Consumer Choice In The Third World:

Consumer Choice in the Third World J. James, 1983-06-18 Consumer Choice in the Third World Jeffrey James, 1983-01-01 Promoting Cardiovascular Health in the Developing World Institute of Medicine, Board on Global Health, Committee on Preventing the Global Epidemic of Cardiovascular Disease: Meeting the Challenges in Developing Countries, 2010-07-29 Cardiovascular disease CVD once thought to be confined primarily to industrialized nations has emerged as a major health threat in developing countries Cardiovascular disease now accounts for nearly 30 percent of deaths in low and middle income countries each year and is accompanied by significant economic repercussions Yet most governments global health institutions and development agencies have largely overlooked CVD as they have invested in health in developing countries Recognizing the gap between the compelling evidence of the global CVD burden and the investment needed to prevent and control CVD the National Heart Lung and Blood Institute NHLBI turned to the IOM for advice on how to catalyze change In this report the IOM recommends that the NHLBI development agencies nongovernmental organizations and governments work toward two essential goals creating environments that promote heart healthy lifestyle choices and help reduce the risk of chronic diseases and building public health infrastructure and health systems with the capacity to implement programs that will effectively detect and reduce risk and manage CVD To meet these goals the IOM recommends several steps including improving cooperation and collaboration implementing effective and feasible strategies and informing efforts through research and health surveillance Without better efforts to promote cardiovascular health global health as a whole will be undermined Food Security in the Developing World Muhammad Khalid Bashir, Steven G. M. Schilizzi, Ghaffar Ali, 2024-02-12 An introduction to the urgent global question of how to feed the hungry Global food production has never been more abundant yet nearly a billion people worldwide suffer from malnutrition virtually all of them in the developing world Food security in these countries is a global humanitarian issue which becomes more urgent with every passing year There is a vital need to understand the nature and causes of food scarcity in developing countries in order to see to it that our global bounty reaches the hungry people who need it Food Security in the Developing World offers a comprehensive single volume introduction to the subject It focuses on three core issues food availability food accessibility and food utilization in order to produce a rounded picture of the causes and possible solutions for food scarcity Thorough and accessible it promises to help researchers and policymakers address this growing humanitarian crisis in a reasoned and targeted way Food Security in the Developing World readers will also find Future oriented approach which continuously highlights paths forward Detailed discussion of topics including climate change and agricultural productivity price volatility diet and nutrition and many more Examples and case studies drawn from across the developing world including Sudan Uganda Nepal and Afghanistan Food Security in the Developing World is ideal for food scientists and technologists students in programs related to food science development studies geography and related subjects and policymakers working in food production and distribution Rich Country Interests and Third World Development Robert Cassen, Richard Jolly, John W. Sewell, Robert Wood, 2025-04-01 First published in 1982 Rich Country Interests and Third World Development adds breadth and specificity to the exploration of the interests in Third World development of eleven rich countries the United States Canada Japan Australia the United Kingdom the Federal Republic of Germany The Netherlands Denmark Sweden Norway and France The authors analyze a spectrum of Northern economic political and security interests in development in the South They also examine how national experiences political traditions humanistic values and changing attitudes have influenced perceptions of and relationships with Third World countries over three decades of dramatic change in the North South environment This book helps lay a foundation for negotiated solutions to North South issues by offering a greater appreciation of differences as well as commonalities in interests both among and within industrial and developing countries An overview chapter points to issues broader than those raised in the country studies and addresses a critical question On what terms is it in the interests of the North and South to pursue and fashion interdependence between them in the 1980s Consumer Choice in the Third World Jeffrey James, 1983 Ethics in Consumer Choice Nina Langen, 2012-12-20 This dissertation elaborates differences and similarities of forms of ethical behaviour in general and analyses whether German consumers differentiate between different types of ethical behaviour in particular The thesis is characterised by its intensive combination of theoretical and empirical research It furthermore contributes to the literature as the method triangulation applied in the different surveys reveals previously unknown relationships between different kinds of ethical behaviour such as ethical consumption and charitable giving as well as between different forms of ethical products Choice experiment latent class analysis information display matrix and item based attitude assessment allowed the comparison of stated and revealed preferences as well as an analysis of the relevance of ethical product features within the context of different product and process attributes The dissertation provides insights into a research field which is becoming more and more relevant and improves the understanding of consumers assessment and the interdependencies of the possibilities of ethical behaviour This allows the development of recommendations for consumer policy makers business and NGOs concerned with the ethics of consumer choice as well as future research on ethical behaviour in general and ethical consumption in particular Multinational Investment in Developing Countries Thomas Andersson, 2002-09-11 This book explores the struggle for gains from direct investment between multinationals and developing countries It discusses which policies work best in influencing the behaviour of MNEs and how developing countries compete with one another for multinational investment It argues that the tax regimes of different countries rarely deter investors but that nationalisation acts as a powerful disincentive It also concludes that governments should not be expected to sacrifice the environment to attract multinationals Consumption: Disciplinary approaches to consumption Daniel Miller, 2001 The Encyclopedia of the Third World: Philippines to Zimbabwe George Thomas Kurian, 1987 The Interregnum: Controversies in World Politics 1989-1999 Michael Cox, Ken Booth, Timothy Dunne, 1999 The Interregnum Controversies in World Politics 1989 1999 is a series of critical reflections on the major controversies in and about world politics in the 1990s We are living in an era which seemingly defies description in social and political theory our age is frequently referred to as post modern in international relations we remain in the post Cold War age The age is only characterised by what it is not This collection of critical reflections written by leading scholars in the field sheds light on the meanings of world politics in what we are calling The Interregnum The central question of the Special Issue might be put as follows what do the major controversies in world politics in the 1990s tell us about the characteristics of the age who we are and where world politics might be going

