

A woman with long brown hair, wearing a light blue t-shirt, is holding a large white sheet of paper. She is looking at the paper with a surprised expression, her hand near her mouth. A young girl with dark hair in two buns, wearing a white t-shirt, is looking at the paper and smiling. The background is a light gray wall with a pink and white striped pattern in the top right corner. There are decorative elements: a grid of small black dots in the top left, a grid of small orange dots in the center, and a grid of small black dots in the bottom right.

The International Handbook of Consultation in Educational Settings Chryse Hatzichristou, Sylvia Rosenfield, 2017-03-16

The rapid changes in the composition of school age youth around the world have catalyzed a growing concern about how to address children's mental health and education. Grounded in this increasingly global perspective, The International Handbook of Consultation in Educational Settings is designed to provide a multicultural transnational approach to consultation theory, research, training, and practice in educational settings. With chapters written by geographically diverse and prominent scholars across the field of school psychology, this handbook captures the range of ways in which consultation services are trained, implemented, and researched internationally. Written for practitioners, researchers, faculty members, and graduate students in the fields of school psychology, school counseling, special education, and educational psychology, this volume is the first of its kind to provide a comprehensive look at consultation in learning environments across the world. The International Handbook of Consultation in Educational Settings offers various perspectives on models, implementation, training, and research on school consultation. After an introduction to the volume by the editors, contributors to Part II examine school-based consultation around the world to explore how consultation services are implemented in different countries. Part III addresses cross-cultural issues in consultation, particularly at a systems level. Part IV presents themes related to processes and issues in the implementation of consultation by focusing on approaches in various countries. The chapters in Part V focus on consultation training, offering insights into the development of students and professionals into effective consultants in cross-cultural and systemic contexts. Part VI describes how practitioners can contribute to the body of research on consultation through careful planning and implementation of their work. Finally, the editors summarize key concepts and findings in a concluding chapter.

School Consultation in a Global Context Colleen R. O'Neal, 2025-08-01 School Consultation in a Global Context provides theoretical foundations, empirical research, lessons learned, and implications for practice in school consultation across distinct cultures and national borders. School psychologists have new opportunities to leverage existing and innovative frameworks, research methods, and advocacy supports to provide effective service for culturally diverse populations globally, including refugees. Driven by liberatory, participant-centered interventions and research designs, this book is an essential resource for building long-term global school consultation partnerships and reaching successful outcomes. School psychology researchers and practitioners will be well-prepared by this collaborative approach to global school consultation partnership development, training, intervention, implementation, and evaluation, teleconsultation, grant funding, theories, formative and effectiveness research, and more across international contexts.
