Constructing The Holocaust:

Constructing the Holocaust Dan Stone, 2003 On the one hand then this is traditional historiography the history of history writing On the other hand the problem is approached via recent work in the philosophy of history closely analysing historical works as texts This is an interdisciplinary study that brings to bear on historiography the kind of textual analysis usually reserved for fiction testimony or film The Holocaust precisely because it throws into doubt older methodologies demands the search for new ones Showing how Holocaust historians inadvertently and paradoxically reinscribe into the wider culture patterns of thought that the Holocaust repudiated Constructing the Holocaust tries to respond to the Holocaust in a way that recognises its potential impact on usually unquestioned beliefs and unspoken methodological assumptions BOOK JACKET

Constructing the Canon of Children's Literature Anne Lundin, 2004-10-15 In this pioneering historical study Anne Lundin argues that schools libraries professional organizations and the media together create and influence the constantly changing canon of children's literature Lundin examines the circumstances out of which the canon emerges and its effect on the production of children's literature The volume includes a comprehensive list of canonical titles for reference

Making German Jewish Literature Anew Katja Garloff, 2022-12-06 In Making German Jewish Literature Anew Katja Garloff traces the emergence of a new Jewish literature in Germany and Austria from 1990 to the present The rise of new generations of authors who identify as both German and Jewish and who often sustain additional affiliations with places such as France Russia or Israel affords a unique opportunity to analyze the foundational moments of diasporic literature Making German Jewish Literature Anew is structured around a series of founding gestures performing authorship remaking memory and claiming places Garloff contends that these founding gestures are literary strategies that reestablish the very possibility of a German Jewish literature several decades after the Holocaust Making German Jewish Literature Anew offers fresh interpretations of second generation authors such as Maxim Biller Doron Rabinovici and Barbara Honigmann as well as of third generation authors many of whom come from Eastern European and or mixed religion backgrounds These more recent writers include Benjamin Stein Lena Gorelik and Katja Petrowskaja Throughout the book Garloff asks what exactly marks a given text as Jewish the author's identity intended audience thematic concerns or stylistic choices and reflects on existing definitions of Jewish literature

The Oxford Handbook of European History, 1914-1945 Nicholas Doumanis, 2016 The period spanning the two World Wars was unquestionably the most catastrophic in Europe's history Despite such undeniably progressive developments as the radical expansion of women's suffrage and rising health standards the era was dominated by political violence and chronic instability Its symbols were Verdun Guernica and Auschwitz By the end of this dark period tens of millions of Europeans had been killed and more still had been displaced and permanently traumatized If the nineteenth century gave Europeans cause to regard the future with a sense of optimism the early twentieth century had them anticipating the destruction of civilization The fact that so many revolutions regime changes dictatorships mass killings and civil wars took place within such a compressed time frame suggests that Europe experienced a general crisis The Oxford Handbook of European History 1914-1945 reconsiders the most significant features of this calamitous age from a transnational perspective It demonstrates the degree to which national experiences were intertwined with those of other nations and how each crisis was implicated in wider regional continental and global developments Readers will find innovative and stimulating chapters on various political social and economic subjects by some of the leading scholars working on modern European history today

Constructing the Enemy Rajini Srikanth, 2011-12-09 In her engaging book Constructing the Enemy Rajini Srikanth probes the concept of empathy attempting to understand its different types and how it is or isn't generated and maintained in specific circumstances Using literary texts to illuminate issues of power and discussions of law Srikanth focuses on two case studies the internment of Japanese citizens and Japanese Americans in World War II after the bombing of Pearl Harbor and the detainment of Muslim Americans and individuals from various nations in the U.S. prison at Guantanamo Bay Through primary documents and interviews that reveal why and how lawyers become involved in defending those who have been designated enemies Srikanth explores the complex conditions under which engaged citizenship emerges Constructing the Enemy probes the seductive promise of legal discourse and analyzes the emergence and manifestation of empathy in lawyers and other concerned citizens and the wider consequences of this empathy on the institutions that regulate our lives
