Consuming the Romantic Utopia Eva Illouz, 2023-04-28 To what extent are our most romantic moments determined by the portrayal of love in film and on TV Is a walk on a moonlit beach a moment of perfect romance or simply a simulation of the familiar ideal seen again and again on billboards and movie screens In her unique study of American love in the twentieth century Eva Illouz unravels the mass of images that define our ideas of love and romance revealing that the experience of true love is deeply embedded in the experience of consumer capitalism Illouz studies how individual conceptions of love overlap with the world of clichés and images she calls the Romantic Utopia This utopia lives in the collective imagination of the nation and is built on images that unite amorous and economic activities in the rituals of dating lovemaking and marriage Since the early 1900s advertisers have tied the purchase of beauty products sports cars diet drinks and snack foods to success in love and happiness Illouz reveals that ultimately every cliché of romance from an intimate dinner to a dozen red roses is constructed by advertising and media images that preach a democratic ethos of consumption material goods and happiness are available to all Engaging and witty Illouz's study begins with readings of ads songs films and other public representations of romance and concludes with individual interviews in order to analyze the ways in which mass messages are internalized Combining extensive historical research interviews and postmodern social theory Illouz brings an impressive scholarship to her fascinating portrait of love in America To what extent are our most romantic moments determined by the portrayal of love in film and on TV Is a walk on a moonlit beach a moment of perfect romance or simply a simulation of the familiar ideal seen again and again on billboards and movie screens Consuming the Romantic Utopia Eva Illouz, 1997

The study begins with readings of ads songs films and other public representations of romance and concludes with individual interviews in order to analyze the ways in which mass messages are internalized Emotional Ethics of The Hunger Games Tarja Laine, 2021-05-17 Emotional Ethics of The Hunger Games expands the ethical turn in Film Studies by analysing emotions as a source of ethical knowledge in The Hunger Games films It argues that emotions incorporated in the thematic and aesthetic organization of these films reflect a crisis in moral standards As such they cultivate ethical attitudes towards such phenomena as totalitarianism the culture of reality television and the society of spectacle The focus of the argument is on cinematic aesthetics which expresses emotions in a way that highlights their ethical significance running the gamut from fear through guilt and shame to love anger and contempt The central claim of the book is that these emotions are symptomatic of some moral conflict which renders The Hunger Games franchise a meaningful commentary on the affective practice of cinematic ethics The Hunger Games movies have become iconic symbols for resistance across the globe Tarja Laine proposes that this is not caused by their status as exciting cinematic spectacles but by their engaging our emotions Laine uses The Hunger Games as key texts for understanding our world demonstrating that ethics do not originate from rational considerations far removed from those mucky things called emotions But rather that emotions are at the core of cinematic ethics William Brown Author of Supercinema Film Philosophy for the Digital Age In this elegantly written exploration of the relationship between aesthetics and emotion in The Hunger Gamestrilogy Tarja Laine illuminates the power of film to embody ethical conflict Deftly interweaving film philosophy and close analysis Laine traces how these films mobilise complex emotions nuancing our thinking about cinema and the spectator Laine s book takes The Hunger Games films seriously demonstrating with verve why they matter Catherine Wheatley Senior Lecturer in Film Studies King s College London UK In this fresh engaging and insightful study of The Hunger Games film trilogy Tarja Laine explores the crucial role that emotions play in appreciation of the ethical qualities of the movies She forges productive dialogues between a range of film theory scholarship on moral philosophy and debates on ethics as she performs a multi layered investigation of the aesthetic qualities of the trilogy the multiple emotions embodied in these qualities and the philosophical ethical insights that are in turn embedded in these emotions The cinematic connection between emotions and ethics that emerges through Laine s detailed textual analyses confronts us with complex moral dilemmas while enriching our aesthetic experience Sarah Cooper Professor Film Studies Department King s College London UK

Restitching Identities in Rural Sri Lanka Sandya Hewamanne,2020-09-28 Sandya Hewamanne s Stitching Identities in a Free Trade Zone analyzed how female factory workers in Sri Lanka s free trade zones challenged conventional notions about marginalized women at the bottom of the global economy In Restitching Identities in Rural Sri Lanka Hewamanne now follows many of these same women to explore the ways in which they negotiate their social and economic lives once back in their home villages Drawing on ethnographic fieldwork conducted over fifteen years the book explores how the former free trade zone workers manipulate varied forms of capital social cultural and monetary to become local entrepreneurs and community leaders while simultaneously initiating gradual changes in rural social hierarchies and gender norms Free trade zones introduce Sri Lankan women to neoliberal ways of fashioning selves Hewamanne contends Her book illustrates how varied manifestations of neoliberal attitudes within local contexts result in new articulations of what it is to be an entrepreneur as well as a good woman By focusing on how former workers decenter neoliberal market relations while using their entrepreneurial and civic activities to reimagine social life in ways more satisfying to them and their loved ones what the author calls a politics of contentment the book sheds light on new political possibilities in contexts where both reproduction of neoliberal economic relations and implementation of alternatives co exist

