Ashes to Ashes, 2020-01-29 Future historians will wonder why despite the risks society persisted in its warm relationship with the cigarette by the end of the century global consumption was still rising The 1995 symposium at the Wellcome Institute for the History of Medicine not only examined tobacco's connection with health but the varied attitudes towards smoking which have included regarding it as manly relaxing fashionable and decadent A particular feature was a witness seminar attended not only by those who had made the initial discovery but by those with a crucial role in promoting public awareness of the dangers And as shown in this book we still cannot escape the paradox that while a considerable proportion of a country's population is hooked on the cigarette the tobacco industry and the government are equally addicted to the profits and tax revenues it generates

Beyond Deviant Damsels Anne-Marie Kilday, David Nash, 2023-02-24 Using detailed case studies Beyond Deviant Damsels undermines many of the conventional assumptions about how women committed crime in the nineteenth century Previous historical accounts generally constructed gendered stereotypes of women acting in self defence being lesser accomplices to male criminals committing crimes that require little or no physical effort or pursuing supposedly female goals such as material acquisition This study counters these gendered assumptions by examining instances where women tested society's boundaries through their own actions ultimately presenting women as far more like men in their capacity and execution of criminal behaviour The book shows examples where women acted far beyond these stereotypes and showcases the existence of cultural discussion of open ended female misbehaviour in Victorian Britain leading us to question the very role of stereotyping in the history of criminality These individual challenges to a supposed gendered status quo in Victorian Britain did not produce spontaneous outrage nor were attempts at controlling and eradicating such behaviour coherent or successful As such Victorian society's treatment of women emerges as uncertain and confused as much as it was determinedly moralistic From this Beyond Deviant Damsels seeks to re-evaluate our twenty first century perception of female criminals by indicating that historiography may have been responsible for limiting the picture of Victorian female criminality and behaviour from that time until the present

The Foundations of Female Entrepreneurship Alison Kay, 2012-08-21 The Foundations of Female Entrepreneurship explores the relationship between home household headship and enterprise in Victorian London It examines the notions of duty honor and suitability in how women's ventures are represented by themselves and others and engages in a comparison of the interpretation of historical female entrepreneurship by contemporaries and historians in the UK Europe and America It argues that just as women in business have often been hidden by men they have often also been hidden by the home and the conceptualization of separate spheres of public and private agency and of the entrepreneur Drawing on contextual evidence from 1747 to 1880 including fire insurance records directories trade cards newspapers memoirs the census and extensive record linkage this study concentrates on the early to mid Victorian period when ideals about gender roles and appropriate work for women were vigorously debated Alison Kay offers new insight into the motivations of the Victorian women who opted to pursue enterprises of their own By engaging in empirical comparisons with men's business it also reveals similarities and differences with the small to medium sized ventures of male business proprietors The link between home and enterprise is then further excavated by detailed record linkage revealing the households and domestic circumstances and responsibilities of female proprietors Using both discourse and data to connect enterprise proprietor and household The Foundations of Female Entrepreneurship provides a multi dimensional picture of the Victorian female proprietor and moves beyond the stereotypes It argues that active business did not exclude women although careful representation was vital and this has obscured the similarities of their businesses with those of many male business proprietors

The Fin-de-siècle Poem Joseph Bristow, 2005 Featuring innovative research by emergent and established scholars The Fin de Siècle Poem throws new light on the remarkable diversity of poetry produced at the close of the nineteenth century in England Opening with a detailed preface that shows why literary historians have frequently underrated fin de siècle poetry the collection explains how a strikingly rich body of lyrical and narrative poems anticipated many of the developments traditionally attributed to Modernism Each chapter in turn provides insights into the ways in which late nineteenth century poets represented their experiences of the city their attitudes toward sexuality their responses to empire and their interest in religious belief The eleven essays presented by editor Joseph Bristow pay renewed attention to the achievements of such legendary writers as Oscar Wilde John Davidson Ernest Dowson Lionel Johnson and W B Yeats whose careers have always been associated with the 1890s This book also explores the lesser known but equally significant advances made by notable women poets including Michael Field Amy Levy Charlotte Mew Alice Meynell A Mary F Robinson and Graham R Tomson The

Fin de Siecle Poem brings together innovative research on poetry that has been typecast as the attenuated Victorianism that was rejected by Modernism The contributors underscore the remarkable innovations made in English poetry of the 1880s and 1890s and show how woman poets stood shoulder to shoulder with their better known male contemporaries Joseph Bristow is professor of English at the University of California Los Angeles where he edits the journal Nineteenth Century Literature His recent books include The Cambridge Companion to Victorian Poetry Oscar Wilde Contextual Conditions and the variorum edition of Oscar Wilde s The Picture of Dorian Gray

