past informs our understanding of the present and vice versa the contributors place slavery's historical legacies in conversation with twenty first century manifestations of antiblack violence dehumanization and social death Through an exploration of film drama fiction performance art graphic novels and philosophical discourse this volume considers how artists grapple with questions of representation as they ask whether slavery can ever be accurately depicted trace the scars that slavery has left on a traumatized body politic or debate how to best convey that black lives matter The Psychic Hold of Slavery thus raises provocative questions about how we behold the historically distinct event of African diasporic enslavement and how we might hold off the transhistorical force of antiblack domination Signs of the Times Elizabeth Abel,2010-05-06 The George Gund Foundation imprint in African American studies Page i of preliminary pages The Cambridge Companion to Frederick Douglass Maurice S. Greven identifies a pattern of what he calls gender protest and sexual possibility recurring in antebellum works. He suggests that major authors such as Margaret Fuller, Edgar Allan Poe, Herman Melville, and Nathaniel Hawthorne consciously sought to represent same sex desire in their writings. Focusing especially on conceptions of the melancholia of gender identification and shame, Greven argues that same sex desire was inextricably enmeshed in scenes of gender role strain as exemplified in the extent to which The Narrative of Arthur Gordon Pym depicts masculine identity adrift and in disarray. Greven finds similarly compelling representations of gender protest in Fuller's exploration of the crisis of gendered identity in Summer on the Lakes, in Melville's representation of Redburn's experience of gender nonconformity, and in Hawthorne's complicated delineation of desire in The Scarlet Letter. As Greven shows, antebellum authors not only took up the taboo subjects of same sex desire and female sexuality but were adept in their use of a variety of rhetorical means for expressing the inexpressible.

All Y'all Heidi Siegrist, 2024-11-12 The South is often perceived as a haunted place in its region's literature, one that is strange, deviant, or queer. The peculiar, often sexually charged literary worlds of contemporary writers like Fannie Flagg, Monique Truong, and Randall Kenan speak to this connection between queerness and the South. Heidi Siegrist explores the boundaries of negotiating place and sexuality by using the concept of Southernness, a purposefully fluid idea of the South that extends beyond simple geography, eschewing familiar ideas of the Southern canon. When the connection between queerness and Southernness becomes apparent, Siegrist shows that Southern branded queer deviance can not only change the way we think about literature but can also change Southern queer people's lived experiences. Siegrist gathers a bevy of undertheorized writers from Kenan and Truong to Dorothy Allison and even George R. R. Martin, showing that there are many queer Souths. Siegrist offers these multiverses as a way to appreciate a place that is often unfriendly, even deadly, to queer people. But as Siegrist argues, none of these Souths, from the terrestrial to the imaginary, would be what they are without the influence and power of queer literature.

Searching for the New Black Man Ronda C. Henry Anthony, 2013-06-01 Using the slave narratives of Henry Bibb and Frederick Douglass, as well as the work of W. E. B. Du Bois, James Baldwin, Walter Mosley, and Barack Obama, Ronda C. Henry Anthony examines how women's bodies are used in African American literature to fund the production of black masculine ideality and power. In tracing representations of ideal black masculinities and femininities, the author shows how black men's struggles for gendered agency are inextricably entwined with their complicated relation to white men and normative masculinity. The historical context in which this study couches these struggles highlights the extent to which shifting socioeconomic circumstances dictate the ideological, cultural, and emotional terms upon which black men conceptualize identity. Yet Anthony quickly moves to texts that challenge traditional constructions of black masculinity. In these texts, she traces how the emergence of collaboratively gendered discourses or a blending of black female and male feminist consciousnesses are reshaping black masculinities, femininities, and intraracial relations for a new century.