The Prime of Life Steven Mintz,2015-04-07 By drawing on 400 years of social and economic history the book presents a thoughtful and thorough guide through the life stages Library Journal Adulthood today is undergoing profound transformations Men and women wait until their thirties to marry have children and establish full time careers occupying a prolonged period in which they are no longer adolescents but still lack the traditional emblems of adult identity People at midlife struggle to sustain relationships with friends and partners to achieve fulfilling careers to raise their children successfully and to age gracefully The Prime of Life puts today s challenges into new perspective by exploring how past generations navigated the passage to maturity Whereas adulthood once meant culturally prescribed roles and relationships the social and economic convulsions of the last sixty years have transformed it fundamentally tearing up these shared scripts and leaving adults to fashion meaning and coherence in an increasingly individualistic culture Emphasizing adulthood's joys and fulfillments as well as its frustrations and regrets Mintz shows how cultural and historical circumstances have consistently reshaped what it means to be a grown up in contemporary society A triumph of historical writing The Spectator Mintz's message that there are many ways to wear the mantle of responsible adulthood and that the 1950s model is a mere blip on history's radar is deeply necessary and long overdue New York Times Book Review Describing the cultural economic and social changes from the Colonial era to today's world Mintz argues that neither religious nor secular middle class values are adequate responses to the new generation's problems Choice A thoughtful and strangely encouraging tour of an often difficult life stage Kirkus Reviews

The History of Emotions Jan Plamper, 2015 The history of emotions is one of the fastest growing fields in current historical debate and this is the first book length introduction to the field synthesizing the current research and offering direction for future study The History of Emotions is organized around the debate between social constructivist and universalist theories of emotion that has shaped most emotions research in a variety of disciplines for more than a hundred years social constructivists believe that emotions are largely learned and subject to historical change while universalists insist on the timelessness and pan culturalism of emotions In historicizing and problematizing this binary Jan Plamper opens emotions research beyond constructivism and universalism he also maps a vast terrain of thought about feelings in anthropology philosophy sociology linguistics art history political science the life sciences from nineteenth century experimental psychology to the latest affective neuroscience and history from ancient times to the present day

Transcultural Turbulences Christiane Brosius, Roland Wenzlhuemer, 2011-09-25 Today hardly anything moves as fast across the globe as images and media This fact opens new avenues to explore social and cultural change but also poses new theoretical challenges of how to grasp and better understand these changes and flows Moreover such movements across geophysical and cultural borders have a historical depth that enables us to explore globalisation and localisation in new ways Transculturality is still a relatively new field of research in the Humanities through which we sharpen our competence and literacy to come to terms with the complexity of globalised cultures This volume ventures into new domains of research on the transculturality of images and addresses the need to develop new or modify established often ethno and Eurocentric interpretations of what happens when images travel It does so by bringing together cutting edge research from fields such as art history cultural anthropology colonial history Islamic studies religious studies and literary criticism The Wonderbox Roman Krznaric, 2011-12-22 There are many ways to try to improve our lives we can turn to the wisdom of philosophers the teachings of religions or the latest experiments of psychologists But we rarely look to history for inspiration and when we do it can be surprisingly powerful Showing the lessons that can be learned from the past cultural historian Roman Krznaric explores twelve universal topics from work and love to money and creativity and reveals the wisdom that we've been missing. There is much to be learned from Ancient Greece on relationships from the industrial revolution on job satisfaction and from Ming dynasty China on bringing up our children. Just as a Renaissance Wunderkammer was a curiosity cabinet full of fascinating objects each with a story behind it, The Wonderbox is full of stories and ideas from history each of which sheds invaluable light on the decisions we make every day, whether we think about the different uses of the senses or changing attitudes to time. History is usually read for pleasure or for insight into current affairs, but The Wonderbox stepping into the territory of Alain de Botton and Theodore Zeldin is practical history using the past to think about our day to day lives. Rice Talks Nir Avieli, 2012-04-30 An anthropological study of the culture surrounding food in a thriving Vietnamese town. Rice Talks explores the importance of cooking and eating in the everyday social life of Hoi An, a prosperous market town in central Vietnam known for its exceptionally elaborate and sophisticated local cuisine. In a vivid and highly personal account, Nir Avieli takes the reader from the private setting of the extended family meal into the public realm of the festive, extraordinary and unique. He shows how foodways relate to class relations, gender roles, religious practices, cosmology, ethnicity and even local and national politics. This evocative study departs from conventional anthropological research on food by stressing the rich meanings, generative capacities and potential subversion embedded in foodways and eating. In this very engaging narrative, Avieli captures the flavor and richness of everyday lowland Vietnamese life as well as the trials and tribulations of attempting to eke out a livelihood fit within family hierarchical structures and correctly pay homage to the necessary deities and ancestors. Sarah Turner, McGill University. Readers with an interest in Vietnamese, Southeast Asian and Asian cuisines and/or the influences of colonialism on local foodways will find the work useful. Filled with descriptions of meals and dishes likely to get the culinarily minded reader drooling. And almost any non-academic writer planning to do food-related research anywhere in the world could take something away from the final chapter which discusses the practicalities of this type of research. Robyn Eckhardt, author of EatingAsia. The Female Complaint Lauren Berlant, 2008-03-17 A literary critical and historical chronicle of women's culture in the United States from 1830 to the present by a leading Americanist. The History of Emotions Thomas Dixon, 2023 Emotions are complex mental states that resist reduction. They are visceral reactions but also beliefs about the world, spontaneous outbursts but also culturally learned performances, intimate and private yet gaining their substance and significance from interpersonal and social frameworks. And their history is plural rather than singular. In this Very Short Introduction, Thomas Dixon traces the historical ancestries of feelings, showing how the states we group together today as the emotions are the product of long and varied historical changes in language, culture, beliefs and ways of life. You are What You Eat Annette M. At the Heart of Work and Family Anita Ilta Garey, Karen V. Hansen, 2011-02-01 At the Heart of Work and Family presents original research on work and family by scholars who engage and build on the conceptual framework developed by well known sociologist Arlie Russell Hochschild These concepts such as the second shift the economy of gratitude emotion work feeling rules gender strategies and the time bind are basic to sociology and have shaped both popular discussions and academic study The common thread in these essays covering the gender division of housework childcare networks families in the global economy and children of consumers is the incorporation of emotion feelings and meaning into the study of working families These examinations like Hochschild s own work connect micro level interaction to larger social and economic forces and illustrate the continued relevance of linking economic relations to emotional ones for understanding contemporary work family life