Readings in Gender in Africa Andrea Cornwall, International African Institute, 2005-02-14 Readings in Gender in Africa collects the most important critical and theoretical writings on how gender issues have transformed contemporary views of Africa Scholarship from North America Europe and Africa is represented in this comprehensive volume A synthetic introduction by Andrea Cornwall discusses efforts to include women in research about Africa The volume not only shows how gender relations have been constructed on the African continent but reflects the changes in approach and inquiry that have been brought about as scholars consider gender identities and difference in their work Specific themes covered here include the contestation and representation of gender femininity and masculinity livelihoods and lifeways gender and religion gender and culture and gender and governance Readers from across the landscape of African studies will find this an essential sourcebook Published in association with the International African Institute London

Religion and Consumer Behaviour in Developing Nations Ayantunji Gbadamosi, Ayodele C. Oniku, 2021-01-29 Examining how religion influences the dynamics of consumption in developing nations this book illuminates the strategic placement of these nations on the global marketing stage both in terms of their current economic outlook and potential for growth

Fair Trade and the Citizen-Consumer K. Wheeler, 2012-10-23 As sales of fair trade goods explode across the globe Fair Trade and the Citizen Consumer provides a timely analysis of the organizations institutions and grassroots networks behind this growing movement Drawing on examples from the UK Sweden and USA this book moves away from models of individualized consumer choice and instead explores the collective cultures and practices that motivate and sustain fair trade consumer behaviour Although the fair trade citizen consumer has been called to action and publicly represented as an individual voting in the marketplace this book reveals how market interventions are editing the choices available to consumers at the same time as Fairtrade Town consumer networks are flourishing Offering new and critical insights into the fair trade success story this book also contributes to debates about sustainable consumption behaviour and the growth of new forms of political participation and citizenship

The Unmanageable Consumer Yiannis

Gabriel, Tim Lang, 1995-11-13 Consumption and concepts of the consumer sit at the centre of numerous current debates academic political and environmental This highly readable and stimulating book a tour de force in the breadth of its coverage and analysis shows how different traditions of thought have constructed different representations of the consumer Each of these has its own coherence but rarely addresses alternative positions A key concern of the authors is to identify disentangle and juxtapose approaches to contemporary consumption which are seldom found in a single text Yiannis Gabriel and Tim Lang present a number of distinctive portraits of the consumer as Chooser as Communicator as Identity seeker as Explorer as Hedonist

The Philistine Controversy Dave Beech, John Roberts, 2002 Dave Beech and John Roberts develop what they call a counter intuitive notion of the philistine with insights on cultural division and exclusion A History of Fair Trade in Contemporary Britain Matthew Anderson, 2015-09-06 This book offers an original contribution to the empirical knowledge of the development of Fair Trade that goes beyond the anecdotal accounts to challenge and analyse the trading practices that shaped the Fair Trade model Fair Trade represented a new approach to global trade corporate social responsibility and consumer politics