Capitalism's Eye Kevin Hetherington, 2011-02-11 Capitalism s Eye is an extremely ambitious cultural history of how people experienced commodities in the era of industrial expansion Writing against the dominant argument that the society of the spectacle emerged fully formed in the mid nineteenth century Kevin Hetherington explains that the emergence of a culture of mass consumption dominated by visual experience was a much slower process not truly ascendant until after the First World War Looking at the department stores home life and the great exhibitions around the turn of the last century Capitalism s Eye promises to transform how we understand both the cultural history of capitalism in America and Europe and the historical roots of the mediated spectacle that dominates our world today

The Cosmopolitan Interior Judy Neiswander, 2008 Judith Neiswander explains that during these years liberal values individuality cosmopolitanism scientific rationalism the progressive role of the elite and the emancipation of women informed advice about the desirable appearance of the home In the period preceding the First World War these values changed dramatically advice on decoration became more nationalistic in tone and a new goal was set for the interior to raise the British child by the British hearth Neiswander traces this evolving discourse within the context of current writing on interior decoration writing that it is much more detached from social and political issues of the day

American Dreams in Mississippi Ted Ownby, 2002-10-15 The dreams of abundance choice and novelty that have fueled the growth of consumer culture in the United States would seem to have little place in the history of Mississippi a state long associated with poverty inequality and rural life But as Ted Ownby demonstrates in this innovative study consumer goods and shopping have played important roles in the development of class race and gender relations in Mississippi from the antebellum era to the present After examining the general and plantation stores of the nineteenth century a period when shopping habits were stratified according to racial and class hierarchies Ownby traces the development of new types of stores and buying patterns in the twentieth century when women and African Americans began to wield new forms of economic power Using sources as diverse as store ledgers blues lyrics and the writings of William Faulkner Eudora Welty Richard Wright and Will Percy he illuminates the changing relationships among race rural life and consumer goods and in the process offers a new way to understand the connection between power and culture in the American South

Ghosts and Things Aviva Briefel, 2025-04-15 Ghosts and Things argues that Victorians turned to the dead to understand the material culture of their present With the rise of spiritualism in Britain in the early 1850s sances invited participants to contact ghosts using material things from ordinary household furniture to specialized technologies invented to register the presence of spirits In its supernatural object lessons Victorian spiritualism was not just a mystical movement centered on the dead but also a practical resource for learning how to negotiate the uncanniness of life under capitalism Aviva Briefel explores how spiritualism compelled sance participants to speculate on the manufacture of spectral clothing ponder the hidden histories and energies of parlor furniture confront the humiliations of consumerism as summoned spirits pelted them with exotic fruits and comprehend modes of mechanical reproduction like photography and electrotyping that had the power to shape identities Briefel argues that spiritualist practices and the objects they employed offered both believers and skeptics unexpected frameworks for grappling with the often invisible forces of labor consumption exploitation and exchange that haunted their everyday lives Ghosts and Things reveals how spiritualism s explorations of the borderland between life and death matter and spirit produced a strange and seductive combination of wonder and discomfort that allowed participants to experience the possibilities and precarities of industrial modernity in novel ways

Merchants, Barons, Sellers and Suits Christa Mahalik, 2010-08-11 Merchants Barons Sellers and Suits The Changing Images of the Businessman through Literature originally began as a conversation about a hybrid course at Quinnipiac University Its purpose was to take an online English course for non traditional business majors and create a theme that would be relevant to the business world Being given the task to create this course from the ground up was exciting and intriguing There turned out to be a lot more material that could be used for this theme than previously thought To gauge the temperature of the topic a panel was set up with the theme of businessmen or women and their changing image through literature At the 2009 NeMLA Northeast Modern Language Association conference in Boston the panel was held and many ideas such as some of the ones presented in this book were discussed A secondary theme evolved out of the construction of the first Participants discussed the environment as a catalyst in the change of what a person actually thinks a businessman or woman looks like Many of these images were formed based upon pop culture such as the traveling salesman in the Looney Tunes cartoons who sells brushes door to door and hails from Walla Walla Washington Others were based on the images read about in books such as Willy Loman from Death of a Salesman The essays included in this volume presented by doctoral candidates and scholars from across a range of geographical regions and disciplines result in a collection that investigates the idea of the changing