Legal Tender John Griffith Urang, 2010 Through close readings of a diverse selection of films and novels from the former GDR Urang offers an eye opening account of the ideological stakes of love stories in East German culture

The State of Sex Barbara Brents, Crystal Jackson, Kathryn Hausbeck, 2009-12-16 The State of Sex is a study of Nevada s brothels that situates the nation s only legal brothel industry in the political economy of contemporary tourism Nevada is part of the new American heartland as its pastimes people and politics have become more central to the nation The rise of a service and leisure economy over the past sixty years has propelled sexuality into the heart of contemporary markets Yet neoliberal laws in the United States promote business but limit sexual commerce How have Nevada s legal brothels survived while the rest of the country criminalizes prostitution How do brothels operate Who works in them This book brings social theory on globalizing economies politics leisure consumption and emotional labor in interactive service work together with research on contemporary prostitution and sexual commerce The authors employ an innovative multi method sociological approach combining historical analysis of how the brothels came to be with over a decade s worth of ethnographic research on the current state of the industry

The Making of the Good Person Nora Hämäläinen,2023-04-03 This book provides a philosophical assessment of the idea of personhood advanced in popular self help literature It also traces within academic philosophy and philosophical scholarship a self help culture where the self is brought forth as an object of improvement and a key to meaning progress and profundity Unlike other academic treatments of the topic of self help this book is not primarily concerned with providing a critique of popular self help and self transformative practices Rather it is concerned with how they work to shape contemporary forms and ideals of moral personhood and are conducive to moral renegotiation and change The book consists of two parts with somewhat different argumentative strategies Part 1 consists of an overview and reassessment of popular self help literature and its sociological and journalistic critics written from a moral philosophical perspective Part 2 opens with discussion of the current attraction among a range of philosophers to self transformative themes The chapters assess the strand of self transformative philosophy found in the work of Ludwig Wittgenstein Michel Foucault Pierre Hadot Stanley Cavell and Iris Murdoch Finally the book concludes with a discussion of the theme of social change and moral renegotiation in contemporary societies which is a central but underestimated undercurrent in discussions on contemporary self transformative practices The book s dual perspective on both popular self help and self transformative currents in philosophy enables a cultural and moral philosophical analysis of contemporary ethical ideals of personhood as well as reflection on the literatures available for its development The Making of the Good Person will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in moral philosophy history of philosophy psychology sociology and literary studies

Melodrama After the Tears Jörg Metelmann,Scott Loren,2025-10-01 Melodrama it is said has expanded beyond the borders of genre and fiction to become a pervasive cultural mode It encompasses distinct signifying practices and interpretive codes for meaning making that help determine the parameters of identification and subject formation From the public staging of personal suffering or the psychologization of the self in relation to consumer capitalism to the emotionalization and sentimentalization of national politics contributions to this volume address the following question If melodramatic models of sense making have become so culturally pervasive and emotionally persuasive what is the political potential of melodramatic victimhood and where are its political limitations This volume represents both a condensation and an expansion in the growing field of melodrama studies It condenses elements of theory on melodrama by bringing into focus what it recognizes to be the locus for subjective identification within melodramatic narratives the victim On the other hand it provides an expansion by going beyond the common methodology of primarily examining fictive works be they from the stage the screen or the written word for their explicit or latent commentary on and connection to the historical contexts within which they are produced Inspiration for the volume is rooted in a curiosity about melodramatic forms purported to increasingly characterize aspects of both the private and the social sphere in occidental and western oriented societies
